KUDOS, KICKS & KARATS

THANK YOU!

Postponed because of snow! What scary words for the planning committee! The 5th annual Love Unity Feast had to be moved to April 6th. Would everyone be able to come through with the help promised a whole month later?

The 5th Annual Love Unity Feast was a resounding success! Twenty six churches and 120 volunteers purchased, prepared and served the meals and desserts necessary to feed 472 people at Heritage Hall. The Joy Pleaser Clowns led the fun as people ate, visited and connected with others throughout the community.

Thank you to JoEllen Morris for providing table decorations, Kenneth Rupley for loaning a gator to move food between the buildings and Schenkel's Dairy for providing butter and milk.

Thank you to the Park Department for providing clean buildings and trash removal. Thank you to the Huntington Herald Press, the Huntington Tab and the Warren Weekly for providing media coverage before and on the day of the big event. Thank you to the Dream Center for set up and clean up.

New this year was a pie auction led by Steve Ness, auctioneer. Pies were donated by Victory Noll, Nadean's Catering, Grandma Sue's, Glenda Giggy, Good Grains Bakery, Kim's Katered Affair, The Country Post and the Loon Creek Women's Fellowship.

Thank you also to all the people who supported this event by coming to eat. Leftovers were enjoyed by the Dream Center and by the New Life Café.

We asked the Lord for help on this endeavor and we were greatly blessed! What a great community we live in.

Please mark March 1, 2015 on your calendar for the 6th Annual Love In the Name of Christ Feast and plan on joining us.

God Bless You All,

The Love In The Name of Christ Unity Feast Committee

TO THE EDITOR:

I am a proud member of the Huntington County Concerned Citizens (HCCC) group. Over the past few months, we have been working hard to inform folks of the terrible aspects of Industrial Wind Turbines. We have utilized various methods such as letters to the editor, documentary film showings, personal contacts with citizens, elected and appointed county officials, and by way of our popular website www.huntingtonccc.org to present the acts about this issue in a fair, open, and honest way.

Several weeks ago, we hosted a showing of the documentary "Windfall" in the town of Warren to a standing-room-only crowd. As a result of that showing (as well as a previous showing at the Huntington City-Township Public Library), many people requested and were furnished yard signs proclaiming 'No Wind Farm.' At least 100 signs were placed throughout the city and county, not counting those requested and placed after the 'Windfall' showings.

Recently, it has been noted that most of these signs have mysteriously come up "missing." We don't know if they have been stolen, destroyed, or otherwise removed and we don't know who's responsible. Names have been provided us including that of a group that

FARMER SUPPORTS SW

Local farmer John Maddox has directed a $2,500 donation to the Southern Wells High School Athletic Department. Funded by America's Farmers Grow Communities, the donation will help the school purchase uniforms and upgrade the athletic department.

Thanks to the support of farmers across the country, more than $3.2 million is being directed to nonprofits in 1,289 counties in 39 states.

When asked why he chose the organization, Maddox said, "It is pretty awesome to be able to help the athletic department. The students could really use some new equipment, they deserve it."

America's Farmers Grow Communities works directly with farmers to support nonprofit organizations like Southern Wells High School, who are doing important work in their communities. The program offers farmers the chance to win $2,500, which is then donated to the farmer's nonprofit of choice. The search for funding to sustain and enhance programs is a year-round job for nonprofit organizations across the country. Through America's Farmers Grow Communities, farmers have been able to support a variety of groups, such as schools, fire departments, community centers and youth organizations like 4-H and FFA.

America's Farmers Grow Communities launched in 2010, and has since donated over $16 million to more than 6,500 nonprofit organizations across the country. America's Farmers Grow Communities, sponsored by the Monsanto Fund, is part of the America's Farmers initiative, which highlights and celebrates the important contributions of farmers like John Maddox.

Recently, The Campus newspaper was also named a Hoosier Star finalist in the annual competition sponsored by the Indiana High School Press Association (IHSPA) for the fourth time in five years. The Campus received an "excellent" rating overall, receiving special distinctions in content/coverage and editorial/column writing. All publications rated as either "excellent" or "superior" in the IHSPA's annual critique service qualify as finalists for the IHSPA Hoosier Star Award, the organization's highest honor comparable to a state championship in athletics. With this distinction, The Campus will be evaluated once again by a separate judge, and the 2013-14 Hoosier Star winners will be announced at the IHSPA fall convention in October.

