INDEPENDENCE DAY

Get the scoop on why we celebrate the Fourth of July!

BY ROSE DAVIDSON

Hear that marching playing patriotic music? Smell those hot dogs cooking on the grill? See those fireworks exploding in the night sky? Then it must be Independence Day!

Also called the Fourth of July, Independence Day marks the historic date in 1776 when the Declaration of Independence was approved by the Continental Congress. The written declaration stated that the American colonies were tired of being ruled by Great Britain. They wanted to become their own country.

A GROWING ANGER

Before the declaration, America was part of the Kingdom of Great Britain (now called the United Kingdom). In the 1600s, people came from Great Britain to settle in what is now North America. Between 1607 and 1732, the British founded 13 colonies: Virginia, New York, Massachusetts, Maryland, Rhode Island, Connecticut, New Hampshire, Delaware, North Carolina, South Carolina, New Jersey, Pennsylvania, and Georgia.

As these colonies grew, the people who lived there thought the British government treated them unfairly. For instance, they had to pay taxes on items such as tea and allow British soldiers to stay in their homes. The colonists had to follow these laws but couldn't do anything to change them. The colonists rebelled. As a result, the Revolutionary War between the colonists and Great Britain began in 1775.

Fighting wasn't enough though. The colonists decided they needed to declare their independence in writing to explain their reasons and gain support from other countries like France. On July 4, 1776, a small group of representatives from the colonies—called the Continental Congress—adopted the Declaration of Independence.

DECLARING INDEPENDENCE

Written by a committee led by Thomas Jefferson, the document was signed by people from all 13 colonies. But the British government didn't accept it. So the colonists continued to fight for independence until they finally defeated Great Britain in 1783.

The Declaration of Independence, now housed at the National Archives in Washington, D.C., is recognized around the world as an important message of self-governance and human rights. The second sentence says it all: that all people are created equally and have rights that include life, liberty, and the pursuit of happiness. (Fun fact: Jefferson, who would become the third U.S. president, wrote that sentence!)

Today the United States and Great Britain are friends. Most Americans still celebrate Independence Day, often with parades and fireworks. Historians think this is thanks to a letter written by John Adams, who helped write the declaration and would also go on to be the second U.S. president. In his letter to his wife, Abigail, Adams predicted that the colonists' independence would be celebrated by future generations as an annual festival with parades and bonfires. It's no wonder that this holiday has turned out to be such a blast!

A BUS TRIP TO HHI, SAVANNAH, & CHARLESTON DAY # 6, PART 2

by Larry Ryan
Our bus tour of Charleston made a stop at the Citadel, the Military College of South Carolina. It was established in 1842. The old school was located originally on Marion Square in downtown Charleston. In 1918, the city gave the state of South Carolina 176 acres on the banks of the Ashley River for its new campus. It is a ten minute drive from downtown and a non-federally-funded university.

The enrollment at the college is approximately 2,300 students. While the school was initially set up for Navy and Marine training, other military department service students are enrolled. All students must participate in ROTC training, but only about 35 % enter active military service. In 1996 females and African Americans were admitted. 87 % of the students are males. The bus stopped at the Seraph Monument on the campus. It was composed of relics from the British submarine, captained by US General Mark W. Clark that made a successful, secret entry into North Africa in 1942 during WW II.

Since we were near Fort Sumter, history of the location is included. In December of 1860, South Carolina declared that the state was seceding from the Union. Union Major, Robert Anderson moved US troops to Fort Sumter. On January 9, 1861, Citadel Cadets stationed on Morris Island and in Charleston Harbor, fired the first shots of the American Civil War. The target was the U. S. Steamer, "Star of the West" and prevented it from reaching the fort with additional troops. On February 18, 1865, Union troops entered Charleston and occupied the Citadel. The South Carolina Legislature reopened the school in 1882.

As the bus started to cross the bridge near the confluence of the Ashley and Cooper Rivers, another BMW shipyard was identified. Also from this bridge, the guide pointed out the diminutive island containing the mostly crumpled remains of old Fort Sumter at the mouth of the Cooper River. The Yorktown Carrier was spotted. It was an important ship in WW II and the Korean Conflict. On the other side of the river and four miles east of Charleston was the rapidly developing community of Mt. Pleasant which was founded in 1680. I learned that this suburb was known for its good seafood restaurants, especially shrimp.

Upon leaving this area, the bus driver entered Ashley River Road, crossed Wappoo Road, and turned into Magnolia Plantation. After escaping that river road, we were informed that the water level on its river fluctuates 6-8 feet with the tide!

