DISC GOLF TO TOWER PARK

Warren's Tower Park will soon be home to a 9 hole disc golf course. You may ask, "What is disc golf?" Many people have never heard about it, seen it, or experienced it. While it is not a mainstream sport, it is considered one of America's fastest growing sports.

Disc Golf is played much like traditional golf. Instead of hitting a ball into a hole, you throw a more streamlined looking Frisbee disc into a supported metal basket. The goal is the same: to complete the course in the fewest number of shots.

Anyone can play disc golf: men and women, young and old, families with small children. Because it is so easy to understand and enjoy, no one is excluded.

The cost to play disc golf is ...

FREE! The only cost involved in playing is to provide your own equipment. Frisbees can be used, but discs are more desirable. Discs can be purchased from a variety of places and generally cost anywhere from $10-$20. Some courses (private/state park) require a small fee to play, but at Tower Park there will be no cost to play.

There are several benefits to having a disc golf course in the community. It is an inexpensive form of recreational activity which promotes physical exercise and families to spend time together. It will also utilize a part of Tower Park which does not get much use. In addition, only a minimal amount of tree trimming will be required. Finally, a course at Tower Park could bring many people from surrounding areas to play the course.

The course will not be installed into the ground until Spring 2014. But in order to share what will be happening, a temporary course will be set up for all to come and play.

The dates for the temporary course are November 23-24. On Saturday the 23rd, it will be available to play from 11am - 4pm. On Sunday, the 24th, it will be available from 1pm-5pm. The course will be set up with portable baskets and all tee areas will be marked.

Discs will be available to borrow if you do not have a Frisbee or you would like to try playing with a disc. They will also be available for purchase from the

THE FLOWER POT

The Flower Pot of Warren is excited to share our newest changes and happenings with our store! If you haven't been by, you should drive by and see the new front walk way and patio area. Our pretty building has gotten new siding and all new windows, and if we do say so ourselves... it looks amazing! The inside is coming along too, and we are so excited to get it all done and share it with everyone!

We are excited to announce we are now taking orders for your Winter Cemetery Tributes. Grave Blankets, Pillows, and Wreaths are available. To place an order call 375-2702 or email us at theflowerpotofwarren@hotmail.com

THE BEAT CLUB AT HP

The Beat Club is one of the most authentic Beatles-tribute acts in the nation. Their show will be performed November 16th at 2:00 in the Applegate Chapel at Heritage Pointe. This show has "Beatle" veterans, with ties ranging from double first-place honors at national Beatles-tribute band competitions to performances at the Smithsonian Institution in Washington D.C. The Beat Club has set the standard of what a professional Beatles show should be. These lads are delivering a spellbinding performance for many high-profile events across the country. From six to sixty The Beat Club is sure to please any audience and leave them humming sound of the best songs ever written. Join us November 16th at 2:00. Everyone welcome.

THE UPTOWN GARDENER by Ruth Herring

October has really flew by, but have really enjoyed the fall colors. To soon they will be gone for another year. One thing I sure don't miss is raking the leaves, it is nice having almost like your personal gardener here.

At home we had many large maple trees in the yard and we would rake them all to the small garden that was closer to the house and in the evening we would burn them and always smelled so good. Later we would put some wood on the fire and enjoy a hot dog roast and marshmallows. Usually mom fixed some soup to go with it either chili or vegetable soup. It was a fun time we always looked forward to, we would stay out late and watch for the stars to start appearing and dad would try to show us the different constellations in the sky. He was great on teaching us what he knew about nature and making it also a fun time. Now there is so many lights from cities and other sources it is hard to find a good place for star searching.

Fall was also the time we made use of anything left in the garden and was put away in jars for the winter months. It seemed we were in many ways glad to be relieved from the chores of gardening, but it was then time to make sure the barns were clean for the livestock and chicken houses in good shape. Dad was particular about how clean the out buildings were for winter. Even the out-house got a good scrubbing.

Many a day I would go with him to the woods to help cut up fire wood so we had a plentiful supply for winter. My job was to load the wood into the wagon as he cut it and have it all loaded to bring

DECEMBER DEADLINE

The deadline for the Fall Golf Discount for 2014 Memberships at Dogwood Glen is December 1st! Many membership options to choose from and all apparel is on sale too! Also, Dogwood Glen's facility is a great place to host your holiday banquet. Stop by the clubhouse or call 375-4750 for details.

FOOD DRIVE

The Sheets Wildlife Museum & Learning Center is stepping up to help less fortunate families. With the donation of canned goods, the museum is offering $1.00 off of admission for the holiday season.

