KUDOS, KICKS & KARATS

THANKS!!

The Warren Sportsman’s Club would like to thank Modern Machines, Inc from Van Buren for the donation of our new pancake griddle. It was used during our last Pancake and Sausage Breakfast and it was great! The guys actually had time to talk with customers and not be glued to 5 little griddles making pancakes continuously. This new griddle sure does make a lot less work and it makes great pancakes.

Thanks again!

THANK YOU

Recently, I had a fire in my home in Warren. I would like to publicly say thank you to the Warren Volunteer Fire Department, the Markle Volunteer Fire Department and the Warren Police Department. The Fire Department and the police officer on duty that night were extremely quick in their response, and went above and beyond. Thanks to their quick response and the number of responders, although my home was damaged, my losses were minimal. Several volunteers stopped by the following day to check on me, while my family and I were there going through things. I also want to thank my neighbors and friends for their help and kindness during this difficult time. It is nice to live in a small town where people care about each other.

THANK YOU

Thank you Warren Area Community for attending the Pulse Opera House and bringing a food donation to the theater for the Bread of Life Food Pantry. And thank you to the staff at the Pulse Opera House for collecting food.

Your donation of food helped to the keep the Pantry shelves full so we can serve every family in need of a hand up! With the help of forty-five volunteers from six area churches the pantry served sixty-seven families (182 people) in the community during the month of September.

Thank You - Rose Broyles – Interim Director
Bread of Life Food Pantry

THE UPTOWN GARDENER
by Ruth Herring

The last of the garden has been put to rest for this year. I brought in what tomatoes was still on the vine and had quite a few.

My Ohio friend last spring gave me a start of a plant that grew at their Senior Center and was such a pretty pale pink with a yellow center. It was such a tiny thing that I forgot I had it and few days later I new I had to plant it and thought no way could it survive. I watered it and planted it in some compost and actually forgot about it. Sometime later I was cleaning out the bed and couldn’t program that provides a learning framework for participants to increase their knowledge on a wide variety of horticultural subjects. In turn, participants volunteer, representing Purdue University. As volunteers, participants grow by sharing knowledge while providing leadership and service in educational gardening activities within their communities.

Master Gardener Intern training will be held at the Huntington County Courthouse Annex on Monday and Thursday evenings from 6:00 p.m. to 9:00 p.m. starting January 10 and ending March 3. Participants will be exposed to a wide range of subjects including soil and plant science, diagnosis of plant problems, pesticide safety, and culture of vegetable, flower, landscape, and fruit plants. Materials and expenses for the series of classes cost $100 per participant.

While the class will be encouraged to create new educational outreach programs, there are already plenty of opportunities for which volunteers are needed. The Huntington County Master Gardeners are very active in the community. Examples of their efforts include the demonstration gardens at Salamonie Reservoir and the Forks of the Wabash. They have also held many public educational forums in 2010 on a variety of topics including constructing rain barrels and cooking from the garden. Additionally they have engaged youth in gardening activities at schools and other venues.

There are many other projects in which individuals can volunteer in the area. Some examples are providing gardening education at community events, teaching youth, and speaking to local clubs and organizations. Many more possibilities for volunteer service through Huntington County Master Gardeners exist for those willing to help teach others through their knowledge of taking the class.

If you'd like an application for the 2011 class or if you have questions about the program, contact Ed Farris, Agriculture and Natural Resource Educator, Purdue Extension – Huntington County Office, 354 N Jefferson – Suite 202, Huntington or call 260-358-4826. Note that class size may be limited depending on the number of applications that are received. The deadline for submitting applications is December 15th.

Full service license branches will be open on Monday, Nov. 1, from 8:30 a.m. to 8 p.m. and on Tuesday, Nov. 2, from 6 a.m. to 6 p.m.

To insure voters have immediate access to services, license branches will only process ID cards and driver's licenses and will not perform any other BMV services. Written test and driver tests will not be available.

The Indiana BMV provides free, state-issued ID cards for voting purposes to any unlicensed Hoosier, as long as he or she can provide proper documentation and is old enough to vote. The following documents are required to obtain a new state ID card or driver's license (a complete list can be found at www.mybmvin.gov.)

