WARREN IN PILOT PROJECT

The Town of Warren, through the Indiana Association of Cities and Towns, has been as one of eleven communities to be considered as part of a pilot project to contract with Hyett/Palma to conduct a study and survey to determine the citizen's of Warren's desires and needs for the future of the community, particularly the downtown area. Currently, a Process Committee is being selected to be actively involved in the development of a five-year program. This Committee will be comprised of local citizens as well as Town Officials, County Officials, Warren Area Business Leaders, Civic Group Leaders and Local School Officials. The decisions made by this committee may very well determine the course for the Town of Warren for years to come.

Local citizens will play a vital role in the process as contacts will be made to complete survey information to be used in the development of the plan. The first meeting of the Process Committee will be held on August 13th and will include members of the committee, Delores Palma, members of the IACT Staff, and municipal representatives from other communities considering joining the process. More information will be forthcoming following that meeting as to the exact nature of surveys and questionnaires to be used but input from all those citizens contacted will be vital to successful completion of the project.

The Warren Town Council is excited about this project and proud that the Town of Warren was one of eleven communities
chosen to participate in this Pilot Project of the Indiana Association of Cities and Towns. Warren will be the first community of its size to participate in such a program through Hyett/Palma, and, as such, will be the first in Indiana to begin the process. The Warren Project will be previewed at the IACT Annual conference in September and at the National League

of Cities Conference in Atlanta, GA this December. Funding for this project is made possible, in part, through CREDIT funds, grants,
and local sponsorship.

7-8:30 p.m. in the dining room at Bluffton Regional South, 1100 S.
Main Street. Meetings will conan atmosphere for members to hear ideas and ask questions about living heart healthy. "Exchanging information helps each individual express the challenges of living with heart disease," said Sherry Makowski, RN, group facilitator. "We want everyone to feel welcome. A healthy heart lifestyle is a tangible goal."

KUDOS, KICKS & KARATS

LETTER TO THE EDITOR:

Small towns are wonderful, where else could you set up town in rocking chairs, and rock the hours away. That is what the Warren United Methodist Youth will be doing August 10th to noon on Saturday. They are raising money for the Colin McIntire Fund that has been started. Colin and his family live in Warren and Colin has been diagnosed with Muscular Dystrophy. Youth members plan on keeping rockers rocking all night long to raise money for this fund. Please stop by to sponsor a chair or put a donation in the canister and cheer the youth on. Thank God, we are from a "Small Town With A Big Heart". Perry & Tamara Spahr, Teresa Kriegbaum & Cindy Boxell

STATE FAIRS ARE NEW EACH YEAR, BUT THEY WERE BORN IN A MILLENNIUM PAST

Our modern state fairs feature agricultural displays and competitions, races, and entertainments of many kinds. They are an annual event attended by hundreds of thousands of people. But when did all of this begin?

How about 14,000 years ago, or even before that? In China, the Rites of Chow-li, a fair-like event, dates from the 12th century B.C. In Mexico, the Aztecs had festivals and fairs a few centuries later. In Greece, the Olympic Games were primarily athletic, but there was trading at the same time including grain, linens, carpets, and furniture.

The word "fair" is believed to originate from the Latin word, feriae, meaning festival or holiday. From the 5th century of the Christian era, fairs were held in Champagne in France. Early medieval festivals were held in the 7th century in Rome, Antwerp, Frankfurt, Leipzig, Madrid, and the British Isles, according to Collier's Encyclopedia.

Trade conducted at early fairs resulted in benefits that have come down through antiquity. The modern system of Troy weights, for example, is derived from the system employed at the medieval fair in Troyes. Some historians say paper money originated as promissory notes between merchants at these fairs.

Medieval fairs were governed by laws enforced by their own officials and courts. The laws covered maintaining peace and order, the quality of goods offered for trade, and the prevention of fraud. The guarantee of freedom of attendance and honest trading at French fairs led to a pledge all merchants had to make "to keep the peace and to deal honestly."

The first fair in the U.S. took place at New Haven Conn., in 1644 and was devoted to the exhibition of livestock and agricultural products. Other early fairs were held in New Hampshire, New Jersey, Maryland, and South Carolina.

Two of the oldest state fairs started in 1841 at New Brunswick, N.J. and Syracuse, N.Y. Others states soon held their own state fairs.

The fair you attend now was born at the dawn of recorded history.

