VAN GRANT AWARDED

The Huntington County Council on Aging was recently awarded a grant through the Indiana Department of Transportation (INDOT) for a new 13 passenger extended top van. This new vehicle will be available in the spring of 2001. This grant was awarded for the new Huntington Area Transportation (HAT) which will be run through the Council on Aging.

The HAT will begin in January as a public transportation system for all ages throughout the county. This will be an excellent opportunity to meet the needs of those who struggle having transportation to get to work, childcare resources, medical appointments, or general shopping. This service will not only benefit those that use it, but also Huntington County businesses and industries by providing reliable, dependable transportation for their employees and customers.

In preparing for public transportation, the Council on Aging applied for a van grant through INDOT. When it arrives, this van will give the Council on Aging an additional vehicle to handle the needs of the new public transit system. The INDOT grant will pay for 80% of the initial cost of the van. What a great blessing to get a new vehicle for only 20% of the actual cost! Huntington County Council on Aging needs to raise $10,000 to meet our local 20% cost of the van, outfit it with twoway radios and get it ready for service.

For those who would like to help meet our community's need for public transportation the Council on Aging is receiving donations for this new van project. Gifts can be sent to: Huntington County Council on Aging, 646 Guilford Street, Huntington, IN 46750. All gift's are greatly appreciated and are tax deductible. Call 356-3006 if you have comments or ques-

CHOOSE TO LOSE COURSE

Over sixty people have experienced the new healthy eating and weight loss program sponsored by Caylor-Nickel Medical Center and Wells Community Hospital. It's called Choose to Lose, and the next course will begin on Monday, September 18. The eightweek program will continue each Monday evening through November 6, from 5:30-7:30 p.m.

"Choose to Lose is just what the people in the first courses did," says instructor Michelle Gentis. "Over the eight weeks they started to lose inches and weight. But it is not a quick fix. Instead, they learned the skills to keep losing fat, even after the course was over, and then keep it off forever. The program, which is based on the most timely and credible research, is the first step toward a permanent, healthier lifestyle change.

"This is not a diet " continues Michelle, "Instead, we help people learn how to make good food choices. People from other classes said they liked this program better than any they'd tried because they could eat, so they didn't feel deprived. They felt they had control.

"The best part of the class is when we actually try different foods and recipes. Each week three or four people bring something in from the course cookbook. It's fun to watch them learn that low-fat food can be delicious."

There will be an information session about Choose to Lose on Monday, September 11. Everyone is welcome, with no cost or obligation, anytime between 5 and 7 p.m. It and all classes are in conference rooms 401 at Caylor-

Class size is limited, so registration is necessary. The fee for the eight-week program is $95, which can be paid before the course begins or half before and half with a check dated midway through the course. The fee includes the Choose to Lose book, workbook, cookbook and balance book.

For more information or to register, call Michelle Gentis, wellness coordinator, at 219/824-3500, 219/824-2001 (automated) or 800/756-2663, ext. 7506.

SCHOOL SUPPLIES THANK YOU

On behalf of the Youth Services Bureau, I would like to thank all of those who contributed to this year's Tools for Life" school supplies campaign, Approximately $3000 worth of donated supplies were generous provided by the community, through collection sites, churches, civic groups and individuals. Due to these donations 270 children started school with the supplies they needed. With the funds donated, along with support from the agency's general budget $746 was spent to purchase additional supplies, making the cost $2.76 per student of monies not being donated.

This is the 8th year this program has been offered as a service to the children and families in Huntington County. Each year the number of children in need continues to grow, thankfully so far, so has the

We still have some supplies that will be available throughout the year for students who need them. If you would like to learn more about the "Tools for Life" or any of the other programs offered by the Youth Services Bureau, contact the office at 219-356-9681 or 1-800-298-

SEPTEMBER 10, 2000 GRANDPARENTS DAY

Sunday, September 10, is the best day of the year to honor your grandparents. Though Grandparents Day is a relatively new event, grandmothers and grandfathers will be waiting to see if you remember them. Public observations are held in many cities, but surveys show that what's most appreciated is a call, card, gift, or visit from their grandchildren.