Waddell added, "The BMV has worked with the state Election Board to provide information to local election officials about the new interim driver's license and ID card documents issued by the BMV. We have also established a special Voter ID phone line on Election Day for election officials needing more information."

All license branches will resume regular business hours on Wednesday, Nov. 3.

HOW MUCH BETTER IS WORSE?

by V Neil Wyrick

Several years ago, a man 75 years of age was killed in an accident. His wife in her bereavement kept saying over and over again, "You know he was never sick a whole day in his life." However, when they performed an autopsy, they found he had hardening of the arteries, cirrhosis of the liver, a tubercular lung and a chronic kidney condition; any of which was so bad they could have killed him at a moments notice.

It is that magic word attitude again. It is the difference between the hypochondriac who feeds his fears while enjoying the meal and the person who says, "So I am a little sick...so I hurt a little...I'm walking aren't I?"

In 1915, Ty Cobb stole 96 bases. Seven years later, in 1922, Max Carey of the Pittsburgh Pirates stole 51. Was then Ty Cobb almost twice as good as Carey? No, he was just willing to go for it more often. Actually, Max Carey's percentage of stolen bases was much higher. However, Cobb had a go-for-it attitude while Carey had a play it safe attitude.

And the same was true of Babe Ruth. He hit 851 home runs during his magnificent career and was known as the Home Run King, but he struck out 1330 times. However, he didn't concentrate on his strike outs, only on his home runs. And so did his fans.

These athletes tried to learn from their failure. They did not back away from the challenges even if they offered more failure than successes. They lived with their eyes on the pluses rather than on the minuses.

Or, as Ben Franklin answered when asked why he came to the Constitutional Convention in Philadelphia when he could have stayed at home because of illness, "If I stayed at home I would just be sick and tired, so I decided to be sick and tired in Independence Hall."

One day in his 80th year, John Quincy Adams while walking down the street chanced upon an old acquaintance, "Good morning," said his friend, "And how are you this morning?"

Our sixth President replied, "John Quincy Adams himself is quite well, thank you. But the house in which he lives at present is becoming dilapidated. It is tottering upon its foundation and the seasons have nearly destroyed it. Its roof is pretty well worn out. Its walls are much shattered and it trembles with every wind. The old tenement is becoming almost uninhabitable and I think John Quincy Adams will have to move out of it soon. But he, himself is quite well, quite well, indeed."

In the storehouse of your mind, in the secret chambers of your heart, keep your soul alive and well.

Be like the violinist who, when his string broke in the middle of a concert, transposed and kept on playing. Be like James Whistler, the famous painter, who never meant to be a painter, but when he flunked out of West Point just switched gears. Be like Sir Walter Scott the great novelist who admitted the brilliant poetry of Lord Byron was better and simply seeking another goal became renown for the tales he wound.

Longfellow said it: “Not in the clamor of the crowded street,

Not in the shouts and plaudits of the throne

But in ourselves are triumph and defeat.”

The worse can be made better and the better can be made worse. It all depends on whether we concentrate on remembering all our times of suffering rather than our times of joy or pursue the bringing up time and time again all our failures rather than our triumphs. It is such a foolishness to concentrate on all the times we have been hated while forgetting all the times we have been loved.

It is easy to claim our pains, frustrations, irritations and heartaches are worse than those of anyone else. To find the worst and make it more so. To be a poor mathematician and never add up life’s blessings. We’ve all done it.

But it makes so much more sense and rids ourselves of nonsense if we take the crab apples of life and make jelly rather than each day just get more crabby. Some mine silver from the clouds in their lives and therefore daily grow richer. Some tarnish the silver with perpetual tears.

Yes, better can be made worse. Worse can be made better. It is always up to us.

THE SNAPSHOT OF PERFECTION

by The FlyLady, Marla Cilley When I made my last New Year’s Resolution to “Get Organized”, I figured out why I had never been successful at getting my life in order. It was because I was not nice to me. I was suffering from PPP syndrome. What is that you ask? Well it is not very pretty!

It is perfectionism that causes this PPP Syndrome! Most people think that perfect is something that everyone should strive for. In the pursuit of perfection, we over plan by making huge lists. These huge lists causes us to be mean to ourselves by “Piling On!”