AUGUST 7, 2001: NATIONAL NIGHT OUT

It's becoming a summer event all across the country. In some cities and communities National Night Out is celebrated in individual neighborhoods. In others, the event is citywide.

From the schedule of entertainment, it may appear that National Night Out (NNO) is just for fun. It is fun, but it has a more serious purpose. Sponsored by the National Association of Town Watch, the event has an important goal: to bring members of the community and local police together in a partnership that promotes safety in neighborhoods. The alcohol-free, family oriented events make August more fun. With no other significant holiday events occurring in this month, NNO is there to highlight August with an evening or afternoon of activities. Of course, you could go to the fair, but your NNO celebration is not only closer, but it doesn't cost anything.

Will you see local law enforcement people there? You probably will. It will give you an opportunity to meet them in person and see how friendly they are. And NNO gives you a fine opportunity to introduce your kids to smiling police officers. They'll like the attention they get, and they'll learn that the police are friendly and protective.

AREA NEWS

PRE-SALE STATE FAIR TICKETS

Indiana State Fair tickets may be purchased at the Grant County Cooperative Extension Service at $5.00 per ticket until August 7. After that date $6.00 will be charged at the entrance gates. The State Fair programs are also available at the Extension Office located at 401 S. Adams Street, Room 422, Marion. Phone 668-8871, Extension 413.

BUS TRIP

The Huntington County Extension Homemaker's Association is organizing a bus trip to Indianapolis on Wednesday, September 26. This year's trip has a little something for everyone - education, entertainment, great eating, and shopping.

The day will start with a tour of the Ronald McDonald House. The group will learn how this special "house" serves families, whose children require special care at an Indianapolis area hospital.

Next the group will go to Beef and Boards for a buffet lunch and to enjoy the play "The King and I." After the play it is on the Circle Centre Mall for some shopping. The group will spend approximately 2½ hours at the mall. There will be brochures to help lead people through the four level mall.

Those participating will board the bus at 7:30 a.m. and return to Huntington about 8:30 p.m. The cost for the bus trip is $43.00 and this includes bus transportation, buffet, show, tax, tips, and insurance. Reservations with money are needed by August 20. The reservations are to be sent to Sharon McCoart, 2463 W 100 N, Huntington, IN 46750. For further information, contact the Huntington County Extension Office, 358-4826.

Note: Please save pop tabs for the Ronald McDonald house. Collected pop tabs are recycled, generating much-needed funds to support the House and the nearly 1400 families that it serves each year. Since beginning the program six years ago, over 300 million tabs have been collected, generating over $140,000 through this program.

The goal of the Ronald McDonald House is to collect one billion pop tabs and you can help reach that goal! Estimate your collection amount. 1000 tabs equal one pound and 1000 pounds equal one million tabs.

LEADERSHIP TRAINING

A leadership-training program developed by Purdue Extension will be presented to residents of Wells, Adams & Huntington Counties on nine consecutive Thursdays, beginning September 6.

The i-LEaD sessions will be offered from 7 - 9 PM via distance education from the Purdue University campus. The viewing site for participants will be the Wells County Community Center. The cost for all nine sessions, including all educational materials, is $40.

Purdue Extension educators will serve as the on-site facilitators at the six viewing sites across the state. They will answer questions and guide participants through the various activities.

To register, or for more information, contact Judi Merkel, Extension Educator at 824-6412.

The i-LEaD (Indiana Leadership Education and Development) program prepares citizens to be leaders with a curriculum based on research about leadership development and written by Purdue Cooperative Extension Service staff. Participants will develop their own leadership skills and learn how to put their new skills into practice.

Betty Kreczi, the i-LEaD chairperson and the assistant program leader for Extension in Purdue's School of Consumer and Family Sciences has been pilot testing the curriculum for the past two years.

"We've gotten nothing but positive feedback from the pilot tests," she said, "so we're very excited about rolling this program out statewide. Many of the people who participated in the pilot test have said that they gained self-confidence, in addition to learning about leadership skills and leadership styles."

The program offers three sessions in each of three leadership areas:

- Level I: "Me"
 - Personality assessment using the Myers-Briggs Type Indicator
 - The nature of leadership Creative thinking
- Level II: "You and Me"
 - Interpersonal communication

- Team building
- Conflict management
- Level III: "All of Us"
 - Boards and committees
 - Setting and achieving goals
 - Community leadership and power structure

MOVING? DON'T LEAVE YOUR MAIL BEHIND!

