NEPAC CROP DIAGNOSTIC WORKSHOP SET FOR JUNE 22

Crop advisors, pesticide applicators, and growers have the opportunity to learn more about nutrient application and soil health at a workshop on June 22. Specialists from Purdue Extension, Ohio State Extension, A & L Labs, U.S.D.A. and the Office of Indiana State Chemist will share the latest research and practical advice.

The NEPAC Crop Diagnostic Workshop will be held from 9:00 a.m. to 3:00 p.m. (8:30 a.m. registration) at the Northeast Purdue Agricultural Center (NEPAC), 4821 E. 400 S. Columbia City, IN. The workshop focuses on strategies for nutrient and soil health management.

Topics and speakers are:
* "Nutrient Management: Timing of Applications and Other Plant Health Considerations," Jim Camberato —Purdue Agronomy Dept.

* "The Manure on Manure," Jamie Bultemeier—A&L Labs

* "Capturing Nutrient Value: Manure Application Field Research," Glen Arnold—Ohio State Ext. Field Specialist, Manure Nutrient Management Systems

* "Strategies for Reduction of Nutrient Losses," Chad Penn—USDA Agricultural Research Service Soil Scientist

* "Cover Crops and Nutrient Management," Joe Rorick—Purdue Extension Agronomist

* "Manure and Fertilizer Regulations for Indiana," Trish Dunn—Office of Indiana State Chemist
Recertification credits have been approved for this workshop including: Commercial Category 1, 14 and RT credits (CCHs); Private Applicator Recertification Program (PARP) credits; and crop advisor credits (CEUs).

Registration is due by June 16 online at <https://cvent.me/lzrZzv>. The cost to attend the workshop is $80 per person. Lunch is provided.

Continuing education credits for the Private Applicator Recertification Program will be available for $10. Farmers are reminded to bring their pesticide applicator cards for registration.

For a reasonable accommodation or more information, contact Ed Farris, Purdue Extension —Huntington County at 260-358-4826 or emfarris@purdue.edu.

STATE'S NEW YOUTH-EMPLOYMENT SYSTEM GOES LIVE

Schools will no longer be responsible for issuing work permits effective July 1

The Indiana Department of Labor's new Youth Employment System, or YES, went live this morning, opening the door for Hoosier employers to begin using the system to comply with a new youth-employment law that goes into effect July 1.

The new law requires Indiana employers who hire five or more minor employees (under age 18), per location, to list those employees in the new YES registry. The change is part of amendments to Indiana Code 22-2-18.1-26 made during the 2020 state legislative session, which also mandated implementation of the YES registry and effective date of employer registration by July 1, 2021.

"We wanted the system to go live a month before the law goes into effect so employers can set up their accounts, test-drive the system, and learn their way around it," said Michael Myers, director of DOL's Bureau of Youth Employment.

The new requirement will eliminate the need for work permits in Indiana for minor employees, and shift the responsibility of tracking and reporting youth employment from schools to employers.

Required information will include the employers' corporate and individual facility location, and minor employee information, such as name and age, once the minor is officially employed. Upon termination of employment, the employer must remove the minor's information from the YES active-employee registry.

As of July 1, employers who fail to comply with the new registration requirements may face penalties of up to $400 per infraction.

The new YES requirement will not impact the state's work-hour requirement for minors, and all employers must still comply with the Teen Work Hour Restrictions and Prohibited and Hazardous Occupation restrictions for minors.

The Indiana State Department of Agriculture is now accepting submissions for the 14th annual Indiana Agriculture Photo Contest. The contest is open to all Indiana residents and was created to recognize the hard work and contributions of Hoosier farmers, as well as the beauty of the state's agricultural landscape.

"Each year I look forward to seeing the photo submissions that so beautifully capture the heart of our state's rural scenery and countryside," said Lt. Gov Suzanne Crouch, Secretary of Agriculture and Rural Development. "Displaying the winning photos in our Family of Business's offices throughout the year serves as a wonderful reminder of the importance and beauty of our Hoosier agriculture industry."