The plantation and garden were founded in 1676 by Thomas and Ann Drayton who hailed from Barbados. The manor house was constructed in 1680 and later opened to visitors in 1870. It is the oldest public garden in America. Several movies have been filmed on this location including: "The Best of Me," "12 Years a Slave," "Crazy in Alabama," and "A Lesson Before Dying."

Again, a boxed lunch was served on the plantation grounds. My wife and I located a table under a very large, live oak tree that provided partial shade. Afterwards, our group gathered together for a reserved, 1 pm. tram ride on a pathway through the Audubon Swamp. Of course we kept our feet away from the swamp water. I wanted to return home with all four limbs!

A tour of the manor house followed the tram ride. Our divided group of house guests was introduced to the guide, Beverly who chided me for mockingly repeating her name during the introductions. The setting instantly reminded me of a small 'therapy' group where names are stated and repeated! This may have been prompted by a travel weary passenger looking for something to break the monotony. Did I mention earlier that for the first time in my life, I was getting tired of traveling?

At 3:30, we were back on the bus and heading toward home via an overnight stop in Spartanburg, SC. Our transportation vehicle passed horse stables, a logging mill, and a corn field with 10 inch high shoots. The bus driver ignored stopping at Goose Creek, Summerville, and Orangeburg, but did rest his tires near Columbia at 5:30. The passengers watched an onboard video of US Marine training at Parris Island, SC. Since the onset of the pandemic, visitors were banned from this location. The bus arrived at the Holiday Inn in Spartanburg at 7:00 pm. Pizza was enjoyed, but the wine was abandoned.

Homeward bound tomorrow!

PROTECTING YOUR ITEMS – AND THE EARTH – WHEN MOVING

(StatePoint) Moving is a big job – and it can be a wasteful one, too, considering all of the packing material required. Make moving more sustainable with these eco-friendly tips:

Space Saving: Using thinner sustainable wrapping to secure your breakables avoids the need for excess storage and boxes. Flourish Brand Honeycomb Cushion Wrap, made with 40% recycled content, offers a customizable way to pack boxes efficiently. The die-cut honeycomb stretches easily with interlocking paper that attaches to itself, so no tape is needed. Once you unpack, the paper can be directly recycled, or stored to be reused.

Folding In: Instead of using tape, fold your box tops in an interlocked, neat manner. They'll stack up easily inside your vehicle, maximizing packing space, plus you won't need to use any additional materials. Unpack your items without tearing or ripping your box, then recycle or fold it flat to store for future use.

Stacking Up: Ensure your plates and serving ware stay scratch-free by using a protective layer between each item. Made of recycled content, Flourish Brand 100%

Recycled Kraft Paper provides lasting security for traveling to your new home.

Blanketed: Oversized or uniquely shaped home décor can be exceptionally fragile and isn't always easy to squeeze into standard storage containers. When packing your vehicle, incorporate padding by wrapping these items in spare blankets, comforters or oversized towels. You'll minimize the risk of damage to the items and have zero waste.

ASK SHIP

(State Health Insurance Assistance Program)

Q: My friends and I are planning a trip this Summer. I am new to Medicare. What should I know before I go?

A: A few key factors will make a difference when answering this question. Do you have a Medicare Advantage Plan or Original Medicare (Parts A & B) with a Medigap Plan? Do you plan to travel outside of the United States?

If you have Original Medicare, you can travel anywhere in the U.S. and its territories and get the medical care you need from almost any doctor or hospital. This includes all 50 states, the District of Columbia, Puerto Rico, the Virgin Islands, Guam, American Samoa, and the Northern Mariana Islands.

Medicare generally doesn't cover health care while you're traveling outside the U.S. There are some exceptions.

Do you have a Medicare supplement insurance policy (Medigap) with your original Medicare?

Medigap Plans A through N provide additional coverage to Original Medicare for health care services or supplies that you get outside the U.S.

Standard Medigap Plans C, D, F, G, M, and N provide foreign travel emergency health care coverage when you travel outside of the U.S.

Plans E, H, I, and J are no longer for sale, but if you bought one before June 1, 2010 you may keep it. All of these plans also provide foreign travel emergency health care coverage when you travel outside the U.S.

Medigap Plans C, D, F, G, H, I, J, M, and N pay 80% of the billed charges for certain medically necessary emergency care outside of the U.S. after you meet a $250 deductible for the year. These Medigap policies cover foreign travel emergency care if it begins during the first 60 days of your trip and if Medicare doesn't otherwise cover the care.

Foreign travel emergency coverage with Medigap policies has a lifetime limit of $50,000.

