SCARECROW FESTIVAL

Are You Ready?

To have fun this Friday, October 28, at Warren's Scarecrow Festival!

When the Goblins are about...

Lots of fun with Trick or Treating...

When the Merchants all turn out!

You will hardly even know them...

They will gladly dress up too...

Scarecrows will be everywhere...

The real ones will say BOO!!!

At 6:00 pm all children & adults are invited to masquerade in family-friendly costumes. The Costume Parade starts at 3rd & Wayne Street. Come join in on the festivities, Chili Cook-Off, and Halloweenies on Wayne Street from 6-8pm. Don't forget your treat bags and spare money for fun and refreshments! The Warren Area Chamber of Commerce sponsors the Scarecrow Festival and encourages local businesses & organizations to participate! Please provide a family-friendly booth, organize a free game or activity and have treats ready for the trick or treaters!

Scarecrows will be judged Thursday morning! Chili Cook-Off Entry forms are due by the 26th. Entry forms are available at Local banks and area businesses and the Warren City Building. More festivities are happening on Saturday, October 29, see the brochures for more details!

No entry fees! If monstrous rains, events will be at Knight Bergman Civic Center. Please call Marcy for your booth location or if you have questions at 375-2656. BOO!!!

NEW YOUTH MINISTER

Liberty Center UMC, 2905 S. Main Street, Liberty Center, IN 260.694.6405 is thrilled to announce a new youth minister: Triston Niblick (left front above). Triston is studying education to become a teacher, currently at Ivy Tech. He is a 2015 graduate of Southern Wells High School and lives in Bluffton, Indiana. Triston is already an active part of the congregation – having shared his life changing encounter with Jesus Christ last Easter during worship.

Triston Niblick just finished coaching the Southern Wells 7th & 8thgrade football teams this season. He previously coached 5th & 6thgrade football and coached baseball. His responsibilities include teaching youth Sunday school on Sunday mornings, leading the youth group which usually meets from 6 to 8 PM on Sunday evenings at the church, planning youth events and living by example the Christian faith.

Rev. Josh Johnson, pastor of Liberty Center UMC, new himself as of August 1st writes, "The church congregation is as excited as I am about having Triston as our youth minister. When I came to the church, I heard from a number of people the change in Triston's life as he came to active faith in Jesus. My children go to Southern Wells and I went to some of the games Triston coached. I was incredibly impressed. Many coaches only thought appears to be winning, often at any cost – it was obvious, Triston's primary heart was the good and character of the kids. My personal life mission is to "Reach, love and serve the Least, Last & Lost for Jesus"—it is obvious Triston lives that same mission. I am thrilled to have my own 8thgrade daughter as part of the youth group and seeing God can use young adults. I look forward to seeing what God does through Triston and his team through youth ministry."

The first large scale youth event under Triston's leadership will be an overnighter on Saturday, November 5th beginning at 8 PM. There is no cost and it is open to those from any or no church.

FIREWORKS BENEFIT

The weather is going to be great! Come out on October 29th from 5-8 pm at 125 South Nancy Street downtown Warren for the benefit dinner and help us double the fireworks for the Salamonie Summer Festival's 50th Anniversary! All proceeds go towards additional fireworks! Come enjoy hickory grilled chicken, live country music, bonfire, smore's, silent auction, and a bake sale! Bring a lawn chair and stay awhile or get your meal to go because there will be carryout available! Come support a great cause!

RECOGNIZING TEEN DEPRESSION AS A SERIOUS PROBLEM

from the American Counseling Association

Virtually every teenager is going to be unhappy at times. It's a period in life when there are all kinds of pressures and changes every teen faces. Add in hormone havoc and it's easy to understand all those of mood swings your teen displays.

But depression is different than just passing periods of stress and sadness. Depression is a very real mental health issue that can produce serious effects and is usually a factor in teen suicides. It's a more common problem than many parents realize, with studies indicating about one out of eight adolescents is suffering from teen depression.

So how do you tell the difference between normal teen unhappiness and a real problem of depression? A starting point is to ask how long you are seeing an unhappy teen. While many things can make the average teen unhappy (relationship issues, school performance, social status with peers), these are usually transitory and forgotten about in days.

But when your teenager's unhappiness lasts for two weeks or more, in combination with other symptoms of depression, there may be a serious problem which needs the help of a health professional.

Symptoms of depression aren't always easy to spot. Most teens tend to be stressed, private and not eager to communicate their feelings, and especially their problems, to their parents.

But when a teen is facing a serious form of depression it will begin to interfere with the teen's ability to function normally.

You may notice previously good grades suddenly slipping, or see a dramatic change in the child's attitude. There may be a loss of interest in previously enjoyed activities, a major change in friends, or a withdrawing from relationships and becoming uncommunicative.

