MEN: LIVE LONGER BY CHANGING THE ODDS

On average, women live five years longer than men. But new studies show that what men do in their lives plays a significant role in their earlier demise. Men could change the odds by considering these facts and make changes in their attitudes and lives.

Researchers at the University of Michigan's Institute for Social Research say men outrank women in all of the 15 leading causes of death except Alzheimer's disease.

Their death rates are twice as high for suicide, homicide, and cirrhosis of the liver.

More men than women smoke (26 percent compared with 22 percent). Men are more often heavy drinkers.

They are more likely to engage in behaviors that put their health at risk, such as driving without a seat belt.

They are more likely to drive rollover-prone SUVs, according to the National Highway Traffic Safety Administration. They suffer far more motorcycle fatalities, which are up sharply over the past five years.

Men are twice as likely to get hit by lightning or die in a flash flood, according to the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention. And they are more likely to drive around barricades and drown in high water.

Men visit their doctors half as often as women do and are less likely to schedule checkups when symptoms arise.

They are less likely to see a doctor for hypertension or heart disease, though these are more common in men.

Doctors at the Michigan Institute say men should take better care of themselves. You'll live longer if you do.

WARREN SCHOOL TEACHERS DURING WW-II

(by Dick Smith) CRSKRS@pacol.net

Does anyone remember all the teachers after they have been out of school a number of years? While we may remember a favorite teacher, or a sponsor, or maybe the Principal or basketball coach, none of us can remember all the teachers while we were there. So I knew I faced a real challenge in trying to reconstruct the teaching staffs as they existed during the War Years.

In my graduation year (1947), our Year Book included all the School Teachers and their areas of instruction. But after visiting the Warren Museum, I found that Year Books were apparently discontinued during the War Years. So I had to count on my memories and those of the "helpers" who gave me great input on the Businesses area. But it turns out that none of us could remember all of the teachers.

The population of the school was not found, but the staff remained pretty constant during the period from 1941/1942 to 1944/1945. In numbers, it ran from 18 in 1941/1942, 17 in 1942/1943, 15 in 1943/1944, and 15 in 1944/1945. Did our school population drop during the War? Our town and township population did take a drop as men went to war. Look at the effects of the War on the male/female teacher ratio below. We went from having 10 male teachers in 1941 to only 3 in 1944! During the War, the State discontinued its pre-War policy of no married teachers.

Following is the information I have been able to retrieve. If anyone sees an error on my list, please E-Mail me so it can be corrected in my Final Article.

1941/1942 School Year (10 men, 8 women)

Clifford Pribble, Principal; Harry Brown, unknown; Ada Louise Duckwall, Home Economics Teacher; Ford Fleck, Science Teacher; Ruskin Laymon, Business and Typing; Sarabelle Lehmann, unknown—no one remembers her; Joseph Marshall, Music and Band Director; Martha Miller, History Teacher; Miriam Redding, English Teacher; Austin Smith, Mathematics Teacher and Basketball Coach; Vera Strait, English and Latin; Earl Williams, Shop Teacher; Harry Coolman, Sixth Grade Teacher; Irpeel Hall, Fifth Grade Teacher; ouless (Pally) Wright, Fourth Grade Teacher; Olive Click, Third Grade Teacher; Mary Ellen Robertson, Second Grade Teacher; Ruth McCord, First Grade Teacher (forever and ever!)

A citizen in attendance was concerned about the new sewer line which had been run in front of his house because there is no tap and no place to hook up. He said the new line runs in front of his house and the former line ran in back of the house. Council advised there would be a meeting at 4 p.m. Wednesday with the Engineer. The club sincerely thanks the Markle Bank for sponsoring this very entertaining and enlightening presentation.

Kiwanis Lt. Governor of Wabash Valley briefly spoke after Jerry Boyer shared the many projects that the local club participates in during the year and Brady Smekens gave a few remarks about becoming a member of the club.

About 14 guests, some representing local businesses, attended and enjoyed the soup luncheon.

A brief business was held for members at the conclusion of the luncheon/program. Some members signed for working the Fall Buffet on November 2. This will be held at the Knight Bergman Center with serving from 11 until 2.

Those preparing the luncheon were Betty Yoder, Joan Boyer, Cheryl DeWeese, Joyce Sorg and Lou Ann Shafer.

CONFERENCE HELD

The Warren United Church of Christ were host to The Women of the Northeast Association of the Indiana-Kentucky Conference of the United Church of Christ on October 14, 2003. Registration began at 9:30 AM. with coffee and pastries being served in the church lounge until the 10:00 AM devotional and business meeting.

Eileen Dye presented the prelude, Roselyn Poulson welcomed the association members, and Yvonne Dick, president of the association gave the response. Devotions in keeping with our annual theme, "Diaspora: from Lament to Hope", was given by Rev. Charles Dye. The group joined in singing two inspirational hymns.