Right now many of us envision the perfect holiday celebration with everyone dressed in their holiday finest, decorations hanging in all the right places and the most elegant dinner table! We have all seen the Norman Rockwell painting that is our vision of perfection. Well guess what! That painting was staged!

The snapshot of our lives does not have anyone sitting still to accomplish this. Pulling a beautiful holiday dinner together takes planning, precision and patience. If you throw perfectionism into the mix, you will find yourself feeling bad. You may even catch yourself saying unkind things instead of enjoying the process.

Why do we “Pile On”? It is because we want to be the best hostess, have the prettiest home; so everyone will know that we have it all together. Our list of things to do, keeps getting longer each time we think about this picture perfect holiday celebration. We tell ourselves, “If we do just one more thing it will make it even better.” When all our family wants is a quiet celebration without all the fuss.

Those three Ps consist of; Perfectionism, Piling On and Procrastination. When our list gets too long we put things off. We left out of our plan the actual implementation of each item on our list. This is why I want to give you the greatest gift this holiday season. This is a gift of eliminating PPP Syndrome from the holidays.

When you let go of just your perfectionism; piling on and procrastination go away. We have made it easy for you by giving you a FREE Holiday Control Journal. It asks the questions so you don’t have to think about them. With your brain free to plan and play with the process of getting ready for the holidays, you are going to be stress free. Things in your Holiday Control Journal are going to get done because you are not paralyzed by your perfectionism.

We break things down into babysteps, so you do not feel overwhelmed. Each day of the week has a theme and in six weeks we are ready to cruise through the holidays. Our goal is to be ready for the holidays by December 1st. Come join us as we cruise through the holidays. Jump in right where we are and remember to have fun!

This will be the least stressful holiday season you have ever had if you fight the urge to be perfect. Download our Free

Ask SHIP

Q: I want to change my Medicare Advantage plan. Can I do that now?

A: You have a chance to make changes to your Medicare Advantage or Medicare prescription drug coverage for the next year from November 15 to December 31. In addition, there is another disenrollment period for Medicare Advantage plans that allows you to return to Original Medicare and a stand-alone Part D drug plan. The only enrollment period available for 2011 Part D plans will be the AEP (Annual Enrollment Period). If you need to make changes to a Part D drug coverage plan or a Medicare Advantage plan that includes Part D drug coverage, you must do so November 15 - December 31.

Annual Enrollment Period (AEP) - November 15 - December 31

During this Open Enrollment, you can:

- Change from Original Medicare to a Medicare Advantage Plan.
- Change from a Medicare Advantage Plan back to Original Medicare.
- Switch from one Medicare Advantage Plan to another Medicare Advantage Plan.
- Switch from a Medicare Advantage Plan that doesn't offer drug coverage to another Medicare Advantage Plan that offers drug coverage.
- Switch from a Medicare Advantage Plan that offers drug coverage to another Medicare Advantage Plan that doesn't offer drug coverage.
- Join a Medicare Prescription Drug Plan.
- Switch from one Medicare Prescription Drug Plan to another Medicare Prescription Drug Plan.

- Drop your Medicare Prescription Drug coverage completely.

Beginning in 2011, there will no longer be an Open Enrollment Period for Medicare Advantage Plans (January 1 - March 31). This has been replaced by a Disenrollment Period.

Disenrollment for Medicare Advantage Plans only - January 1 - February 14

If you have a Medicare Advantage Plan, you will be able to switch back to Original Medicare and a stand-alone Part D drug plan. After that period members will be locked into their choice until December 31. Beneficiaries are not allowed to switch to another Medicare Advantage plan during the disenrollment period.

If you are in doubt about when or how to enroll in Medicare or make changes to your supplement plan, call SHIP for help at 1-800-452-4800, TTY 1-866-846-0139 or online at www.medicare.in.gov.

WAYS TO CONTROL ALLERGIES

(StatePoint) Many people battle allergies when the weather first warms. But the summer and fall seasons aren't exactly a symptom-free walk through the park, either!

Characterized by dry conditions and high humidity levels, these months can be just as troubling for allergy sufferers as the difficult spring season.