Grandparents Day was proclaimed in 1973 in West Virginia by Governor Arch Moore. In 1978, five years after its West Virginia inception, Congress officially named the first Sunday after Labor Day as National Grandparents Day. The proclamation was signed by President Jimmy Carter. September was chosen for the holiday, to signify the "autumn years" of life.

The goals of Grandparents Day are:

- · To honor grandparents.
- · To give grandparents an opportunity to show love for their grandchildren.
- · To help children become aware of the strength, insight, and guidance older people can offer.

It is estimated that up to six percent of children live in their grandparents' homes. Some live with one or both grandparents and one parent. Some live with just one grandparent. In 1997, the census bureau reported that 1 million children lived only with a grandmother; 150,000 lived only with a grandfather.

If you hold a family gathering, encourage grandparents to tell stories about family history. They are the only ones who remember them.

FOURTEEN YEARS AGO - SEPTEMBER 10, 1986

The Town of Warren had applied for a CIP Grant from 3-A Development in connection with the town's sewer system.

Clarice McMillan, daughter of Sharon and Claire McMillan, rural Warren, was selected as one of the 15 finalists in the dress-up category of the 4-H dress revue at the Indiana State Fair.

Warren Town Council urged citizens to vote in the November election to allow Warren to withdraw the water utility out from under the jurisdiction of the Public Service Commission of Indiana in the matter of fixing rates and charges for that utility.

TESTING TO BEGIN

September 19-21, sophomores, juniors and seniors will take the ISTEP+ Graduation Qualifying Examination (GQE). This exam is extremely important to each students' future. Students may not receive a high school diploma without meeting the GQE standards. Sophomores who do not meet the standards will have four additional opportunities to pass the test before they finish their high school attendance. Juniors who do not meet the standard on their first retake this fall will have another opportunity to take the test this spring and twice again in their senior year. Students should make a serious attempt to meet the standards on their first attempt. Parents are encouraged to discuss this very important exam with their son or daughter.

Huntington North teachers have organized a series of mini-workshops to help students prepare for the GQE. Parents are asked to encourage their children to attend as many of these workshops as possible. The hope is that students will be able to approach the GQE with renewed confidence and knowledge.

If you have any questions concerning the GQE or the workshops, please contact Kris Teusch at 219/356-6104 ext. 1015.

BE A FOSTER PARENT

Most people do not realize that you do not have to be "at home" to be a foster parent. Working outside the home is often possible. Families with other children are also fine. Singles and empty nesters are welcome. Foster parents do not need to own their own homes or have exceptionally large homes or high income.

If you have room in your heart for one or more children, foster parenting may be right for you. Many of the children who need families are brothers and sisters who would like an opportunity to grow up together. Many of the children also have special emotional needs, often the result of abuse or neglect. The greatest need is for parents of teens, but those interested in children of all ages are welcome. For those interested in learning more about foster care, an information meeting will be held on Monday, September 11 from 6:30 - 8:30 p.m. at the Central Christian Church, 500 McGahn Street (directly across from Huntington North High School) in Hunting-For additional information call 219/423-6676 or 800/831-4154.

TRACTOR PULL 1999

(This is a recount of last year's pull written by Verlis Slusher for The Hook magazine in the November 1999 issue. I tried to condense it for the Warren Weekly but there was just too much good information so I decided to print the whole article.)