"Students do great work including/getting sources to complete coverage of all categories. [The paper is] well-written by students who know what they're doing," IHSPA judge Cheryl Pontius said.

Members of the staff are Frederick and Scher, Yazel, photographers senior Kaley Higgins and senior Katie Korporeal, and graphic designer junior Matthew Hunt.

JEFFEST

The La Fontaine Arts Council and Four Corners Custom Framing announce that this year's JeFFest will be held June 22. The event, held in downtown Huntington from 6 to 8:30 pm, features fun food, fabulous music and fine art.

The art portion of JeFFest provides artists of all ages the opportunity to create a special work on a 5" X 7" canvas. These official JeFFest canvases are $5 and can be purchased only at Four Corners Custom Framing, 419 N Jefferson Street, during business hours from Tuesdays through Saturdays beginning May 1.

Local business Giggabugby will offer a series of open studio sessions and will provide painting supplies and basic instruction to people who purchase JeFFest canvases.

The sessions are from 5 to 9 pm on May 5, 8, 13, 16, 21, 27 and 29. A $5 fee will be charged for each session. Participation at a studio session is not required prior to submitting a JeFFest canvas.

Completed canvases should be returned to the frame shop by June 13, at which time they become the property of the La Fontaine Arts Council. They will be professionally framed and displayed for the silent auction at the frame shop beginning June 19. The silent auction ends the evening of JeFFest.

Artists may purchase more than one canvas, and any media can be used on the canvas. Submissions must be dry and ready for framing when they are returned to the frame shop.

People's Choice Awards will be given in both adult and youth categories.

All proceeds from JeFFest go toward the La Fontaine Arts Council's "Arts in Education" programming.

For more information about JeFFest, contact Debbie Dyer, Executive Director of the LAC, at either 260-356-8874 or 260-358-0055 or Paula Bittner, owner of Four Corners Custom Framing, at 260-355-0650.

RIBBON CUTTING

Walnut Creek Golf Course/Club Run Golf Course announces the New Kids Club Course, a golf course designed for children age 10 and under to introduce children to the game of golf. Realizing how quickly young children tire playing a full-length course, the course was designed to make their first golf experience more fun.

The course measures 329 total yards in length, par 34. The course features 8' cups and is free for children accompanied by an adult. Adults may play along at no charge if accompanied by a child age 10 years and under. This may be the first course of its kind in existence.

The Gas City Chamber of Commerce will have a ribbon cutting ceremony on May 9th at 4:30. The public is invited to attend the event.

Inspiration for the course came from designer, Randy Ballinger. As a child before being allowed to play a regulation golf course, Randy designed his own course around his parent's yard using orange juice cans for holes and grooming with a push-type reel mower.

favors the wind turbines, but our group has not decided to report this hateful circumstance to the local police officials as of yet. It is too bad people cannot tolerate opposing viewpoints. Instead they feel it necessary to silence those who disagree with them.

Question: What are they afraid of or what are they trying to hide? I guess we should be content to know that those culprits responsible must now live with the consciences and hope when they look in the mirror every day they can stand what they see. We have knowledge that the vast majority of our citizens, perhaps as many as 75%, oppose those 500 ft tall monsters called wind turbines - and that is a good feeling. We know our opponents hope we'll go away ... well, WE WON'T Go!

Sadly, the gentleman who purchased those signs (at considerable personal expense) did so believing they would be allowed to serve their purpose for a lengthy period of time. He didn't dream anyone would be so disrespectful and remove or destroy them. The HCCC group will replace any missing sign - if requested to do so. Now, let's all keep our eyes open for vandals. In the meantime, anyone wishing to help reimburse this caring gentleman for his thoughtfulness, may do so by visiting the HCCC website and donating any amount you are comfortable with. Major credit cards and Paypal are available for your convenience. Should surplus funds exist, they will be used to defray HCCC expenses such as attorney fees due to our sustained efforts, advertising costs, and the cost of printing more signs and brochures. Thank you for your help and generosity in this matter. You are so appreciated.

See you May 14th at 7 p.m. at the HNHS Auditorium for the "make-up" Plan Commission meeting.

P.S. We believe in harvesting the wind ... but NOT at taxpayer's expense!