Through this program, the Sheets Museum is providing the Love, Inc food pantry with donated canned goods to help supplement their food bank for Thanksgiving and Christmas.

For more information call the Sheets Wildlife & Learning Center at 260-356-9453.

FALL BAZAAR

Warren United Church of Christ is having their Annual Fall Bazaar, "Holiday's At Our House", Saturday, November 9th from 9:00am-2:00pm. A complimentary snack and hot beverage will be provided from 9-11am with lunch being served from 11am-1pm. Our Fellowship Hall is beautifully decorated and ready for all to attend! There is a Christmas Craft Room, Cinnamon & Spice Nook, Deli & Bakery, Notions and of course our delicious Homemade noodles. We welcome everyone to come and encourage you to bring your family and friends.

MEMORIAL BOWS

Continuing a long standing tradition, the Warren Area Chamber of Commerce will once again be selling memorial bows for the Town of Warren Christmas Tree located at Town Hall. The tree, this year donated by Blake and Michelle Woody, will feature the bows as the only decoration other than the lights. When purchased, the person(s) name or the name of the group being honored is written on each of the bows before being placed on the tree which will be lit as part of WinterWarrenland festivities on the Friday following Thanksgiving. The tree will feature white bows in honor of those deceased, red bows in honor of those living, and yellow bows for those who are serving now or did serve in the military. The bows, this year donated by Gebhart's Floral Barn, may be purchased at Town Hall or ordered through the mail at the cost of $2 each. Monies collected go the Warren Area Chamber of Commerce Christmas Lighting Fund and are used to support the Town's Christmas Lighting displays. Please remit orders through the mail to Town of Warren, PO Box 477, Warren, IN 46792 and make checks payable to the Warren Area Chamber of Commerce.

ALZHEIMER'S LEGAL PLANNING

"Legal and Financial Planning for Alzheimer's Disease," a free program on care options and legal and financial issues related to Alzheimer's disease, will be held Wednesday, Nov. 6, from 5 to 6:30 p.m. Presented by attorney Keith Huffman, the program will be held at the Bluffton Regional Medical Center, located at 303 South Main Street. The session, which is free to the public, requires registration by contacting the Alzheimer's Association at 800.272.3900.

A diagnosis of Alzheimer's can change plans families have for the future. This program will cover important legal and financial information to consider as the disease progresses and plans are made.

Today, more than 5 million Americans have Alzheimer's disease, including 120,000 Hoosiers. Alzheimer's disease is the nation's sixth leading cause of death. The direct and indirect costs of Alzheimer's disease and other dementia amount to more than $200 billion annually.

About the Alzheimer's Association:

The Alzheimer's Association is the world's leading voluntary health organization in Alzheimer's research, care and support. Our mission is to eliminate Alzheimer's disease through the advancement of research; to provide and enhance care and support for all affected; and to reduce the risk of dementia through the promotion of brain health. Our vision is a world without Alzheimer's. Visit alz.org/indiana or call 800.272.3900.

AG BREAKFAST

Chris Hurt, an Agricultural Economist from the Purdue campus, will be the featured speaker at a breakfast to be held at the Huntington University Dining Commons at 7:30 a.m. on Thursday November 21. The program is free to the public and is designed to help farmers, land owners, input suppliers, and those interested in agriculture make better business decisions in the coming year.

Bippus State Bank is sponsoring this event. Breakfast will be provided at no charge to those who pre-register in advance of the meeting. Please RSVP by November 15 to Erin Carter at Bippus State Bank by calling 260-356-8900.

Indiana agriculture has returned to abundant production after the 2012 drought. Yield prospects for the state are among the best in the country and this means the grain handling and processing industries have returned to full capacity. Prospects remain hopeful for record total Indiana production of corn and record high soybean yields.

Much better production means lower grain and soybean prices. Prices will have to fall to levels that will encourage end users to increase the amount they buy. The level of prices needed to do that will be a feature of the program. Strategies for marketing this year's crops will also be covered and are different for corn and soybeans.

Farmers and agribusiness managers need to be thinking about what to plant in 2014. Purdue has developed estimates of costs for 2014 crops and the expected returns for each crop. There are some surprises! For 2014, markets are asking farmers to cut back on corn acreage.

Livestock producers' income prospects have turned up sharply with lower feed costs. The animal sector is already in expansion. How big will that expansion be and what species are gearing up the most?