The business meeting was conducted by the president, Yvonne Dick, with the secretary's report, by Ruth Scribner, of Huntington's St. Peter's Church, and treasurer's report, by Doris Albertson, of Salem DCC, Ft Wayne, being reviewed and with a motion passed to accept them. Doris Albertson gave the proposed budget for 2003-2004, a motion was given to accept, and it was passed by the members.

Ruth Scribner, reviewed the proposed changes for the working rules and the changes were accepted by oral vote. An attendance report indicated that 11 churches in the association were represented with 58 members attending this meeting. Sandra Shuman, of the Ashley UCC, gave remarks on the Program Planning, and Peggy Wilson, of the Warren UCC, gave remarks on the Stewardship & Service.

Joyce Arnold, of the Decatur UCC, announced that the spring association meeting will be held at the Cross UCC, Berne, IN, Thurs. May 13, 2004. The usual day, Tuesday, for the meetings, needed to be changed to Thursday because of a previous commitment for the church.

Lou Ann Shafer, of the Warren UCC, read the names and presented bookmarks to the members completing the reading program for this year. 89 members are to be congratulated. All members, men, women, youth, and children are eligible for this program.

Jean Leakey, vice president and member of the Wabash UCC, presented an impressive memorial service for the association members who died since the last fall meeting. She unrolled a large painting of the clouds and added a star as each member's name was read by a member from their local church. Geri Waggoner sang "Beyond the Sunset" before and after the names were called. Jean closed the memorial service with a prayer.

Jean Leakey gave a report from the nominating committee and the slate was accepted. She also thanked the retiring officers for their work, and they were applauded by the members. Linda Bassett, of the Ashley St. John's church, installed the new officers and committee chairman, including the ones fulfilling the second year of their term. Those installed are: Yvonne Dick, President; Mrs. Jean Leakey, Vice President; Mrs. Ruth Scribner, Secretary; Mrs. Doris Albertson, Treasurer; Sandra Shuman, Program Planning; Mrs. Edna Wenger, Spiritual & Living Growth; Mrs. Peggy Wilson, Stewardship and Service; Mrs. Joyce Arnold, Placement; Mrs. Beulah Stephens, Mrs. Barbara Elliott, and Mrs. Jo Spade, Nominating.

There was a sharing of conference and area church news: from the Urbana Church; St. Peter's church, Huntington; Eben-ezer church, Ft. Wayne; Cross church, Berne; and conference news about the Mermom Conference Center for the Spring meeting, reports from those attending the Celebration of Women in Indianapolis, a meeting to be held at Peace Church, Ft. Wayne with a speaker from Sri Lanka; and a meeting at the Marion church with Rev. Stephen Gray, conference minister, speaking.

Eileen Dye gave the blessing for the dinner served in the Fellowship Hall. The members enjoyed a meal of chicken casserole, green beans, jello salad, buns, coffee, tea, or lemonade, with pumpkin squares for dessert.

The afternoon program was introduced by Doris Albertson, giving the preparation needed for the Indiana-Kentucky Mission Trip to Harlan County, Kentucky in June 2003. The project lasted 3 weeks, with different groups going 1 week at a time. Donna Conklin and Dave Lauer, both of the Salem Church, Ft. Wayne were part of the group working on the project in Harlan County. They told about part of the 42 projects that were completed in the 3 weeks, and were inspiring to encourage others to join the mission groups. Because of the mines closing around the Harlan County area, so many people are below poverty level. The conditions were worsened by the floods a year ago, the projects included building decks for the entrances to the homes, and replacing flooring, with damage being caused by water rushing down the hills and mountains underneath the homes. A survey was made after the trip, and the workers said they learned a lot, were appreciated, and the projects did as much for them as for the people they were helping. They would encourage men, women, and youth to participate in these mission trips. This year the ages ranged from 17 to 84. Some ladies, with the approximate age being 75, painted the outside of a little house with help from a younger person for some of the high places. An offering was received with the donations being designated for future Indiana-Kentucky Conference Work Camp supplies and equipment.

A song "Majesty" was sung while Rev. Charles Dye prepared the communion with all members participating in the communion feast. Yvonne Dick then dismissed the meeting.

Those attending the meeting were: Helen Tague, Dorothy Hoffman, Carol Girod, Salem UCC, Magley; Hazel Wilson and Virginia Bailey, Temple Congregational, Marion; Boo Stephens, Pauline Bracht, Fran Dickerson, and Evelyn Kratzab, Grace St. John's, Ft. Wayne; Gwen Dixon, Geri Waggoner, Betha Gackenheimer, and Jean Leakey, St. Matthews, Wabash; Yvonne Dick, Erin Dick, Kara Dick, Marva Neadstine, Martha Connelley, and

VB STORY TIME

The Children had a fun time at the Van Buren Public Library at Puzzle and Pop Day. The children signed in and received a Search-a-word Puzzle to do. They were able to help each other as they searched for names of different colors. Then they received a pattern to put together for a Paper Bag Mouse Puppet. As they were working on the puppets they received a can of pop to enjoy. The puppets were so cute when completed. We had different colored mice but the kids did a great job making their puppets.