Medicare Advantage Plans

If you have a Medicare Advantage Plan, your plan may not cover your care while you travel within the United States unless you need emergency or urgent care. If your plan does allow you to see providers that are outside of your network or area, you will usually need to pay more for the care (except for emergency care). You may also need to follow other plan rules like obtaining prior authorization (except for emergency and urgent care). Contact your plan to see what rules and costs apply when you travel within the United States.

If you have questions related to Medicare, call SHIP at (800) 452-4800 or online at www.medicare.in.gov. You can also find SHIP on Facebook, Twitter, LinkedIn, and YouTube.

NEW RESOURCES FOR THOSE LIVING WITH COPD

(StatePoint) Chronic obstructive pulmonary disease (COPD), a long-term lung disease that includes bronchitis and emphysema, is a leading cause of disability and death in the United States. More than 12.5 million people have been diagnosed, but millions more may have the disease without even knowing it.

Given the tremendous impact COPD has on individuals, it's no surprise that it is a significant healthcare burden in the United States. In 2019 alone, there were close to 1,320,000 emergency department visits due to COPD and close to 536,000 hospitalizations. The total economic cost of COPD in this country is close to $50 billion each year.

COPD can impact all aspects of one's life, making basic household and personal care tasks difficult. However, there are numerous actions a person with COPD can take to feel better and reduce the disease's impact.

Those who are newly diagnosed with COPD often have many questions about what they can do to feel better. With this in mind, the American Lung Association has launched COPD Basics, a one-hour online course that is free and open to all. Designed to improve COPD care, the course is meant for people living with COPD, their families and healthcare professionals, such as nurses, physicians and respiratory therapists.

The COPD Basics course will teach participants about COPD risk factors and prevention; recognizing the symptoms and diagnosing COPD; maintaining a high quality of life while living with a chronic disease, and the latest treatments and medications. Healthcare professionals who complete the course may be eligible to receive continuing education credits or contact hours. If

PURCHASING A PORTABLE AC? KEEP THESE TIPS IN MIND

(StatePoint) With scorching summer temperatures here, a cautionary tale unfolds for those in search of a portable AC unit to beat the heat. Enticing promises and clever marketing tactics make it easy to fall prey to the pitfalls that await unsuspecting buyers. Here's how to be a savvy shopper:

- Ratings: Be aware that a higher advertised BTU rating doesn't always guarantee a cooler paradise. Crafty sellers may advertise more BTUs than the product's actual performance, but buyers beware. The truth lies in making sure you are matching the Department of Energy's (DOE) BTU rating to your room's square footage according to the DOE guidelines. When shopping online or in-store, be sure to check the fine print for the certified DOE rated BTU level for correct coverage – and if you don't see this information listed, stay away! A free online BTU calculator can help you choose wisely.

- Certification: Manufacturers are quick to parade their products with proclamations of excellence. Don't let smooth talkers lure you in with mere claims and great prices. Insist on reviewing the product's energy guide for the actual BTU rating. Also, make sure the portable AC you are interested in is authenticated by credible third-party organizations. This indicates it has met or exceeded performance standards.

- Type: Before making a decision between window

ACs or portable units, determine which type best suits your needs and the room before making a purchase. As a general rule, portable units can be easier to install and more versatile.

- Noise: Whether you're sensitive to noise or simply don't prefer to hear the sound of a motor running, check the unit's decibel (dB) rating. It's one easy-to-ignore specification that can make a huge difference. The good news? Cool interiors and ultra-quiet performance can co-exist, if you shop around.

In addition to purchasing a great portable AC unit, proper maintenance can help ensure it runs smoothly and efficiently. Periodically remove the filter from the unit and dust it, and clean debris from inside the unit with compressed air. A few lifestyle changes can also contribute to a cooler, more comfortable home. These changes include avoiding the stove and oven on super-hot days, planting shade-bearing trees or bushes outside windows, and swapping out incandescent bulbs for energy efficient LEDs.

Navigating a sea of misleading product claims can be exhausting, particularly when it comes to buying the equipment you need to keep your home and family comfortable in extreme weather. However, when it comes to a cool home, you don't have to sweat it. A bit of research can help you achieve optimal comfort this summer.

BUDGET-FRIENDLY OUTDOOR PROJECTS FOR ANY DIYER

(StatePoint) Want to transform your outdoor space while saving money? There are plenty of hands-on projects you can do yourself to eliminate expensive labor costs. The following ideas can be tailored to your budget and personal preferences:

- Install a Party Pad: Make your backyard more fun and functional with a low-maintenance patio for entertaining and relaxing. Based on your budget and experience level, there are a variety of styles and materials to choose from, such as brick, concrete and stone. You'll also need gravel to create a sturdy foundation.