One of the most important questions for 2014 is, "What will happen to land values and cash rents?" Will higher yields this fall offset lower prices and provide more farm income, or less? The level of income this year can be an influence on land values and cash rents for 2014, but expected returns for 2014 crop production and interest rates may be more important.

Land values will also be affected by the longer-term outlook. For this reason, expected returns over the next 3 years will also be provided. Government policy could also impact the overall support for the agricultural sector. After discussing the Farm Bill for well over a year, Congress is expected to finally pass the new bill in coming months. The outlook program will cover some of the likely provisions.

HOLIDAY HOURS

R. Scott Waddell, Commissioner of the Indiana Bureau of Motor Vehicles (BMV), announced today that all BMV license branches will be closed Saturday, November 9 through Monday, November 11 in observance of the Veterans Day holiday.

Most all license branches will resume normal business hours on Tuesday, November 12.

MENTOR TRAINING

More than 100,000 Indiana students participate in the 21st Century Scholars program, but while these students graduate high school and attend college at a higher rate than Hoosiers overall, just slightly more than one in 10 students in the program graduate from college on time according to a study by the Indiana Commission for Higher Education (ICHE).

Mentors play a crucial role in supporting 21st Century Scholars as they enter and continue postsecondary education. College can be a time of great opportunity for a scholar, but it can also be a time of extraordinary risk. While slightly more than one in 10 Scholars graduate from college on time, data from ICHE also show only three in 10 earn a degree at all.

In an effort to help those who mentor students in the 21st Century Scholars Program better equip scholars for postsecondary success, the Indiana Youth Institute (IYI) and Big Brothers Big Sisters of Northeast Indiana is hosting a free workshop titled "Strengthening the Transition and Persistence of 21st Century Scholars in Postsecondary Environments." The workshop will explore how to help scholars with study skills, time management, adjusting to campus life, financial literacy and accessing campus resources.

This interactive training will show how mentors can best support scholars as they transition to college. This training is designed for mentors whose scholars are high school seniors or already enrolled in college. Participants will leave the training ready to help their scholars navigate the changing world of postsecondary education and know more about requirements necessary to obtain and maintain the 21st Century Scholars Scholarship.

The training will run from 10:00 a.m. to 1:00 p.m. on Saturday, Nov. 16, at Big Brothers Big Sisters of Northeast Indiana in the CSM Room on the second floor, 1005 W. Rudsill Blvd., Fort Wayne, 46807. Parking is free and plentiful.

The workshop is free, but reservations are required by noon on Wednesday, Nov. 13. To RSVP, contact Carla Boggs via email at Carla.boggs@bbbsnei.org or via phone at (260) 456-1600 ext. 2282.

This training has been generously supported by USA Funds.

The Indiana Youth Institute promotes the healthy development of Indiana children and youth by serving the people, institutions, and communities that impact their well-being.

For more information on this mentor training, contact IYI Indiana Mentoring Partnership Program Manager Tim Clark via email at tclark@iyi.org or via phone at 866-876-6904.

DEER ATTRACTANTS

The Department of Natural Resources is reminding Indiana hunters that even though deer attractants found at retail stores can be purchased and used in the wild, hunting near them is illegal. They are considered bait.

Indiana regulations prohibit the hunting of deer with the use or aid of bait, which is defined as "a food that is transported and placed for consumption, including, but not limited to, piles of corn and apples placed in the field; a prepared solid or liquid that is manufactured and intended for consumption by livestock or wild deer, including, but not limited to, commercial baits and food supplements; salt; or mineral supplements."

This includes artificial products marketed under names such as Deer Co-Cain, Buck Jam, Trophy Rock, as well as mineral blocks, salt blocks, and even natural foods such as corn and apples.

"Basically, if you place anything that isn't grown in the area and hunt there, it's illegal," said Lt. Larry Morrison, outdoor education director for DNR Law Enforcement. "Hunting next to a corn field or from an apple tree is legal, but placing corn or apples under your tree stand would put you in conflict with current Indiana law."

An area is considered baited for 10 days after the product and the affected soil is removed from an area.

Odor differs from bait. Cover scents or scent attractants are legal to use when hunting.

Archery season currently is underway in Indiana and continues through Jan. 5, 2014. The urban zone segment in designated areas continues through Jan. 31, 2014.

The most popular segment of Indiana's deer hunting season – firearms – begins Nov. 16 and ends Dec. 1, followed by the muzzleloader season (Dec. 7-22) and the special antlerless season (Dec. 26-Jan. 5, 2014).

A violation of Indiana's no baiting regulation is a Class C misdemeanor.