There were several board puzzles and piece puzzles for the kids to enjoy. Everyone chose what puzzle they wanted to do and did it. We also made puzzles by cutting a picture out of a magazine and gluing it to a piece of construction paper. We then cut it into different shapes and sizes. These were puzzles they could take home and enjoy. Autumn Smith won a puzzle for a prize.

Those attending were Wesley Schuiteman, Nixon Smith, Autumn Smith, David Irwin, Brittany Jones, Hanna Boucher, Korisa Kitts, Kaley Kitts, Icily Baker, Delta Oswalt, Logan Wetherington and Hallie

TOOTH TIPS

By: Dr. Kevin J DeaKyne DDS, PC
A BROKEN TOOTH! WHAT SHOULD I DO?

Any number of actions could result in a broken tooth. Chewing on a hard object, like candy or a bone can break a tooth. A fall or fight may result in a tooth fracture. Teeth that are decayed can fracture without any warning. Sometimes a filling can act as a wedge and break a tooth. Also with an increase in oral piercing the incidence of tooth fracture is more prevalent.

The first thing to remember is to stay calm. Control any bleeding. Cover the broken tooth with wax or gauze. Don't apply hot or cold to the area. Switch to a soft diet and contact your dentist so that the right treatment can be determined. The treatment needed can consist of a filling, inlay, onlay, crown, root canal or extraction. If there is pain, swelling, or severe hot and cold sensitivity the dentist may prescribe an antibiotic for 5-7 days before continuing treatment.

The best way to reduce the risk of tooth fracture is good oral home care (brushing and flossing), and routine dental visits.

How To Make A Difference For Literacy

(NAPSI)-Helping many Americans turn over a new leaf when it comes to literacy is a program that collects thousands of new and nearly-new books.

Statistics show that children who are read to frequently are nearly twice as likely as others to show three or more skills associated with emerging literacy.

"Donating books and providing educational tips to families helps increase each child's opportunity for literacy development," says Dr. Elanna Yalow, President of Knowledge Learning Corporation (KLC). "It also teaches our students about the values of charity and selflessness."

Children, parents, teachers and others in over 1,500 locations participate in the annual book drive that benefits charitable organizations and libraries.

These tips suggest other ways parents can get involved and encourage good reading skills:

- Read Early. Experts suggest that parents share reading with their child beginning in the first weeks. Reading aloud and using interactive language are the most important activities to build a foundation of literacy.

- Read Often. Reading stimulates brain development in important ways, yet half of infants and toddlers are rarely read to. Experts suggest 20 minutes a day.

- Read Over And Over Again. Children learn something new every time they experience a book: new vocabulary, a different character, new meaning from the plot. It often takes at least four readings for a child to master the subject matter. Practice with the same book also increases fluency.

- Model Reading. Read the newspaper, the mail and recipes out loud so your child knows reading is a useful skill.

- Make Reading A Family Value. Put reading first-before TV and sports. Instead of a night out at the movies, have a family night in with a good book. Read a chapter a night before dinner. Visit the library often.

- Make Reading Fun. Make reading so enjoyable your child will want to read all life long. Make it a warm, shared experience that connects love and learning. Provide a cozy lap, a good book and your attention.

Children's World Learning Centers, Knowledge Beginnings, Medallion School Partnerships, Magic Years and Children's Discovery Centers are just a few of the members of the Knowledge Learning Corporation (KLC) family of schools. A leading provider of quality early care and before- and after-school programs, these schools bring more than 30 years of experience to meeting the needs of parents, children and corporations.

To participate in the program, drop off your new and gently-used children's books at any KLC location. You can find them and more information by logging on to www.knowledgelearning.com.

Let your child catch you reading.

MENTAL NOTES

by BJ Gray

Is depression a disease or state of mind? National Mental Health Association's latest national survey shows a big improvement in the public's understanding of clinical depression.

The survey found that in 1991 only 38 percent of people surveyed thought depression was an illness and not a state of mind and that a person can "snap out of it." In 2001 a majority of respondents (55 percent) agree that depression is an illness. This increased understanding of depression represents progress and perhaps for the first time in history, more people understand that depression is a treatable illness—not a choice. The survey addressed the need for progress on areas, especially educating the public who do not acknowledge that depression is a real illness. Have you ever heard someone deny that diabetes and heart disease are real?

