EASTER HUNT

The Salamonie Active Men will be hosting their annual Easter Egg Hunt at Knight Bergman Civic Center.

Be there at 10 a.m. sharp on Saturday, April 15th! Happy Hunting!

SSF MUGS

Salamonie Summer Festival mugs are here. You can pick them up at the Clerk's Office in Warren or at Gebhart Floral Barn. Cost is $15.00.

BB OVERFLOWING

The Bargain Basement will not be accepting any donations the next two weekends, Mar 31-April 1 and April 7 and 8. We are busting at the seams. We have to have room to get 50-75 totes out to the selling floor to refill racks, and houseware room, etc. We will be getting as much merchandise priced as possible for turnover. It takes a lot of time.

We never thought we would have to ask to stop donations for a short time. We thank everyone for all the great donations and hope we are not creating any inconvenience for you.

We will be closed Easter Weekend and re-open April 21 and will gladly welcome your donations on that day and in the future.

The B.B. is having their 1/2 price sale on winter apparel, housewares, books and toys, March 31 and April 1st.

Hope to see you starting April 21 and after. Get ready for a great Spring & Summer with beautiful apparel and items for your household, both inside and out. It's amazing what comes thru our door.

We also have a good selection of baseball pants and shoes if your child will be playing baseball.

Thank you for all your support.

ASBURY CEMETERY

The Asbury Cemetery Board will meet on Monday, April 3rd at 7 pm at Asbury Chapel Church. Anyone with an interest in the cemetery is welcome to attend.

OPEN HOUSE

On April 13th, Heritage Pointe will be having a grand opening for our newly renovated, state-of-the-art Rehab Center. This is a wonderful asset to our community that will help people in need of rehabilitation and recovery services. We are here to help those in need get well, and get back to living. We invite members of the community to stop by and tour the new center during our open house. A light meal will be offered, and several door prizes will be given away throughout the event. Door prizes include: a mini tablet, Tin Caps tickets, golf passes and much more!

What: The Rehabilitation Center at Heritage Pointe Open House Time: 3pm-7pm Date: Thursday, April 13th 2017 Where: Heritage Pointe, 801 Huntington Ave, Warren, IN The Rehabilitation Center offers the latest in post-hospital care for those who are recovering from a disabling injury, condition or illness, and prepares them to return home. This reflects the demands today on our skilled nursing facilities to care for patients with greater clinical needs, but who require shorter stays.

HUFFING

Many parents educate their children about the dangers of drugs and alcohol, but there are other substances that are often forgotten in these discussions: inhalants.

Inhalant abuse, or huffing, refers to the deliberate sniffing of common products found in homes and communities with the sole purpose of "getting high." These products include: correction fluid; air conditioning coolant; gasoline; propane; felt tip markers; spray paint; air freshener; butane; cooking spray; and glue. According to the American Association of Pediatrics, nearly 20% of all eighth graders have experimented with some form of inhalant.

This statistic is alarming because when intentionally misused, inhalants are so dangerous that "sudden sniffing death" can result after a single inhalant use. Over the past six years, more than 800 deaths have been linked to inhalant abuse. Inhalants are addictive and considered to be "gateway" drugs because children often progress from inhalants to illegal drug and alcohol abuse.

After the use of an inhalant, a user may feel slightly stimulated. Repeated inhalations make them feel less inhibited and less in control. If use continues, users can lose consciousness. High concentration of inhalants can cause death from suffocation by displacing oxygen in the lungs and then in the central nervous system so that breathing stops. Deliberately inhaling from a bag greatly increases the chances of suffocation. Chronic abuse of inhalants can cause severe long-term damage to the brain, the liver, and the kidneys. Other effects include: hearing loss; limb spasms; bone marrow damage; and blood oxygen depletion.

Inhalants are sometimes thought of as substances abused by middle school students. Although that is often the case, it isn't always:

Charles Keegan Stroud, a fun-loving 14 year old, watched a classmate huff computer duster he stole from the teacher's desk. He said it was no different than sucking helium from a balloon. Charlie tried it at home, and his best friend found him dead minutes later.

Lisa Doughty, age 30, left behind her two sons, age four and nine, her brother, other family, and a host of friends, when she died from huffing.

Matt Young was inhaling refrigerant as young teen but stopped when he was shown that it can be deadly. Later, he inhaled gasoline daily for several months. At age 21, Matt was found dead on a neighbor's air conditioning unit.

Ashley Long had just turned 14 when doctors told her parents that she had inhaled helium, which caused asphyxiation resulting in death.

David Manlove, age 16, discovered he could get high by inhaling the propellant from computer duster and the chemical would not show up on drug screens administered by the treatment facility he attended. David died due to huffing.

Children think that "if it's in the house, it can't be that dangerous." They see huffing in movies and on television, or portrayed as harmless and funny on YouTube. But we need to teach children that inhaling is not "harmless." It is a very real game of Russian roulette.