"Planning to move? If you're one of the 42 million Americans who relocate every year, one of the first things you need to do is fill out a Change of Address Order (COA). Today, the U.S. Postal Service has made this chore easier than ever," said Postmaster Sheryl Horst. The official change of address form is now part of a free, 24-page Mover's Guide that is available at your post office. The colorful booklet also includes:

- before and after check lists of moving tips, such as when to turn your electricity off and on;
 - advertisements with discounts for moving-related products and services; and,
 - answers to the most commonly asked questions about permanent and temporary mail forwarding.
- "Internet users may access the MoversNet, an expanded version of the Mover's Guide. MoversNet offers the public at-home convenience and several additional move related services including discounts on move-related items," said Horst.

Users may also printout of any needed IRS forms, ZIP Code lookups and lookup the phone number and address of your new post office. With the click of a button, it's also accessible in Spanish. This new web site is now available on the Internet at <http://www.usps.gov/moversnet/>.

When filling out the Change of Address Order, whether you use the traditional hardcopy Form 3575 in the Mover's Guide or the MoversNet Form 3575 WWW make sure you check off each block that pertains to you. Be sure to include the effective date of your move and the new ZIP Code. "If you do not know your new ZIP Code, call 1-800-ASK-USPS," said Horst.

If the change is only for the individual signing the order, be sure that the "individual" block is checked. When you check the "entire family box," mail will be forwarded for everyone at that address with the same last name. If a member of your household is moving to a different new address, be sure he or she files a separate change of address order.

The Mover's Guide also contains a number of cards for you to notify publishers and correspondents of your new address. (Use the coded magazine address label in the area requesting your old address on the publisher's notification form. Postage is required on this form.)

"If you have to move before you know your address, have your mail held at the post office. As soon as you know the new address, complete the change of address card and mail it to us. However, mail will usually be held no more than 30 days," Horst said.

Often there are delays in construction which push back the occupancy date of a new residence. By notifying the postmaster at your new location, and agreeing to periodically pick up accumulated mail, you may fill out the COA to your unfinished residence.

"You will know that we received your new address order after we send a confirmation notice to your old and, if applicable, new address," said Horst.

"We will do everything possible to provide you with uninterrupted mail service, but we need the change of address information as soon as possible to start the process," said Horst.

Story time will resume in September. The Summer Reading program ended July 21, but keep reading. Reading to totally awesome!

VBPL STORYTIME

Monday, July 23rd twenty-six children attended the Our Town Summer Reading Program. Mrs. Sue Hodge shared with the children on how to draw a flag of the United States. Not a flag of today, but one that was the United States Flag in 1837 when Van Buren Township was laid out. This flag consisted of 26 stars. The flag was the symbol of the 1992 Van Buren Popcorn Festival. This Flag is also on display at the Van Buren Public Library. It was donated by The Van Buren Lioness. Local residents Karl & Willadean Harte sewed a flag with the 26 stars. The flag was framed by Marvin Surber. The children enjoyed playing games. We divided the group into two different age groups. The younger children enjoyed blowing bubbles.

They tried to see who could blow the largest and who could blow the smallest bubbles. It was a lot of fun. The different groups played other games like, who could balance a book on their head the longest, bean bag toss and other challenging games.

Wednesday July 25th, twenty-six children attended the Summer Reading Program. Visits were made by the children to the Star Financial Bank and The Van Buren Auction House. Mrs. Cindy Bollhoefer shared with the children a lot of information on how a bank does different transactions to accommodate their patrons. The children were shown the safe where the money is kept. Cindy signed the children's autograph sheet and had her picture taken with them. She gave each of us a sucker to enjoy. Thanks Cindy! Mr. and Mrs Joe Pickett owners of the Auction House shared with the children on how an auction is held. It was very interesting. The children had several questions to ask. They had their autograph page signed and their picture taken with the owners.

When we returned to the library Jennifer Shideler and Karen Conwell read several Stories to the children. Refreshments of Jello salad made by Jennifer and Koolaid were served.

Great place for a short nap.

But as a bed, it makes for a long night.

But there you are, because your snoring, or that of a loved one, is keeping both of you from getting a good night's sleep. That's where we can help. Our Sleep Disorders Center staff is trained to evaluate and treat sleep disorders such as snoring, sleep apnea, narcolepsy and insomnia.

Plus, we've expanded our hours, which means you'll soon be off the couch and back to bed...so you can get a good night's sleep.

Help is just a phone call away. Talk to your doctor today, or call our sleep disorders center at (219) 824-3500, ext. 6524.