BRANDON

James Ware Brandon, Born March 23, 1947 in Hartford City, IN, died October 29, 2013.

Member of the Nottawa community for 43 years and owner of Nottawa Gas Company. Jim had a ticker that counted the number of smiles he could create in a day. No prank was over the line and he was no one's fool. He was generous with conversation and spoke with anyone who would listen, always with a cup of coffee in hand. He loved his community of Nottawa and made a difference in lives of many people, often offering help without question. He enjoyed telling tall tales, grilling, fireworks, traveling to exotic locations, listening to audio-books, gardening, bird-watching, fiddling with new gadgets, roller coasters, spoiling his grandchildren and of course his loyal Newfoundland dogs. He grew up in Warren, IN and graduated Salamonie High School in 1965. He served Indiana Air National Guard from 1966 to 1972 and was stationed in Biloxi, MS for a time. He moved to Nottawa, MI in 1971 and raised three children with his wife Sheron (Tappy). He was a continuous member of the Nottawa School Board for over 30 years and owned Nottawa Gas Company. Later divorcing, he reconnected with childhood friend Ann (Peel) and they were married in 1994. Together they traveled the world and enjoyed their short time together before her passing in 2008.

Preceded in death by his parents George and Mary (Lightner) Brandon and his wife Ann Brandon.

Survived by his brothers George Edward (and wife Carol) Brandon of Grayslake, IL; Paul (and wife Janet) Brandon of Monticello, IL; daughter, Angela Brandon of Nottawa MI, son Timothy and his wife Michelle (Franklin) Brandon, of Longmont CO; son Adam and his wife Kathleen (McCluskey) Brandon, of Sturgis

MI; daughter Kristin (Peel) McCarver of Portage MI; daughter Megan (Peel) Eichorn and her husband, Darrin Eichorn, of Goshen IN; daughter Kendra (Peel) Collat and her husband, Chris Collat, of Herndon VA; He leaves 11 adoring grandchildren, three nieces, two nephews, and Teddy the Newfie.

A public memorial and open house will be held on Saturday, November 2nd from 12:00 to 4:00 at Nottawa Community School. In lieu of flowers, please donate to one of the following: The Student Conservation Association www.thesca.org, or Nottawa Community School.

FALL ALLERGIES OR FALLING

PREY TO CHRONIC ASTHMA OR COPD?

(BPT) - Twenty-two million Americans, many of whom are children, suffer from the frightening acute attacks and long-term disabilities of chronic asthma. Millions more adults face the increasing burdens and life-altering effects of chronic obstructive pulmonary disease (COPD), which includes both emphysema and chronic bronchitis. Managing these conditions effectively means truly understanding when and how to use the necessary medications.

"The numbers are staggering; more than half a million patients undergo hospitalizations each year from poorly controlled asthma alone," says Don Smart, a specialist pharmacist in the Express Scripts Pulmonary Therapeutic Resource Center (TRC). "For chronic asthma alone, regular use of the right medications could help reduce the rate of hospitalizations by 43 percent; 56 percent for COPD."

Asthma and COPD are two distinct breathing conditions. Asthma typically develops during childhood. Symptoms like coughing and wheezing are due to inflammation and swelling of the airways, making breathing very difficult. Asthma medications play an important role in keeping symptoms under control. Long-term medications keep asthma under control when used on a day-to-day basis, while short-term medications act as "quick-relief" options that treat symptoms once they start.

COPD traditionally is a disease impacting adults and is often a result of smoking. Tobacco smoke irritates the airways and eventually makes breathing a challenge. This leads to chronic coughing and shortness of breath. While COPD gets progressively worse, especially with continued smoking, asthma rarely results in progressive decline in lung function if treated properly.

"Being aware of what may bring on an asthma attack is half the battle," says Smart. "A person's work environment (occupational asthma), allergens in their environment, exercise or infections could all prompt coughing, wheezing, shortness of breath and chest tightness."

As a specialist pharmacist, Smart works with patients with pulmonary illnesses to provide one-on-one counseling, often clearing up the confusion between chronic asthma and COPD. For patients with either asthma or COPD, effective disease management is essential. Smart offers some tips that will help patients improve lung function and reduce the severity of their condition while helping them stay active.

* Do it right: Proper inhaler technique is important to get the most out of the treatment. Make sure that your doctor or pharmacist explain how to use it correctly. It's also a good idea to rinse your mouth out after using inhaled corticosteroids (ICS) to avoid an oral infection.

