Thought for the Week: A man cannot be too careful in the choice of his enemies. Oscar Wilde

A FARMHOUSE CHRISTMAS HOMESPUN

With just a few days to go, our Farmhouse Christmas open house is quickly approaching! We thought long on hard about this open house theme. In doing so, we discovered we're not JUST a flower shop and greenhouse! We are the culmination of several family legacies! If you see Josh or I around town, one of our kids (or all 3) are usually in tow! They've attended a few different town meetings, added some flowers to an arrangement, and even aided Josh in the pottery studio! The Gebhart's greenhouse began out of a passion for growing fruits and vegetables and the flower shop quickly followed in serving our community! It too, was a family affair! So naturally, a "Farmhouse Christmas" makes perfect sense!

This year, we're not holding back! We're embracing our family heritage and pouring that into our decorations, arrangements, and new pottery line! You'll see some familiar items but also enjoy the pursuit of several new designs! Naturally, we'll have coffee, cookies, and wassail! The open house begins Saturday November 2nd 9-5pm and Sunday November 3rd 1-5pm. We look forward to seeing you this weekend and sharing in our excitement to bring many family legacies together in one place!

A great big THANK YOU to all who attended our One Year Anniversary Open House last Saturday!! It was fantastic to see everyone.

MUCH ADO ABOUT NOTHING

Taylor Theatre presents William Shakespeare's comedy, Much Ado About Nothing. The production will run November 15-16 and 22-23 at 7:30 p.m. and November 17 and 24 at 2 p.m. in Taylor University's Mitchell Theatre. Tickets can be purchased through Taylor University Theatre's website, Facebook and Twitter pages, or contact the box office: 765-998-5289 and boxoffice@taylor.edu.

Directed by Joe Martyn Ricke, Shakespeare's classic 16th-century comedy will be set in set in 1944 Great Britain, where a group of American pilots stay at a British country estate between combat missions. Love, trickery, treachery, jealousy, betrayal, tragedy, slapstick comedy, and marriage somehow all join together in this timeless tale. Featuring the music and dancing of the 1940s, the production is dedicated in honor of the 75th anniversary of the Allied liberation of Europe. Veterans will receive free tickets at every performance.

"I love Shakespearean comedy," Ricke says. "I've directed tragedies, but I think the comedies are undervalued. People think comedies aren't profound because they aren't serious. In fact, they can be very profound; they just aren't solemn." He believes much of the timeless nature of the story revolves around the principle 'shrewish' characters - Benedick and Beatrice. "They're proud, defiant and claim they don't like members of the opposite sex. Sparks fly."

Although Ricke first had the idea to set this story during World War 2 about ten years ago, the timing of this production worked perfectly to honor the anniversary of the liberation campaign. "Most people don't know there were a half million American troops (mostly Army Air Force) in England in 1944. We want to honor both Shakespeare and the so-called Greatest Generation. The people of Europe and the American people (mostly young people) who came to their aid suffered through a

THE ICE CREAM MYSTERY TRIP

Day #2 - by Larry Ryan
We left Syracuse at 8am, wearing sunglasses for the first time. The bus headed north on I-81 towards Watertown, NY, a city that is only 30 miles from Canada.

The driver skirted around this community, passed through a section of Fort Drum where soldiers were active in military maneuvers.

We turned east onto Highway #3A and soon onto #3 northeast. My mind jumped to the possibility of landing in Burlington, Vermont and the home of Ben & Jerry's Ice Cream business. Also, I have never been to Vermont.

To digress from the travelogue, we witnessed a medium-sized, propeller airplane planted in someone's backyard. No airport access! Of course there were weeds growing all around it as if attempting to camouflage it. Near the Mexico, NY exit, a road sign read, "Tinker Tavern Road."

It sounded inviting after riding on a bus for two days.

The bus did not stop however. Also saw a vital bumper sticker that read, "No Farms, No Food!" So true!

Much of this area resembled Upper Michigan. Snow fences appeared on the north side of the highway.

We entered the huge Adirondack Park. A guide reported that this park is larger than Yellowstone and Yosemite combined. Passed "Wild Fever Café" at Star Lake village, the "Thirsty Moose Tavern, and the "Irish Pub" at the town of Tupper Lake.

However, I was on "Moose Alert." The first person to site a live moose was rewarded with a left-over chocolate cookie. It never happened.

The mountain streams were now shallow and consisted of clear, running water with an assortment of imbedded rocks in the way of the onrushing water. Many roadsides contained numerous yellow-blossomed wild flowers. Much of this area in NY State was marsh land. But on higher ground, a hilly golf course appeared.

While passing through the large village of Saranac Lake, NY, the bus turned east on Highway #86. In short order we were in the Olympic town of Lake Placid, NY. The Adirondack Mountains surrounded us. The main street bordered Mirror Lake.

Our tour director allowed us to depart the sequestered quarters to investigate and shop in this historic tourist community until our hotel rooms were ready. One store stocked Amish Popcorn from Berne, IN. We discovered Emma's Ice Cream Parlor to satisfy the Mystery Trip advertisement.

We were also saddened to learn that the Ben & Jerry's parlor was closed! All 1000 flavors were missing.

Our group of travelers met our three local tour guides who, in turn, led a group through the Lake Placid Ice Arena. Ice in the 1980 rink was very cold and white in color. Youthful, hopefuls were skating in full hockey gear. One young show-off fell right in front of us at the wall. His heavy, protective clothing prohibited him from getting back on his feet easily. This rink was special!

It is where the younger USA hockey team won the 1980 Olympic Gold Medal! They surprisingly beat the USSR and Finland. The movie, "Miracle On Ice" revisits that time in history. The Russian network news did not disclose the loss to their population for weeks.

The 1932 ice rink in the same building was the first dedicated indoor skating rink in the world. Its ice content was slightly softer and had a grayish hue to it which allowed the figure skaters a better view of contact with the surface of the ice.

Our bus picked us up in midtown and delivered us to the Mirror Lake Inn. After a buffet dinner, everyone went down the hotel steps, across the street for a photograph. We were surprised by a torch-bearing a young, Olympic luge-training girl from Auckland, New Zealand also descended the steps, crossed the street and handed the burning torch to one of our group members. Each person, in turn, handed it to another until it finally reached our tour director. He climbed ten steps and lit a propane-fired caldron. We had our own official Olympic Opening Ceremony at Lake Placid!!

My wife obtained the foreign girl's autograph. I scouted out two lakeside chairs where we spent an hour admiring our view of the calm lake and on-coming lights of the businesses that were established around the curving shoreline.

More next week.
