Thought for the Week: Know, first, who you are; and then adorn yourself accordingly. Epictetus

SUMWALT'S RETIRE

Joe and Virginia Sumwalt of Warren, have recently ended a 33 year career of making the rounds at area nursing homes.

Joe and Virginia have been involved in other types of ministry work also. In addition to working and raising a family of four, the couple traveled all over to hold revivals. When Joe got home from work, they'd pile into the car and take the kids and the organ and head off to a revival. Joe sang, and Virginia played the piano, organ and accordion.

They kept that up for around 25 years before retiring from that aspect.

Their church, the First Church of the Nazarene in Huntington, asked for someone to head up it's nursing home ministry. The Sumwalt's said yes.

Every week without fail the Sumwalts took their ministry to Miller's Merry Manor in Huntington, and twice a month visits to Markle Health and Rehabilitation and monthly services at Norwood Health and Rehabilitation. They also included stops at nursing homes in Bluffton and Warren at the beginning of their ministry.

Their ministry consists of sing-alongs featuring the old traditional church hymns, whose familiar notes often came easily to Alzheimer's patients. Visiting with residents was a very important part of their ministry as well. Patients looked forward to seeing them on a regular basis.

In March of 2010, the Sumwalt's lost their daughter and then Virginia had a stroke. The decision was made to retire and turn the ministry over to someone younger. They still plan to visit the nursing homes when they can. If anyone would like to be a part of the nursing home ministry - contact Joe Sumwalt and he'll help you find a nursing home that is interested. It doesn't matter what your religion or church affiliation is.

Congratulations to the Sumwalt's on their retirement and a Huge pat-on-the-back for a job WELL DONE!

BMV CENTRALIZES

Beginning in 2011, all customers will receive their registration cards, stickers and license plates through the mail under a centralized distribution system announced by R. Scott Waddell, commissioner of the Indiana Bureau of Motor Vehicles (BMV). As a result, stickers and plates will no longer be available at any license branch or self-service terminal.

Customers can renew their registrations online at myBMV.com, by phone at 888-692-6841 or by mail using a new postage-paid envelope enclosed with the registration renewal reminder. Since 2008, millions of Hoosiers have utilized these convenient methods to renew their materials.

Persons with a more complex registration issue may receive assistance from the staff at a license branch. The customer may order a plate or renew their registration at the branch, but the license plate and/or registration card and sticker will still be mailed to them from the central facility within 14 business days.

"Unless a registration renewal is unusually complex, there's no need for customers to visit a license branch," Waddell said. "Centralized distribution is more effective and will virtually eliminate inventory costs since plates are not produced until they are needed."

Historically, plate inventories in branches caused costly excesses at the end of the plate cycle. The new make-to-order production system allows all license plates to be printed immediately when the order is received.

"We are constantly looking for ways to improve customer service while conserving taxpayer dollars," Waddell added. "Central issuance controls costs by diverting routine transactions away from the branches where costs are the highest. It allows our branch staff to focus on more complex services, such as driver's licenses and vehicle titles."

Some media outlets have incorrectly reported that registration renewals may not be completed at BMV license branches.

R. Scott Waddell, Commissioner of the BMV, made the following clarification, "Although renewal stickers and license plates will not be available at the license branches, BMV customers may still visit a license branch to pay for their vehicle registration renewals. Our staff will be there to help with any complex transactions. However, customers will not leave the branch with any registration documents, only receipts of their payments."

"We encourage customers to consider using the more convenient ways to renew their registrations. Already over 50% of our customers renew their registrations online at myBMV.com, by mail or through the BMV Customer Service Center at 1-888-692-6841."

KUDOS, KICKS & KARATS

THE UPTOWN GARDENER by Ruth Herring

At our house the trees are down, the decorations - most all are put away for another year. Some things such as the Snow Buddies collection I leave out for a while longer since I think of them as winter decorations.

We had a wonderful holiday at our house and my sincere hope each of you did too.

All of our family was home except for our grandson in Texas which I am sure he was as disappointed like we were. So the Big box was shipped out to Texas and hope he enjoyed getting it. At least he had better, as it had a quilt that I had labored over for a year. It had a Nascar theme which was appropriate for a young bachelor along with all the fixings for pancakes and homemade blueberry syrup. His request when he is home. I sent just add water pancake mix and a jar of the favorite syrup that I processed to seal it. (just a sneaky way to make a kid homesick).

This week instead of my usual stories of my home I have asked someone who grew up here and moved away and is now a citizen of our town again. Mary Jane Hamilton Marvo as many of you know is back to stay. I asked her to relate to some things she remembers of her early days. I thought us kids in Andrews were devilish, and over blessed with energy but evidently we had some good competition. I will relate what she wrote and also a recipe she gave me.