Don't ignore warning signs. Be more involved with your teen. Ask questions -- about school, friends, and current activities. Your child may resent the intrusion, but you need to show you care, are concerned and want to help.

If you suspect problems, talk to adults who know your teen, including teachers, school counselors and sports coaches. If they have also noticed potential problems, seek help. Your school counselor, family physician or local mental health organization can usually offer suggestions for professional counselors specializing in teen issues.

Teen depression is not just a "phase" that will be outgrown. Ignoring it can leave your teen's life hanging in the balance.

EXTENSION TO HOLD ANNUAL MEETING

Huntington County Extension will hold its Annual Meeting on Monday, November 14, 2016. The meeting will be held in Heritage Hall at the Huntington County Fair Grounds, 631 E Taylor Street. Taco Bar will be served at 6:30pm.

A short business meeting will be first on the docket for the annual assembly. The agenda will highlight successes from 2016. Success stories will be shared by Purdue Extension staff followed by a guest speaker.

Peter Goldsbrough, Purdue Extension Professor, School of Agriculture – Botany & Plant Pathology Dept., will be the guest speaker. Peter is a plant molecular geneticist and physiologist who has been on the faculty at Purdue for more than 30 years. He is interested in helping the agricultural community and the public understand the facts about genetically modified (GM) crops. The goal is to demystify this controversial topic and provide a balanced perspective. Peter will help answer frequently asked questions about GM crops such as: What impact have GM crops had on pesticide use? How does use of GM crops affect the environment? Why are some people opposed to GM crop technology?

The Extension Board invites all citizens of Huntington County to the meeting, including other organizations, individuals and families. The Huntington County Extension Service is committed to providing our youth and adults with the education and life skills necessary to build more responsible and caring citizens within the greater community.

HOLIDAY WALK

As the hustle and bustle of the holiday season approaches let the lights, sounds, and smells of the holiday season adorn our small town as we ask you to mark your calendars for the fifth annual Festival of Trees and Holiday Walk in downtown Warren.

This year's event will be held on Friday November 18th from 5-8pm. The Historic Warren Board is delighted to host this event, please show your love and support for our 'small town with a big heart' by decorating a tree and shopping locally in Warren this holiday season.

Historic Warren would like to invite you, family, friends, organizations and businesses to join in the festivities by decorating a tree to be displayed throughout Warren. Your tree will be assigned a location within a business downtown or you may choose to decorate an existing outdoor evergreen available in the downtown area!

Winners will be chosen from three categories: adult organization/business, youth organization and individual/family. Each winner will receive Chamber Bucks to enjoy locally in Warren area businesses, just in time for the holiday season! Participating businesses will open their doors to those in attendance, be sure to partake in their holiday treats and shopping incentives on this evening. Businesses please keep an eye out for information on how to participate in this year's event. Entry forms may also be picked up in local businesses within Warren—IAB Bank, East of Chicago, Warren Town Hall, and Harvest Moon Scents & Primitives.

Deadline to sign up for this event will be November 4th at 4pm. If you have any questions please contact Claudia @ 375.4552 or email historicwarrenindiana@gmail.com. At the conclusion of the Holiday Walk & Festival of Trees, The Pulse Opera House will be debuting opening night of Alice in Wonderland, Jr at 8pm. Reserve your tickets now by going to www.pulseoperahouse.org or calling (260) 375-7017.

may be delivered to the utility garage at 316 W. Second. This service is for Town of Warren residents only.

Trash collection for Thanksgiving Week has been rescheduled for Wednesday, November 23rd, day before Thanksgiving, due to the Huntington Landfill being closed on Thursday and Friday of that week. Trash can be placed at the curb after 5:00 PM the night prior.

Leaf pick-up is underway and will continue for several weeks until most leaves have fallen. Please rake leaves to the curb but DO NOT place leaves in the street. Normal pick-up will be on Mondays and Fridays but will be done additional days as necessary. Do not place in containers as a Street Vacuum is used. Leaves may also be deposited at the mulch pile at the Utility Garages at 314 W. Second Street but must not be in bags or containers.

Once again, the Warren Area Chamber of Commerce will be sponsoring placement of bows on the Town's Christmas Tree. At the cost of $2 each, the bows are placed in memory of loved ones, deceased or living, and are as follows: White in memory of those deceased, red in memory of those living, and yellow in recognition of service members. The name of the person being honored is written on the bow before placement on the tree with the bows serving as the only decoration other than the lights. Bows may be purchased through the mail by sending check made out to Warren Area Chamber of Commerce and mailed to Town of Warren, PO Box 477, 46792 or in person at Town Hall at 132 N. Wayne or at Gebhart's Floral Barn, 2593 E 1000S. Gebhart's will be providing the bows. The Christmas tree, donated by Deb Stroud, will be lit on Friday, November 25th at 6:00 but bows may be purchased from now until Christmas week. All of the proceeds go toward Chamber's support of the Town's purchase and upkeep of Christmas lighting. This year Warren Area Chamber donated $3,013 from that fund toward the replacement cost of the snowflake lighting in the downtown.