Down 1-69 thirty- to thirty-five miles southwest of Ft. Wayne, Indiana, tucked in the corner of Huntington County, lies the small community of Warren. It is here that the heartbeat of deadweight tractor pulling beats. This is evidenced by 580 entries in this year's annual pull celebrating its 50th consecutive year of pulling. Late each summer, three deadweight pulls take place within a 10 mile radius of Warren

The Warren Pull takes place on the site where it originated 50 years ago, the old Warren elementary and high school grounds. The pulling strip used to run through shortstop and third base of the ball diamond and on out into left field. A few years ago the running pullers and the deadweighters built a new pulling strip. With moisture it becomes a real power track

After a school consolidation, the building and grounds were kept by the community and, with the help of an alumnus, renamed the Knight Civic Center. Many community events and activities now are held there. When the neighboring school district in Southern Wells County lost their elementary school to a devastating fire. the Warren community offered their civic center as a temporary school building to be used once again as a school until their new building could be built. For the community's efforts, they were awarded the national Midland Texas Community Spirit Award.

In the United States historical accounts of tractor pulling. Warren's claim to fame will be that it was the site where the legendary NTPA Banter Brothers got their start. When the brothers were high school students at neighboring Jefferson Center High School, they built their first pulling tractor. It was a Farmall F-20 with a flathead Ford engine. Its maiden voyage was at Mt. Etna on cement but it also showed up at Warren as competition also. It soon was modified with a Chrysler engine and an automatic transmission and, as many of you know, innovations continued to follow. We deadweighters were fortunate in that it wasn't long before the guys were off and running.

The Warren Kiwanis Club started the pull in 1949 and continued it for many years. When their membership became older it was passed on to a group of young fellows called the Salamonie Active Men (SAM) who took over promotion of the pull and continued for a number of years. After they decided to give up the pull, it looked as if the longevity of it was over. But enter the Jones Brothers (Jack, Kenny, Steve, John and, oh yes, Dad, Emerson) with the whole family. These young men had become very active in deadweight pulling and were building and modifying their own tractors. They promoted and kept the pull from dying out. Now, ten miles away, they promote the Van Buren Deadweight Pull. The Jones Family continues to provide concessions for the annual Warren Pull

The Joneses were followed by three men (Dee Baker, David Bradford, and Verlis Slusher) who once competed fiercely to beat one another. They joined forces and have promoted the pull for the last five years. Yes, they still compete against each other and the rest of the field.

The Pull that started so long ago by the Kiwanis has turned into a hometown tradition. A family festival type atmosphere surrounds the Labor Day weekend. People living in the community know that families connected to pulling will be in Warren for "the duration". People from other nearby communities will attend sometime during the weekend just to visit and renew old acquaintances up and down track side row.

Many families are three generation pulling families. I started to list them but when the list passed half a dozen, I was afraid I might miss someone. Next year, the Lord willing, this writer's family will begin its fourth generation of pulling when grandson Jacob starts his Oliver pulling career.

The odds of an interesting situation which occurred on our 50th anniversary will likely never happen again. Dan Poulson won the lightweight class in 1949 with his dad's Allis Chalmers C. That first year his older brothers were going to take the WC to Warren's first tractor pull. Dan kept bugging Dad about making the C. He didn't appear to be making any progress until he reminded Dad that he had $5.00 from making hay. Finally Dad said, "Well if you want to waste your hard earned money, go ahead and take the C." As a young teenager, winning that first pull planted a seed. Dan has pulled a CA the last 3-4 years. This past winter he made some major modifications to it (a slower low gear and 38 inch rubber) hoping for an opportunity to win the 50th anniversary pull as well as that first one. The good fairy came up one whisker shy! Don's son, Kent, won second on the CA and his friend, Bob McLain, won 4th on it. Dan tied for another place but was scratched because of a ruling that says a single tractor cannot win more than two places. What are the odds of this happening in a class of 290 drivers? Oh. by the way, back in 1949, brother Bill won 3rd in the medium weight class and Harold placed 7th on

Registration on Friday evening was completed by flashlight due to a power outage. The computer had to wait for electricity. There was a total of 580 entries for the weekend. This 50th event saw new sunshades and tarps giving the track side a new look. An increase of the number of campers was also noted as tents and campers grew in number all around the Knight Civic Center lower shelf.

To maximize time at the pull, a score-board timer was introduced. With some adaptation and modification it may become a permanent fixture of the pull.