Participants are encouraged to submit photos reflecting the wide array of agriculture. The categories photos can be entered under are:

* On the Farm: Showcasing any building, piece of equipment or activity that is a part of life on an Indiana farm.

* Faces of Agriculture: Featuring those who grow and produce food, fuel and fiber in Indiana.

* Agritourism: Spotlighting Indiana's seasonal and agricultural destinations, such as orchards, wineries and farmers markets.

* Conservation: Highlighting Indiana's natural beauty with landscapes, water and wildlife.

In total, ten winners will be selected: two from each category and two overall. Winners will be invited to attend a special ceremony at the Indiana State Fair, where they will be recognized and receive certificates from Crouch and Indiana State Department of Agriculture Director Bruce Kettler. Contest winners will also have their photographs featured in the offices of the Lt. Governor's Family of Business in Indianapolis throughout the year.

"You do not have to be a professional photographer to enter the contest. Each year we receive incredible images,

Kudos, Kicks & Karats

So busy this week. We are remodeling our bath room and what a chore it's been. We're not quite done yet, but closer than we were.

A big shout out to boy scout troop 122 for putting out the flags for memorial day at Woodlawn cemetery. That was a chore in it's self. 311 flags were put out to all the known veterans just in that cemetery. I love looking at all of them dotted across the cemetery. It really makes you stop and think how lucky we are for all of those men and women standing up for our freedom. Thank you all for your service.

I just received word my youngest niece Sarah is now engaged to her boyfriend Corbin. So excited for them and still patiently waiting on baby girl brown to make her appearance from my other niece Annette

Well that's all for this week, I better stop before the boss catches me writing this at work. Lol. Have a great week, the weather is finally gonna show some spring/ summer temps. Enjoy it before it gets too hot.

DISCUSS FINANCIAL GOALS WITH YOUR FAMILY

June is Effective Communications Month. And it's a good idea to recognize the importance of good communications because it plays a role in almost every aspect of living – including your finances. You'll want to clearly communicate your financial goals to your loved ones – and you'll want to hear theirs, too.

Let's look at some of the communications you might have with family members:

* Your spouse – You and your spouse may have different thoughts about a range of financial topics – how much to save, how much to spend, the level of debt with which you're comfortable and so on. Try to reach some type of consensus on these issues. However, in regard to investing, you don't necessarily have to act in unison all the time. You each may have different investment styles – one of you may be more aggressive, willing to take on more risk in exchange for potentially higher returns, while the other would rather invest with an eye toward mitigating risk, even it means accepting a lower return. Of course, there's nothing stopping each of you from pursuing your individual investment strategies in your own accounts – IRA, 401(k) and so on. Still, if you are going to work toward common goals – especially

CYBERSEEK INDIANA RESOURCE LAUNCHES TO PROMOTE JOBS IN GROWING CYBERSECURITY INDUSTRY

As cybersecurity threats and attacks continue to increase, the State of Indiana is introducing the Cyberseek Indiana online resource to promote and support job growth in the emerging industry of cybersecurity.

The Indiana Department of Workforce Development (DWD) is partnering with the Purdue Cyber Apprenticeship Program (P-CAP), Burning Glass Technologies and CompTIA to help close the cybersecurity skills gap in Indiana.

Visitors to the Cyberseek site will find a variety of useful information about supply and demand in the cybersecurity job market, heat maps showing locations of jobs and apprenticeships, and contacts for training providers. The data is geared toward employers, educators and students, with the goal of filling current open positions and growing the cybersecurity workforce in Indiana. According to the National Initiative for Cybersecurity Education (NICE), there are currently 20,549 cybersecurity job openings in Indiana.