November 18th – Sponsored by Historic Warren, the annual Walk of Trees will be held in the downtown from 5-8:30 PM. With Christmas Lights on and music playing, local merchants and groups will present versions of Christmas Trees. Warm drinks and perhaps a cookie or two will help complete the evening on your stroll. And, or stop in at Assembly Hall, 131 N. Wayne when finished and sit with friends while having some cider or hot chocolate and some sweets.

November 25th – A fire truck will deliver Santa to the location of the Christmas Tree at Town Hall, 132 N. Wayne St. at 6:00 pm. After meeting and greeting everyone, Santa will oversee the lighting of the Town's tree using a bit of magic. Santa will then lead the procession to the Knight Bergman Center where he will meet with children individually to review their Christmas lists. Warm drinks and cookies will be the fare in the warm confines of the Center.

As always, watch the Warren Weekly and Cable Channel 8 for more complete details and for news of other events coming up in the next months.

Town Hall Closings - Election Day Nov. 8th, Veteran's Day 11th, Thanksgiving Holiday 24th & 25th.

access and achieve their higher education goals.”

Students interested in applying for WGU Indiana can do so online at <http://indiana.wgu.edu>.

Prospective students are encouraged to use the code INWGU2016 through December 31, 2016 to apply for free, a $65 value.

WGU Indiana recently had its largest commencement ceremony to-date with more than 1,200 students have graduating. Since the non-profit university launched in Indiana in 2010, more than 3,900 graduates have obtained undergraduate and graduate degrees, helping to address the state’s workforce needs in business, IT, health care and education.

About WGU Indiana - Established in 2010, WGU Indiana is the state’s nonprofit, online university. Using a competency-based model that allows students to accelerate at their own pace and curriculum developed with input from leading employers, WGU Indiana offers more than 50 undergraduate and graduate degree programs in Business, Education, Information Technology and Healthcare Professions, including Nursing. WGU Indiana has awarded 3,700 degrees and has more than 4,700 students currently enrolled. In 2012, the Indiana Commission for Higher Education recognized WGU Indiana and its Reaching Higher, Achieving More agenda for its excellence in academic quality. The university was also recognized as one of Fast Company’s 50 Most Innovative Companies of 2013. In 2014, WGU’s secondary teacher preparation program ranked first among 2,400 schools for quality by the National Council on Teacher Quality (NCTQ). According to a study conducted by Gallup in 2016, WGU graduates are more likely than those from other U.S. universities to have the jobs they want, feel engaged at work, and have an emotional attachment to their alma maters.

EARLY CHILDHOOD IMPACT
The first few years of childhood are critical to a young person’s entire life. The experiences children have in those early years set them on a trajectory that can lead to successes or set them up to face extra challenges. Science and research show how important early interaction is for children. It affects them physically, mentally, socially and academically.

That’s why the Indiana Youth Institute (IYI) and Family

Service Society, Inc. are hosting a special community event for parents, teachers, community leaders, youth workers and other caring adults to learn more about the important role those early childhood years play in lives of Hoosier children.

The event will feature a free movie screening and panel discussion. It will run from 3 to 5 p.m. on Thursday, November 10 at the Globe Theater at Indiana Wesleyan University, 4201 South Washington Street in Marion.

Attendees will see the first installment in the five-part series “The Raising of America: Early Childhood and the Future of Our Nation.” This documentary will explore the issue of why so many children in America are faring poorly, what the consequences are for the nation and how to make improvements and set children on a better path.

Following the film, attendees will participate in a panel discussion led by Alicia Hazelwood, executive director of the United Way of Grant County. The panel will include:

- Kresha Warnock, the president of the Indiana

Association for the Education of Young Children and instructor at Ball State University’s department of family and consumer services,

- Liz Strong, a teacher at Westview Elementary School in the Mississinewa Community School Corporation, and

- Amanda Lopez, the president of Transform Consulting Group.

The panel will discuss how to reframe the way we look at early child health and development, as well as how each community can make a difference for its children.

As part of IYI’s Youth Worker Café program, the event and snacks are free, but reservations are required. RSVP at www.iyi.org/ywc. If you have trouble with the link, please contact IYI Statewide Outreach Manager Debbie Jones at djones@iyi.org.

Youth Worker Cafés are designed to bring together local youth workers to build relationships and inspire collaborations that will benefit children. For more information on the Youth Worker Café, contact IYI East Central Indiana Outreach Manager Alison Palmer at apalmer@iyi.org. This event is funded in part by Meridian Health Services.