* Use the right amount, every time: Like any medication, always use as directed. Adherence to inhaled corticosteroids (ICS) and long-acting bronchodilators is important for controlling asthma and slowing down the progression of COPD. Make sure not to overuse quick-relief medications, known as short-acting beta agonists (SABA), which can lead to an increased heart rate and nervousness.

* Monitor your symptoms: Recognize the intensity and frequency of your asthma symptoms. Asking some simple questions may help determine how well you are managing your condition. Here are some questions from the asthma treatment guidelines that may help: Does my asthma wake me up at night? Have I started reaching for my rescue inhaler more than three times per week? Does my asthma limit me in my normal daily activities and routines?

* Have a plan: Develop a written asthma action plan with your physician. Outlining your treatment goals will help prevent disease progression (in COPD); improve your tolerance for exercise; and minimize complications, exacerbations, and adverse effects of treatment.

KIDS HEALTH

Keeping your kids healthy is one of your top priorities as a parent, but it's not always an easy task. Between staying on top of their normal checkups and trying to get them to wash their hands before dinner, there are a lot of things that could slip through the cracks. Use these tips from USA.gov to make managing your kids' health a little easier.

Stay up-to-date with your children's immunizations and developmental milestones with an easy tracking chart you can download for free from Publications.USA.gov. It reminds you of all the necessary immunizations from infancy through age six. It also highlights developmental milestones—like recognizing a caregiver's voice and learning to talk—that you can monitor as your children grow up.

If you're struggling to pay for health insurance for your kids, they may be eligible for the Children's Health Insurance Program (CHIP). CHIP offers free or low-cost medical coverage for kids up to 19 years old. Coverage for eligible children includes checkups, hospital visits, dental coverage, immunizations and more. Find out if they're eligible at InsureKidsNow.gov/chip.

Sometimes your kids don't want to listen to mom or dad, but you want them to get information from a trusted source. Point them to the health resources on Kids.gov, where they can learn about everything from keeping their eyes safe to understanding germs and where they can play fun games that drive home the importance of brushing their teeth or getting their shots.

KEEPING HEALTHY

As fall becomes winter, not only do the warm coats and scarves come out, but common illnesses such as colds and the flu join us too. While you can't always avoid getting the flu, there is plenty you can do now to help you and your family prevent the pesky sickness. USA.gov rounded up these helpful resources for you from the government so you don't have to go digging for reliable information to keep your family healthy:

- The Food and Drug Administration (FDA) offers tips on the differences between a cold and flu, how you can prevent both, what to do if you're already sick, and advice on over-the-counter medicines. You can get it all online or even order a hard copy publication sent to your house.
- It's easy to follow the top link when you do an online search, but remember that not all sources are trusted ones. Flu.gov is the official government website where you can enter your zip code to find out where you can get a flu shot, get advice for who is most at risk, and learn how you can help care for loved ones who get the flu.

- Like your information on the go? The Centers for Disease Control and Prevention (CDC) has an app for you. With the "CDC Influenza" app, you can find national flu activity information, as well as vaccine recommendations and videos on how to protect your family.

- Even though it's been a few years since the H1N1 pandemic flu was national news, it is another strand of the flu to always be mindful of.

The 2013-2014 flu shots cover this strain of the flu, plus others. Learn more about this year's flu season and shots from the CDC.

to the house and stack it. It was often a long and tiring day but I always liked being out with my dad no matter what the chore was. We would come to the house knowing a good hot meal would be waiting for us and at bed time the ole bed felt mighty good

All of us kids were 6 years apart so it seemed that we each had our time for the chores. When I was the age to really help dad my sister was out of school and heading toward college and my brother was too small to be any help, lucky him, and who really needed a little kid under your feet.

It is getting close to time to get out the cookbooks to think about holiday cooking, mom wasn't real great on new recipes but what she prepared was always done expertly and looked forward to it. She always made sure there was an extra fat hen in the chicken house ready for its heavenly reward. There was never no turkey at our festive table, but she made that old fat hen look really good at our table.

I have had a few request for the white divinity fudge she always made sometimes for Thanksgiving and always a must for Christmas.

Make 2 cups sugar, 1/3 cup water, 1/2 cup white corn syrup, 2 egg whites, teaspoon vanilla. Combine sugar, water and corn syrup, bring to boil stirring constantly, reduce heat and cook to hard boil stage, let cool slightly and pour over egg whites very slowly that have been beaten very stiff continue beating. Continue beating till it becomes stiff and form shape. Add nuts and either drop by spoonful onto wax paper or pour into a lined pan and let cool and cut in squares.