"The need for a skilled cybersecurity professional workforce is at an all-time high," said Dr. Marcus Rogers, executive director of the P-CAP program. "Increasingly, U.S. companies of all sizes are being targeted for attacks, with the resultant cost to the economy in the billions of dollars. Programs like Cyberseek and P-CAP are vital components in preparing the workforce to fill the need for these cybersecurity professionals today and tomorrow."

Cybersecurity workers protect the nation's most important and private information, from bank accounts to sensitive military communications. However, there is a dangerous shortage of cybersecurity workers in the United States that puts the nation's digital privacy and infrastructure at risk.

"The cybersecurity talent shortage is a global challenge requiring local solutions," said Will Markow, managing director of Burning Glass Technologies. "No two communities have the exact same cyber workforce needs, but you can't address those needs if you don't know what they are. Cyberseek Indiana was developed to arm individuals, employers, and educators with the data and tools necessary to prepare for the unique blend of cybersecurity jobs and skills required in every community across Indiana."

As part of the state's mission to help provide a skilled workforce, DWD fully supports cybersecurity programs such as P-CAP.

"Understanding Indiana's job demand for cybersecurity professionals who have the right skills, education, and training has been a key area of focus for our agency as well as Governor Holcomb's Executive Council on Cybersecurity," said Jeff Tucker, DWD's chief information officer. "By partnering with Burning Glass, CompTIA and Purdue, we are excited to deliver a tool that can improve our understanding of our cybersecurity workforce and talent pipeline. This tool further demonstrates Indiana's commitment to combatting cybercrime. We can see the trends, we can see the shifts in skills needed to combat cyberattacks, and we can offer potential pathways for individuals looking to skill up in the most efficient way possible."

Learn more about cybersecurity opportunities and training at: www.cyberseekin.org.

Taverns on Indiana roads were important to immigrants entering the new state after 1816. They offered food, shelter and fellowship in the harsh wild woods. Shelter from the elements and a place to sleep on the floor by the fire were luxury enough for early travelers along pioneer roads.

One such place, in Warren, was a building at the corner of 3rd and Wayne Street, Where Accent Interiors is today. This building was built for Samuel Jones in the early 1840s and was used as a tavern and boarding house. Some of the old timers might know this as the old Eikenbary Building. One of the features, of the old-time boarding houses, was the dinner bell which was rung morning, noon and night. This served notice to all boarders and all others, who might want a meal, it was time to eat.

There were several owners through the years that operated as a boarding house. One of these was Catharine Sutton, in 1879, who called her place the Exchange Hotel. In 1891, Francis I. Eikenbary purchased the property and moved his grocery store from diagonally across the street. Frances and then his son sold groceries there to the 1930s. In the 1920s Art Soulen operated the Eikenbary Garage which was attached to the north end of the building. In 1940, the old Eikenbary building was torn down to make way for a new service station.

A TRIP TO ALBERTA & BRITISH COLUMBIA, CANADA DAYS 1 & 2

by Larry Ryan
Since my wife and I were not interested in spending eight days hiking and backpacking in the mountainous areas of Canada, we pre-planned for a rental car before arriving in Calgary, Alberta via Northwest Airlines. It was a warm 1995 summer in Indiana so the prospects of the cooler Canadian Rockies was inviting.

Our plan was to spend the first three days traveling through the eastern part of British Columbia. So after a night in Calgary, we motored west on Trans-Canadian Highway # 1 towards Banff, Alberta. We passed the communities of Cochrane, Kananaskis, Exshaw, and Canmore before entering the Goat Range section of the Rocky Mountains. Near Banff, Highway # 1 bypassed this future reservation destination.

From the Banff location we turned northwest into Johnston Canyon, which paralleled the Continental Divide. Mt. Eisenhower and Protection Mountain were visible to the east. As we approached the ever popular village of Lake Louise, the Trans-Continental Highway once again side-stepped another one of our later planned, vacation stops and angled westward.