Living in the east part of Warren has advantages. Why you might ask. East end kids had access to the school grounds. For many it was just a few steps away from our homes and you could always count on someone being there to play with any time of the year.

In winter months you hoped for snow and ice. Away we went to the top of the hill on the school grounds. If you had a sled it was great and you had to keep the runners slick, but many of us only had cardboard sleds that always didn't hold up to good but they weren't hard to replace. The object of sliding down the hill (which we thought was big) was trying to avoid the creek at the bottom. What a challenge this was to come to the edge without going into the icy cold creek. Many over shot and landed in the creek ending making a quick trip home to where mom patiently waited for us with dry clothes. Most always a few choice words were given to us by our moms, but it didn't phase us much because back we would go to do it all over again. This was during our free time and always looked forward to snow or ice hoping school would be out and have time for sledding.

The surrounding school yard was our playground, there was no supervision to oversee us and we all survived. We played hard and enjoyed that time in our past.

Potato Casserole

2 cups mashed potatoes, 1 8 ounce package cream cheese softened, 1 small onion chopped fine, 2 eggs, 2 tablespoon flour, 1 can french fried onion rings.

In large bowl put potatoes, add cheese, eggs and flour and onion. Beat on medium speed till light and fluffy, Spoon into lightly greased baking dish place french onions on top bake at 300° for 35 minutes. This can be made ahead and refrigerated till serving time then bake.

From our house to yours have a wonderful year all year long.

KBC MINUTES

December 21, 2010

Board Member Present were: Bob Pond, Ned Trout, Janice Jordan, Denny Stroud, Jerry Boyer, Ron Neff, Mark Davis, Ron and Bonnie Boxell, Shelly Boxell, Sharon Gebhart.

Not Present were: Karen Herr, Rosemary Zeller

Guest: Luellyn Pond

Luellyn reported on the survey that was done at the fundraiser. She received many different answers and not sure this is going to be much benefit to us. We did have 243 people at the luncheon.

Minutes were then read. A motion made to accept these minutes by Bob and seconded by Ron, motion was carried.

Financial report was given by Sharon Gebhart for Rosemary. Total expenses for the month of Nov were $7,070.31. Motion by Bonnie to pay these bills and seconded by Denny was carried.

In the discussion it was again stated that the Food Pantry needs to have a separate account. Hopefully this can be set up for the new year.

Still in question about our $100 that the SSF still owes us for the booth fee.

Old Business:

Boys and Girls Club paid for the remainder of 2010. In the new contract they want it stated that they will be in the building until 6 pm. Even though most of the kids will be gone by 5 - 5:30 when the bus comes. They also would like one evening a month to have a special event. Movies, dance etc. They have also asked if they can put a sign outside stating that this is where they meet. They have met their 100 membership here in Warren which makes them a Certified Club. Bob then asked that we do a vote on the contract. This was done over the computer. Bob made a motion to approve this contract with the above corrects for the year of 2011. Seconded and carried.

Food Pantry - It is going very well, serving 20-30 families a week. It was discussed about making a move after the first of the year. They need more room. Suggestions are to cut a door between rooms #2 and #3. Give the Boys and Girls club room #1 and move the pantry to the other side of the hall. This is only if we can get #2. There would have to be electrical work done, and painting. But this would give them more room and we could have all the traffic still come thru the east door to save the carpet.

Discussion was then held about the work that needs to be done in the Sigma Phi Gamma room. The east wall is falling and pushing the paneling out and really making a mess. A bid from Larry Highly was submitted. After discussion Bob made a motion to get this started and Ron seconded and motion was carried.

Bob did mention that we did get a grant from REMC for half ($35,000) of the light project below the hill. This was put on hold until the next meeting and we can talk with Jimmy Asher.

Meeting was adjourned.

Next week will be January 17 2011 at the center.

WEBINAR JAN 10

The value of farmland has certainly been a hot topic for farmers and landowners during the past few months. They're aware of the higher prices for agricultural land at area auctions this fall.

Recent reports from the Kansas City and Chicago Federal Reserve Banks noted strong increases in farmland values. The Chicago report showed Iowa and Indiana farmland increasing at 13 and 11 percent respectively.

The Purdue University Center for Commercial Agriculture will be conducting a free live webinar event on January 10th at 1:00 pm EST to answer your questions about farm land values. Purdue agribusiness experts Drs. Brent Gloy, Mike Boehlje, Chris Hurt, Bruce Erickson, Craig Dobbins will take part in a round-table discussion about the current level of farm land values.