As a part of our celebration this year we included a complimentary "Founding Fathers/Old Timers Pull" on Sunday evening in the adjacent pulling lane while our second class was ongoing. We had a second sled that we invited the drivers to hitch to. They were invited to pull a tractor like the one they pulled years ago or one very similar to it. Our drivers willingly loaned them a tractor to drive and even a couple of them actually brought the same restored tractor they pulled way back when

"Hack" Daugherty, an original Kiwanian and longtime equipment dealer in Warren, even "spun" some old stories of days gone by. Many relatives were seen visiting that evening as some interesting history was recreated

Families that have restored stock tractors and pullers that have reengineered stock tractors with automobile engines have an annual activity to participate in. Some are antique show tractors that just don't look pretty, but prove their worth on the track. Size and horsepower don't always win.

The majority of our competitors pull stock tractors that range from Massey 30's, Allis CA's, and Oliver 60's through all the 60's through all the two and three bottom plow manufactured models, JD 4020's, Oliver 1850's, also four, six, and eight cylinder automobile engines installed in stock tractor chassis. Those tractors consist of four, six, and eight cylinder automotive powered Massey Harris Juniors, Seniors, 30's, and 44's. There is also a Corvair powered Farmall H, a six cylinder automotive powered Oliver and a Cadillac powered Cockshutt rail.

Some of the stock tractors have been overhauled and "jacked-up" (you know $ engines) far more than standard horsepower. A few of the competitors also take these tractors to running pulls and hitch transfer sleds. Generally speaking though, we have discovered that it is quite difficult to have one tractor be highly competitive both dead weighting and running. Combinations and setups are just basically different for running and dead weighting.

This fiftieth event took a toll on equipment as the Rhamy Oliver 66's rear end, Ralston Gizmo's rear hub and the front hub McLain "Six-to-Go" all broke.

The Warren Pull features a 50% entry fee payback in both the 4000-4900# class and a 6000-9000# class. Fifteen places are awarded on a percentage basis and five places are determined by longest pull. Neighboring pulls have classes that are usually 4000-6000# and 6000-9000# and prizes are awarded on a percentage and longest pull basis.

Our pulls are choice of spot pulls. Spot tractors donated/sponsored by area equipment dealers place the two iron runner sled anywhere in the 14 feet by 225 feet pulling lane the contestant selects. If 15 feet is successfully pulled, he/she continues into the next round after more weight is added to the sled. This routine continues until the longest pull has been determined. As each tractor is eliminated, its pulling percentage is determined by dividing the weight pulled by the weight of the tractor and driver

Tractors are weighed in and then certified for safety. A 20 inch hitch height and mandatory wheelie bars capable of supporting the weight of the tractor are a must. Tire size is unlimited and left to the preference of each driver. Duals are allowed. Tire size ranges from 13.6 x 38s (or smaller if preferred) to 30.1 inches wide to 46 inches tall. Success seems to be finding the correct combination of tire size, horsepower, gear ratio, weight of the tractor, and luck in drawing a number that allows the driver to be on the track when pulling traction is at its best. After 80-1/2 hours of continuous pulling with only a one and a half hour break on Sunday morning for church, a long weekend came to a close. "Old Glory" which had been raised during the singing of the national anthem by Ludy Felton was lowered at 1:00 a.m. on Tuesday morning. Tuesday night, however, found the promoters and some volunteers tearing down and cleaning up the grounds. The parade of equipment including the school bus announcer's stand, weight truck, wagon with sled, loader/grader trractor, the dump truck, "Ole 47" loaded with litter, tractor and track working equipment, local welder truck and assorted loaded pickups headed through town and down the gravel Salamonie River road towards it's winter storage grounds at Belville. This grand parade announces the end to another successful Labor Day tractor pull, "the 50th" in Warren, Indi-

Hopefully we'll have the results from the 51st Labor Day pull in as soon as Verlis recuperates from the festivities. Thanks Verlis for some great information.