Next, we crossed the jagged Continental Divide at Kicking Horse Pass with an elevation of 5,339 feet which was also the gateway into the British Columbia Province. This route took us past Kicking Horse Campground, through the village of Field, and the National Bridge site in the Yoho National Park. The village of Golden, Alberta was our lunch time rest stop.

Surprisingly, these mountainous roadways were not tortuous pathways, but gently winding in design.

After satisfying our hunger pains, the rental vehicle continued westward through the villages of Donald, Beavermouth, and Rogers. Afterwards, we passed Rogers Pass National Historical Site in Illecillewaet National Park. This pass is located in the 11,000 foot elevation of the Selkirk Mountains. This vicinity featured the Mt. MacDonald Railroad Tunnel which is 9.1 miles in length and has the distinction of being the longest tunnel in the western hemisphere. This tunnel was completed in 1988 and is located 300 feet lower than the 1916 Connaught Tunnel which is only 5 miles long.

Due to the difference of grade of the rail tracks and the cargo load, most trains use the Connaught route for east travel and the MacDonald for westward movement. This obviously helps prevent collisions too! In potential avalanche areas, the exposed rail tracks and trains are protected by natural mountainous or man-made awnings.

After passing through the village of Albert Canyon, we entered the town of Revelstoke which is located in Revelstoke National Park. Of course my wife had made overnight reservations weeks earlier. Our accommodation was a recently constructed, dedicated bed and breakfast facility with sleeping quarters located on the second floor. A central hallway made it seem motel-like.

Revelstoke has a changing population depending on the season of the year. This town is a major railway junction. It is the location where the eastern bound Mountain Subdivision of the Canadian Pacific Railway (CPR) system meets with the 130 mile long, western bound Shuswap Subdivision. The name, Shuswap is derived from the First Nation People's word, Secwepemc. Trivia question!

The CPR is headquartered in Calgary and includes 12,500 miles of tracks that exist between Montreal and Vancouver. There are spurs that extend into the USA and extend north to Edmonton, Alberta. Another trivia question.

With all the numerous, populated communities on the Canadian map, it is amazing to learn that 1/3 of the country's residents live in the cities of Toronto, Montreal, and Vancouver. More trivia.

More adventure tomorrow.

IFB PARTNERS WITH GEO PARTNERS, LLC

Indiana Farm Bureau today announced the formation of the Indiana Broadband Strategic Partnership (IBSP) to help bring reliable broadband to the most unserved and underserved communities across the state. To help with this initiative, the IBSP also includes Cook Medical Group, Duke Energy Foundation, Indiana Association of Realtors, Radius Indiana and the Regional Opportunity Initiative.

This partnership will promote the Indiana Speed Test, a crowd-sourced internet speed test created by GEO Partners, LLC, a Minnesota-based company that focuses on enabling cost effective planning and deployment of broadband. GEO Partners, LLC is working with other states including Minnesota, Washington, Maine, Kentucky, and Nebraska, as well as the nationally designated Delta Regional Authority that covers parts of eight states along the Mississippi River, to gather broadband data.

"Since access to reliable broadband is one of the most important challenges facing rural communities today, Indiana Farm Bureau sought organizations that advocate on behalf of rural Indiana to begin finding and developing solutions," said Randy Kron, INFB president. "Data is a critical piece to help local broadband groups and the state of Indiana invest where service is needed and to avoid overbuilding infrastructure. With their groundbreaking work in other states, GEO Partners is a perfect fit."

Beginning today, the Indiana Speed Test will be available on the INFB website – www.infb.org/speedtest, along with the websites of the initial partners and a growing list of collaborating organizations, including the Purdue Center for Regional Development, Association of Indiana Counties, Indiana Association of Regional Councils, Indiana Hospital Association and Indiana Broadband housed within the Office of Lt. Governor Suzanne Crouch.

GEO Partners provides real-time internet speed data by collecting speed test information from residents. Displayed on geographic information system (GIS) layers, the data pinpoints areas that are most in need of reliable, affordable access to broadband service.