The Huntington County Extension Office Conference Room will be a host site for this event. While this webinar may be of particular interest to landowners and crop producers, anyone wanting to learn more about land values can attend the session. Seating is limited so please RSVP in advance of the program by calling the Extension Office at 260-358-4826.

To prepare for the webinar, it is recommended to go to this website: <http://www.agecon.purdue.edu/commercialag/progevents/landvalueswebinar.html> and watch the four short presentations and read the paper that is linked there. For those who have high speed internet it is also possible to view the webinar from another computer by signing up at the aforementioned website.

Producers are cautiously optimistic about growing corn, soybeans and wheat when they hear projections of good farm income for 2011. This is a key factor that is driving the trend of higher prices for agricultural land. There are, however, other factors that are influencing the farmland market across Indiana such as federal tax policies and the potential conversion to urban development.

In August 2010 the Purdue Agricultural Economics Department released the 2010 Indiana Farmland Values and Cash Rents Survey. According to this annual report, the average value of bare Indiana cropland ranged from $3,501 per acre for poor quality land to $5,301 per acre for top quality land. State-wide the cropland values increased 4.5% to 6.3% from June 2009 to June 2010. Results from the survey and a full report are available online at <http://www.agecon.purdue.edu/extension/pubs/paer/2010/august/paer0810.pdf>. As noted the more recent data released by the federal banks indicates even higher land values since this report was released last summer.

While the current trend shows much strength in the farmland market, the many factors that influence prices should be evaluated by investors and growers. Resources are available to help people understand and interpret the current level of farmland values.

SEEKING NEW CROP

If you want to sharpen your gardening skills and you have an interest in sharing your knowledge with others, Purdue University has the ideal program for you.

Beginning January 27, 2011 a Purdue Master Gardener Program training series will be offered for residents of Blackford County and surrounding areas. The Purdue Master Gardener Program is a volunteer training program that provides a learning framework for participants to increase their knowledge on a wide variety of horticultural subjects. In turn, participants volunteer, representing Purdue University. As volunteers, participants grow by sharing knowledge while providing leadership and service in educational gardening activities within their communities.

Training will be held on Thursday Evenings from 6-9pm. Participants will be exposed to a wide range of subjects including soil and plant science, diagnosis of plant problems, pesticide safety, and culture of vegetable, flower, landscape, and fruit plants.

Materials and expenses for the series of classes cost $ 95.00 per participant. This expense fee covers such items as reference notebooks, mailings, and name badges. These materials will become part of the Master Gardener's personal collection.

While the class will be encouraged to create new educational outreach programs, there are already plenty of opportunities for which volunteers are needed. Some of these projects include the staffing information booths at gardening events, teaching public education classes, and speaking to local clubs and organizations.

If you'd like an application to join our league of volunteers or have questions about the program, give us a call at (765)348-3213 or cluppers@purdue.edu. Space for the class will be limited, so contact our office soon for an application packet.

BRIDGES OUT

Karen Hinshaw, Huntington County Extension Educator, a certified trainer for the Bridges Out of Poverty Curriculum, will present one all day training on Wednesday January 26, 2011 from 9am-3:30pm at the Pathfinder Services Building on Theater Avenue. Registration is $35 per person, includes lunch and the Bridges Out of Poverty text by Dr. Ruby Payne.

This training gives participants key lessons in dealing with individuals from poverty. Participants will learn why they should use mental models to communicate effectively, and to assist clients from poverty to learn quickly. Bridges reaches out to the providers and businesses whose daily work connects them with the lives of people in poverty, as well as individuals and groups who are interested in assisting people living in poverty to succeed. If you work with or want to work with people living in poverty, only a deeper understanding of their challenges and strengths will help you partner with them to create opportunities for success. This training is appropriate for church members who serve impoverished people locally or abroad on mission trips.

Seating is limited. To reserve a seat, please contact the Purdue Extension Huntington County Office at 260-358-4826 no later than Monday, January 17, 2011.

CLEAN OUT MEDICINES

The American Pharmacists Association (APhA) encourages the public to make an annual medicine cabinet cleanout part of their New Year's resolutions. Pharmacists recommend patients use this time to properly dispose of all the unused and expired medications that accumulated over the previous year.

Because each season brings a host of new illnesses and conditions, it's easy for medicine cabinets to become cluttered with unused or expired prescriptions, over-the-counter medications, vitamins and herbals that can potentially be harmful to one's health. Hanging onto old, expired or unused medications can increase the chances of taking the wrong one. Old, expired medications can lose their potency thus reducing or providing no value to the condition being treated and unused medications have the potential to be abused and misused.