This year in particular is proving tough for many allergy sufferers. Itchy eyes, stuffed-up noses and profuse sneezing can detract from the fun of the warm-weather months.

But a few simple tactics can help keep your sinuses clear and your days pleasant:

Get Tested - By consulting an allergist or isolating the causes of specific symptoms, you can get started by knowing exactly which allergens cause which symptoms. Whether it's hay fever, food allergies, asthma or eczema, the right knowledge can set you on your way towards a relatively allergy-free existence. Only then can you get the proper shots and take the proper measurements to avoid allergy triggers.

Change Your Diet - Most people don't consider how the foods they eat can contribute to allergy symptoms. Foods rich in omega-3 fatty acids, like fish oil and walnut oil, fight allergies and are all-natural anti-inflammatories. Fiber also can help with allergies related to your gastrointestinal tract, while apples and other antioxidant-rich foods improve lung health. Foods with zinc, including yogurt, chicken, tofu and ham, also are shown to help with breathing.

Use an Air Purifier - A strong air purifier is a quick and easy way to effectively eliminate many of the airborne impurities that exist in everybody's home.

If you are an allergy sufferer, be sure to use one with multiple filters, such as Amway's Atmosphere Air Purifier, an Energy Star Qualified product which relies on a three-filter system to eliminate 99.99 percent of airborne contaminants that pass through it. "The Atmosphere Air Purifier was the first air purifier certified by the Asthma and Allergy Foundation of America and Allergy Standards LTD," says Andy Gamm, a Brand Manager at Amway. "It effectively filters a number of bacteria and viruses out of the air, and its technology even can monitor the air quality in a room, detecting the level of contaminants such as pollen, dust and smoke."

An air purifier with different settings also helps. "When you want to clear the air of cooking, pet odors, smoke or other contaminants quickly and efficiently, turn on Turbo Power. You'll be able to clear and clean the air in a 390-square-foot room in approximately 30 minutes," he points out.

For more information about air purifiers, visit www.amway.com and search for "air purifiers."

Be Vigilant - Before going outside, check the news to learn the pollen count and avoid the outdoors if the number is high. Peak pollen time is early in the morning from 5 a.m. to 10 a.m. When you come back, a shower can eliminate many outdoor contaminants.

Avoiding bothersome some allergies and breathing easier is about being vigilant both inside and outside your home and monitoring your own body.

believe how it had grown. By fall it was unbelievable the size of it. It finally started blooming this past week and it surely must have a hundred blooms or buds on it and seems to be hardy to cool weather. Will be anxious to see how it does next year. Picked some blooms and have been in the vase all week and still looking good. That is my kind of flower and is a tuff little plant to survive this past hot dry summer. It is definitely in the mum family.

I have been enjoying some quilting the past few days doing a quilt for our grandson. It has been fun doing hand quilting, machine quilting and some knotting. This one will be a bit different. When finished it will be at home in Texas. I am sure he will be surprised with it since it has a Nascar theme. The perfect theme for a bachelors pad.

When the fall work was finished at home often our thoughts turned to putting together a quilt to keep our supply of warm coverings for winter. Mom always used scraps from our dresses and her aprons. Often she attended house sales to look for dresses with full skirts to have that extra supply of fabric. It was amazing the color combination she could do with scraps. Many times some of the fabric finds went into blouses or skirts for us girls. Mom always knotted her quilts and usually we got to help with that. The finished product was always welcome to have on your bed on cold winter nights.

One of our favorite treats on those cool winter evenings was when she made a batch of popcorn balls. They were especially good to eat while they were warm. That was one of her special Halloween treats should anyone venture down our long spooky road to trick or treat.

Her recipe for the popcorn balls follows 1 cup molasses or corn syrup, 1 teaspoon butter, 1/4 cup water cook until forms soft ball stage stir in pinch of soda (or probably about 1/4 teaspoon) pour over 4 cups popped corn and mix together and when cool enough to handle form into balls. I think probably most of the time she doubled the recipe of which she made so many time I doubt she got out the old Farmers Guide cookbook for directions.

Enjoy and have a great time at the Fall Scarecrow Festival.