The goal for the Indiana Speed Test is to gather data in all areas of Indiana. The GEO Partners software platform and the data will be available to local governments and organized broadband groups to analyze potential solutions and aid their applications for Indiana's Next Level Connections Grants and a variety of federal grants. It is also hoped that the Indiana Speed Test data will jumpstart efforts to plan broadband infrastructure investments from the local portions of the American Rescue Plan Act of 2021, so that decision-makers make investments with the greatest impact.

The speed test may be performed multiple times on any device that has an internet or cellular connection. The test takes less than one minute to complete, and no personal information will be collected.

"All Hoosiers are encouraged to participate in the Indiana Speed Test, the more locations, the more data points we'll be able to map to highlight what connections are available and speeds Hoosiers are getting at those locations," Kron added. "We are confident that GEO Partners will help all broadband stakeholders in Indiana by mapping actual internet speeds and identifying the most efficient methods to invest in broadband infrastructure."

The COVID pandemic put a spotlight on the lack of adequate broadband in Indiana, especially in rural areas. The IBSP's goal is to encourage data-driven investment decisions that substantially impact lives and our economic opportunity.

KEEP YOUR LAUNDRY LOOKING AND SMELLING GREAT ALL SUMMER LONG

(StatePoint) Never underestimate the power of scent. When you first open that dryer door or pull a warm, freshly laundered shirt over your head, you feel good, confident, clean and ready to face the day. You might not consciously think it, but you feel it. But in summer, long days outdoors result in frequent clothing changes and towel usage, creating "loads" more smelly laundry than usual.

Wondering how to make your favorite clothes stay bright and last longer? Want those sheets smelling great for guests long after they're laundered? Here are some of the best tips from Ensueño laundry care experts:

- Prep your clothes. Separating colors is a no-brainer, but be sure to secure clothing as well. Zip zippers, attach Velcro and fasten snaps to avoid snags and hang-ups that can ruin clothing. Check all pockets too—many cell phones and important papers have found a watery grave when accidentally run through the wash.

• Choose a scent. A survey by Ensueño found 63 percent of detergent users prefer a great scent. For a pick-me-up every time you dress or dry off, find a long-lasting one you love. For an extra scent lift, choose brands that use the same aroma across all of their products — like Ensueño, which just launched its liquid detergent and Scent Booster dryer sheets in the same great scents (spring fresh and violet bouquet) as their popular fabric softener. By using the same scent from start to finish, you'll give your laundry a long-lasting boost of freshness and avoid cocktailing scents that can compete.

• Adjust your water temperature. Use the right water temperature for the soil level and the type of garments you're washing. Use hot water to remove germs and heavy soil (though some fabrics are too delicate for hot and can bleed, so check the label carefully), warm water for good cleaning action without much wrinkling or fading, and cold water for delicate items or bright colors that might run or fade, dulling your whites.

• Choose the right detergent. Powders sometimes fail to dissolve in cooler water temperatures and pods can get really expensive. The new Ensueño Liquid Detergent deep cleans and delivers stain-fighting power and color-fading protection so you smell fresh, you look fresh and you feel fresh — a trifecta of laundered confidence.

• Boost softness. Use fabric softeners and dryer sheets to cut laundry time and make your laundry irresistibly soft and great-smelling. Fabric softeners also help keep clothes wrinkle- and static-free and help protect your clothing from wear and tear, lengthening garment life.

Ensueño's long-lasting fragrances are inspired by nature and their plant-based softening agents lock that fresh-from-the-wash aroma into every fiber of clothing for weeks.

Ensueño products can be found at favorite retailers including Walmart, Sam's Club and Family Dollar. To find more ways to love your laundry, as well as tips to keep your family looking its best, visit www.ensueno.us.

The summer can be the trickiest time of year to keep garments looking and smelling their best. With a few smart strategies, you can ensure clothes stay bright and fresh all season.