"As you finalize your resolutions for a happier and healthier New Year, why not add this simple task to your list?" asked Thomas E. Menighan, APhA Executive Vice President and CEO. "A medicine cabinet cleanout is one of the smallest resolutions a person can make for their personal and family's health. To help protect yourselves and the environment, it just takes a few simple steps to properly store and dispose of medications. And if you have any questions about your medications' expiration date or potency, talk with your pharmacist."

Tips for Storing and Cleaning Out Your Medicine Cabinet or Other Medication Storage Areas:

- Medications should be stored in a secured area that has low humidity, a stable temperature and adequate lighting.

- Check the date on everything in your medicine cabinet and dispose of anything that has passed the expiration date.

- Properly dispose of anything you have not used in the past 12 months.

- Properly dispose of any prescription medications you no longer need. Do not share prescription medications with others.

- Properly dispose of medicines no longer in their original container or that can no longer be identified.

- Properly dispose of medicines that have changed color, odor or taste.

- Do not flush unused or expired medications and do not pour them down a sink or drain. They should be disposed of properly in the household trash or through your community's medication disposal program, when available. Follow these easy steps before disposing in the trash:

- o Pour medication into a sealable plastic bag. If medication is a solid (pill, liquid capsule, etc.), add water to dissolve it.

- o Add kitty litter, sawdust, coffee grounds (or any material that mixes with the medication and makes it less appealing for pets and children to eat) to the plastic bag.

- o Seal the plastic bag and put it in the trash.

- o Remove and destroy ALL identifying personal information (prescription label) from all medication containers before recycling them or throwing them away.

* Visit www.smarxtodisposal.net for more information and for a list of medications that should be flushed.

PROGRESS NOT PERFECTION

by The FlyLady
Marla Cilley

Here we are again embarking on a brand new year with all the joys and anticipation that it brings. In 1999 I woke up on New Year's Day determined to get organized. That determination is what made it happen! The reasons behind that purpose had more to do with fear than that people would find out my dirty little secret.

Now I share my shortcomings with the world because if I am having a problem then many of you are too. I am not ashamed of who I am or how I got here. Every bad thing that has ever happened to me has made me who I am today! I am very proud of how I have taken those things from my childhood and not continued to abuse myself with those thoughts and actions. I can't change those years of growing up; but I can see when I allow that shame to enter back into my life and delete it.

I use everything that happens these days to help teach me a lesson to help others. I look at the situation and say to myself. What am I supposed to learn from this and usually an essay comes from it and maybe even the theme of a new book. Life is too short to just skating from one problem to the next and not use those lessons to teach ourselves how to not repeat them and help others.

Skating is what we do best. Do you remember when you were in school and you did just enough to get by. Instead of reading a chapter that was our homework assignment and answer the questions at the end; we would skip the reading part and go straight to the questions. There we go skating at an early age. We were proud of ourselves for finding a shortcut to getting our homework finished. We were just too stubborn to understand that we were really making more work for ourselves in the long run.

If we had read the chapter, processed the words in a quiet environment and listened in class instead of daydreaming; we could have answered those questions easily. Instead we picked and skimmed the reading looking for the answer. This kind of piecemeal learning robbed us of our education. Did you ever think this is why you can't remember anything from high school? You were skating to just get by not feeding your hungry brain the knowledge it was starving for. Then came test time; you had to cram instead of using the baby steps of your homework to be able to pass! We thought we were so smart.

This happens today. We are good at hiding it from others. We skate at home and in our work life. At work when you skate you will eventually be found out and your job is at stake. You don't have that problem at home or do you! You really know the truth and that truth makes you feel guilty. The guilt manifests itself in many ways; weight gain, financial problems, clutter taking over and relationship problems. When we are confronted with our skating; we deflect the attention on us to the problems around us. It doesn't work; you are found out!

When we skate through life we have our heads down and we don't see what is going on around us. We are skating as fast as we can and as a result we go round and round in circles; doomed to repeat the mistakes and stay stuck in our ruts. How do we stop this vicious circle that we have created for ourselves?

You join FlyLady to try to get your house in order but you start skating all over again. You just want to jump to the end of the chapter and start answering questions without allowing the process of FLYing to help you find the peace I have promised you. There are no short cuts.

Whenever someone complains that FlyLady is not working for them we ask have you started to declutter your home. Are you getting dressed to lace up shoes? Have you shined your sink? You see you just can't skip to the end without going through the baby steps that help you get there.

Don't make it harder than it really is! Take your baby steps and enjoy the process!

Progress Not Perfection; let's get out of our ruts, raise our heads and open up our eyes to focus on the prize of peace in our lives!