Survey respondents overwhelmingly agree that treatment works, but report difficulties in maintaining a treatment plan, some just plain cannot afford counseling sessions and insurance usually pays very little for counseling services. Support groups may help between sessions, although not treatment sessions. Attending these groups may help you to discover that you are not the only one with depression and people sharing their experiences might help you to cope better.

There is such a support group which meets at Hope Missionary

AMERICANS MORE CONCERNED NOW ABOUT STRUCTURE FIRES

(NUI) - The horrifying images of the fire at a Rhode Island nightclub have heightened Americans' concerns about fire safety, according to the results of a new national survey.

A survey of 1,000 American adults, commissioned by the National Concrete Masonry Association, shows more than 61 percent of Americans say they are more worried about fire in public and commercial buildings because of what they've heard and read about recent fires.

"Recent fire tragedies have raised a very serious red flag about how well buildings are designed, constructed, operated and maintained to protect the lives of occupants," said Gene Corley, senior vice president of Construction Technology Laboratories and head of the team that analyzed the design implications, damage and mechanics of the collapse of the World Trade Center.

What do Americans believe can be done to make buildings safer? According to the survey, 85 percent believe that stricter building codes for public and commercial buildings would improve fire safety. Additionally, 47 percent identified building code and fire code officials as the people most responsible for making sure buildings are constructed to prevent fires and to help save lives when fire strikes. Owners ranked second at 26 percent, followed by designers and builders.

Americans also are willing to pay more for fire safety. Seventy-nine percent want safer, less combustible materials used in buildings, even if it means increased construction costs and higher prices passed on to consumers.

To provide the best protection and greatest opportunity for occupants to escape a fire, NCMA recommends that codes for buildings require a balanced design made up of three key elements: fire detection, fire suppression and fire containment.

Fire detection includes the installation of smoke detectors and fire alarms. Active fire suppression includes the use of sprinkler systems. Fire containment includes fire barriers, fire walls and exterior walls built of noncombustible fire resistant materials such as concrete masonry.

"Unfortunately, today's new model of building codes and fire codes has strayed significantly from the balanced design approach to fire safety," Corley said.

Noncombustible concrete masonry construction can reduce or eliminate the spread of fire and provide additional protection and time for occupants to exit and for fire and emergency medical personnel to conduct rescue operations, Corley said.

Corley encourages code officials across the nation to participate in making building codes more fire safe and recognize the importance of using noncombustible fire containment construction such as concrete masonry as a strong foundation for a balanced design approach to fire safe buildings.

Consumers can write to their congressman to express concern by e-mail to www.ncma.org/fire.

TIPS ON HOW TO START YOUR TO-DO LIST TODAY

(NUI) - "Someday, I will organize my closet."

"Tomorrow, I will start my diet."

"I'll wash the dishes later."

"I have plenty of time to study for that exam."

These are all words you might hear from a procrastinator. But putting off inevitable tasks is a behavior that wastes your time and your life, according to BestSteps.com, an online self-help resource. No matter how big or small your impending projects are, if you procrastinate, your life may not be as fulfilling as you'd ultimately like it to be.

If your life is full of things to do "someday" or "later," here are a few motivational tips to help you get them done, from the experts at BestSteps.com:

- * Take a moment to think about everything you are putting off. Then, assign a priority to each task. Within 15 minutes of doing this, take action on the top priority. Do something, no matter how small, to begin working toward your goal.

- * Divide large, intimidating projects into smaller, easier segments. Finishing these smaller tasks will give you the satisfaction and confidence to continue.

- * Start with something you enjoy. The first step is the hardest, so it should be something you find pleasant and easy to accomplish in 15 minutes or less.

- * Set small deadlines. Focus on a series of small, realistic goals for finishing parts of a project, instead of one final date for the entire project.

- * Start now. Don't wait until you think you will have a block of time to do the project in one sitting. Even if you only work on it for a few minutes, you will be that much closer to completion.

- * Reward yourself for each accomplishment. Having something to look forward to when you finish a chore is a great way to get things done.

- * Think about how relieved you will be when your task is completed. Use that thought as a motivator to keep moving forward with your project.

For more advice, subscribe to BestSteps.com, an online collection of mini-seminars containing practical advice about success, relationships, communication, health and more. The Web site contains a wide selection of motivational materials from leading self-help authors, with specific steps you can take to help achieve your personal and professional goals.

One fringe benefit for a teacher was a trip to Washington, D.C. as a sponsor with the Seniors. The Class of 1941 was the last class that went to Washington, D.C. before the War; the class of 1942 went to Gatlinburg, Tennessee!! Trips resumed in 1946, and the Class of 1947 went to Washington, D.C., New York City, and Niagara Falls. Now that's really a "fringe benefit" for a teacher!! However, a number of the female teachers who worked in our School District during the War Years went back to being wives and parents after their men started returning from the Services. That also happened in a lot of the Defense Industries as they opened-up jobs for their men returning to civilian life.