PLAYTIME: IT'S NOT JUST FOR KIDS, SAY EXPERTS

(StatePoint) While most of us associate playtime with childhood, adults are increasingly acknowledging the importance of play and leisure time for themselves.

A new survey commissioned by The Genius of Play and conducted by OnePoll finds that 89% of adults have learned to appreciate the importance of play and leisure time over the past year. What's more, 84% say taking time to play helps them be more productive at work.

"You're never too young or too old to play," says Anna Yudina, senior director of marketing initiatives at The Toy Association, which spearheads The Genius of Play. "In fact, research links play with a number of wellness benefits in adults, such as reducing stress, boosting life satisfaction, and empowering people to be creative, flexible thinkers."

To incorporate play into your life, consider these tips from The Genius of Play:

• Take on a Hobby: Seventy percent of adults picked up a new hobby or leisure activity over the past year -- and with good reason. Hobbies can be a source of positive emotions, get you outdoors, encourage physical activity and social interactions, and spark creativity. From roller skating to dancing to crafting to playing an instrument, consider taking on a new, playful hobby or revisiting one you enjoyed during childhood.

• Plan a Game Night: While play often occurs spur-of-the-moment, life is hectic and schedules are jam-packed. Consider scheduling time for fun to ensure it happens. For example, make one evening each week a totally screen-free, stress-free experience. Order pizza (or your household's cuisine of choice) and break out games and puzzles. You might even consider planning themed trivia nights delving into your favorite subjects.

• Hop in the Car: Whether you choose a destination that allows you to simply relax, or you take on a more active adventure, a trip can broaden your horizons and rejuvenate you when you're feeling down or just trapped in the daily routine. Consider taking a just-for-fun trip on your own, with a friend or partner, or pack up the car and bring the kids.

• Bring out Your Inner Child: Parents, grandparents and other adults with a kid in their life can spend more time playing with the little ones. Not only is play the perfect way to bond, research highlights a number of associated health benefits. Those who play with children burn 20% more calories per week, and researchers link playfulness to creativity, spontaneity and positive attitudes. Intergenerational play can help adults maintain cognitive skills as they age and even extend their life. A study published in the journal "Evolution and Human Behavior" found that grandparents who help out with grandchildren live longer.

If you're looking for some inspiration, visit thegeniusofplay.org for tons of fun, free games and downloadable activities.

"While our primary mission is educating parents and caregivers about play's vital role in child development, adults need time to play too," says Yudina. "We hope to motivate people of all ages to play more -- whether it's by embracing personal hobbies or by spending more time playing with their kids."

toward a shared vision of your retirement lifestyle – you each may want to compromise in your investment choices. And this accommodation is even more necessary in your joint accounts.

* Your parents – If you may someday be involved with your parents' financial plans – which is highly likely – you should know in advance what to expect. This may not be the easiest conversation to have, but it's an important one. So, for example, ask your parents if they have a durable power of attorney, which allows them to designate someone to manage their financial affairs if they become physically or mentally incapacitated. You might also inquire if they have protected themselves against the potentially enormous costs of long-term care, such as an extended nursing home stay. If not, you might suggest that they contact a financial advisor, who can offer solutions. Once you begin communicating about these issues, you may well want to go further into your parents' estate plans to determine what other arrangements, if any, they have made. If it seems that their plans are not fully developed, you may want to encourage them to contact an attorney specializing in estate planning.

* Your grown children – Just as you talk to your parents about their estate plans, you'll want to discuss the same topic with your own grown children. Let them know who you have named as a durable power of attorney, what's in your last will and testament and whether you've established a living trust. If you're already working with a financial advisor and an estate planning professional, make sure your children know how to contact these individuals. Of course, you don't have to confine your communications to estate plans – if you want to help your children financially, such as loaning them money for a down payment on a home, let them know.

By talking with your loved ones about key financial matters, everyone benefits. So, keep those lines of communication open.