If you're building on an existing lawn, clear out the grass and dirt first and dig an area deep enough, so the new surface will be even with the ground. Once you've prepped the ground and poured the gravel, use sand to hold the blocks in place and fill any gaps between the blocks once the layout is complete. Search online for step-by-step installation instructions and use a project calculator to determine the cost.

Increase Seating Capacity
A built-in seating wall near a fire pit, pool or patio offers more places to lounge and adds depth to the space. There are plenty of DIY-friendly materials to build with, including interlocking concrete blocks, which won't need to be recut and are heavy enough to stay in place without cement, or larger, flat stones that look more natural and can be laid in various ways.

If you use concrete blocks, add capstones as top pieces to give the design a finished look. Watch tutorials online before starting the project for inspiration and to ensure you complete all the necessary steps.

Repair Over Replace
Fix up something old to make it new. If you have an above-ground pool or spa with a slow leak, easily repair it with the highly-rated T-Rex Waterproof Tape. The tape has a waterproof backing enhanced with R-Flex Technology for greater durability. It's also UV-resistant, can stretch up to 700% of its original length and is strong enough to be used underwater.

Locate the leak and then measure and cut a piece of tape with scissors (this tape is too tough to tear by hand). Remove the liner from the back and apply it to the crack to form a leak-proof seal. Press down firmly and smooth any creases by hand.

Hide Outdoor Eyesores

A privacy screen is an easy project for beginner DIYers and will hide unsightly air conditioning units, garbage bins and utility boxes. You'll need weather-resistant wood slats, like cedar wood, fence posts, a drill, screws and paint or stain.

Use your "eyesore" to determine how tall to make the screen. Then, anchor fence posts into the ground and drill your first slat about an inch above the ground. Continue adding boards all the way up. For air conditioning units, leave space between each slat to ensure proper air circulation. Add a finish—dark for a modern style or clear for a natural look—and enjoy.

Give it a Glow

Use lighting to give your backyard a bistro-like atmosphere. Rather than using a drill to hang solar or string lights, use transparent, double-sided T-Rex Clear Mounting Tape to permanently and discreetly decorate.

Whether placing the lights across wooden beams or on brick or vinyl fencing, make sure the surface is clean and dry before applying the tape. Stick one side to the surface and the other to mount the lights. The adhesive will build over time, achieving full strength after a 24-hour period.

Once you tackle these budget-friendly DIY projects, you'll be ready to relax in your outdoor oasis.

HOW TO PROTECT YOUR FAVORITE OUTDOOR GEAR

(StatePoint) With warmer weather here, more and more people are spending time on their decks, patios, and in their gardens and yards using outdoor products. From grills to furniture to mowers, 88% of Americans have invested in products dedicated for outdoor use and 65% of those that have use them at least several times a week, according to an Allstate Protection Plans survey.

Unfortunately, 83% of those surveyed who own outdoor products have experienced damage to one or more of them. That damage has been more than a little expensive: Americans have spent over $44 billion repairing or replacing their outdoor products.

"It's no surprise that the outdoor products we use so much this time of year, that make life so great during the warmer months, can be especially vulnerable to damage," says Jason Siciliano, vice president and global creative director at Allstate Protection Plans. "What some people may not realize is that the same protection plans that are available for indoor furniture, electronics and major appliances are also available for outdoor products. They can be a great way to protect your investments in the great outdoors."

The survey found that 65% of Americans do not have a protection plan for any of their outdoor products, and 56% were not even sure they could purchase one. With American households spending hundreds and, in some cases, thousands of dollars a year on outdoor equipment, furniture and supplies, adding protection can be a smart idea.

Beyond purchasing protection plans, Siciliano also recommends taking steps to extend the life of your outdoor products. For example, use the proper fuel in lawn care equipment, clean your grill and cover it when it's not in use, and apply protectant to furniture to guard against rust and sun damage. For specialty items like fire pits and patio heaters, be sure to read the instruction manuals and follow the manufacturer's care and maintenance recommendations. Finally, at the end of the summer, store seasonal items in your garage or shed.

For more information about product protection, look for Allstate Protection Plans at your favorite retailers. You can also visit www.allstateprotectionplans.com, which features tips and resources for making the most of your outdoor products, as well as tips and advice on maintaining your home electronics and appliances.

"When we take care of the outdoor items that make summer enjoyable and relaxing, we're also protecting ourselves against the expensive repairs that can pop up every spring if we don't," says Siciliano. "That means more in our budgets for popsicles and lemonade."
