FARMER'S MARKET AT TRACTOR SHOW

For the second year in a row, there will be a Farmer's Market Tent set up next to the Craft Tent on the tractor show grounds. There will be fruit, vegetables, baked goods and Stutzman's homemade ice cream available all day Friday and Saturday. Free parking is available near the tent and golf cart shuttle is available for those needing assistance. For vendors interested in market space, contact Jenny Plummer at 260-375-2415. We still have a limited amount of space in the tent and plenty of room for pop up tents nearby.

STRAWBERRIES ARE BEST WITH SUGAR AND CREAM AND A PORCH SWING

A farmer was driving along with a load of manure when he passed by a little boy playing in a yard.

"Something stinks," the little boy called out. "What do you have in your truck?"

Fertilizer," the farmer replied. "I'm going to put it on my strawberries."

"You ought to live here with us," the boy said. "We put sugar and cream on ours."

That farmer might have known the best way to grow strawberries, but that little boy knew the best way to eat them. I'm not sure there's anything better than strawberries with sugar and cream, unless it's blackberries cooked into a pot of dumplings, which was a midsummer delight in the community where I grew up. God really did create a world of wonders for us in the tasty foods we enjoy, in the beauty of the countryside where we live, in the kindnesses of our families and friends.

As we grow older, we become more mindful that we should take time to enjoy the good things that God has put in our lives, whether it be a peach so luscious that juice drips off our elbows, the smell of fresh air after a summer rain, the view from a high mountain lookout, morning dew on bare feet, leaning on a gate watching cows graze, gazing skyward as a V of honking geese pass overhead, walking with our families along a country lane, celebrating that first fish caught by one of our little ones.

That's because, as we grow older, we realize that our time on this earth really is short, as the Bible declares: "Your life is like the morning fog; it's here a little while, then it's gone" (James 4:14). We need to enjoy the good days for bad ones are certain to come.

Some wise person once said that growing old is not for sissies. It's a tough, painful process. We deal with all kinds of hurts along the way. Thankfully, we have Jesus who will be

QUILT SHOW

A Quilt show will be held at Heritage Pointe of Warren during the Salamonie Summer Festival. Times for the Quilt show are as follows, Friday June 30th 4 p.m. to 8 p.m. (closed during the parade) Saturday July 1st 10 a.m. to 6 p.m. and Sunday noon to 3 p.m. Come and see all the new quilts, the old quilts and the array of items associated with quilting. This show is sponsored by Heritage Pointe of Warren and it's sewing room volunteers.

CHARIOT RACES

Come one, come all to the Running of the Porcelain Chariots. Bring your teams or just yourself. We have team competition which is 4 people any mix or single men's and single women's divisions. Cash prizes are being awarded for 1st and 2nd in each division.

What is a porcelain chariot you ask? It is a toilet on wheels and you must navigate it by using just plungers. No body parts can touch the ground at any time. The fastest team or single man or single woman will win the cash prizes.

So come Downtown Saturday July 1st at 4:00 p.m. for a good laugh and a great time.

FILL THE TRUCK

The Tri County 4x4 Club is holding a Fill the Truck campaign for the Bread of Life Food Pantry during the Salamonie Summer Festival. They will be accepting non-perishable foods for the food pantry. At this time of the year, the food pantry usually runs very low on items. They are in need of canned goods and box mixes, shampoo and conditioners and bar soaps as well as personal hygiene products.

For every item you bring the club, they will give you a ticket for a chance to win Tin Caps tickets and cash prizes to help with snacks and drinks for the ball game. You can buy tickets 1.00 each or 6/5.00 and we will be downtown with the truck waiting to fill it. Hours for the campaign are Friday June 30th from 4 p.m. to 10 p.m. and Saturday from 9 to 10 p.m. and Sunday 9 a.m to 3 p.m. at the Mike Ackley Memorial Car Show at Heritage Pointe of Warren.

VOLLEYBALL JULY 4TH AT SSF

Bolinger's Propane Service & Warren Service & Supply are hosting the annual Salamonie Summer Festival's Volleyball Tournament on July 4th! Pre-play starts at 10am with the tournament starting at 1:00pm at Tower Park in Warren. Each team must have as many women as men - 6 member teams. Each team is responsible for refereeing. Registration at 10am on July 4, team fee is $50. If any questions, Please call Bolinger's Propane at 260-375-3010. Bring your lawn chairs, tents and scuba gear!

GREASED PIG CONTEST

Sign-ups June 26 - July 1st at Tower Park Concession Stand or call Town Hall 260.375.2656.

Cost is $10.00 per team. Teams are 2-4 people. Must be 7 years or older. Ages 7016 must be accompanied by a parent.

Contest will be held July 1st at 3:00 p.m. at Knight Bergman Center.

Get Your team together and let's have some fun!

MARK'S ARK AT FESTIVAL

East of Chicago Pizza is bringing Marks Ark Animal Show to the Salamonie Summer Festival in Warren on Saturday, July 1 at 10 AM downtown at the stage. Don't miss this hands on free educational show.

KICK-OFF BREAKFAST

The 29th annual Samuel Jones Breakfast is scheduled for Friday, June 30th at 7:30 AM at the Knight Bergman Center and will once again serve as the kick-off event for the Salamonie Summer Festival. The award is given to a person(s) who exemplifies the spirit of the Warren Area Community through volunteerism, support, and dedication. Tickets are available at East of Chicago, Bippus State Bank, IAB Bank, and Town Hall at the cost of $9.50 presale or $11.00 at the door. The breakfast is sponsored by the Warren Area Chamber of Commerce

On April 20, 1957, in Liberty Center, Edruan and James L. Roberts were married.

She is survived by her husband of 60 years, Jim of Bluffton; along with two sons, Jerome L. Roberts of Bluffton and Mark A. Roberts of Albany, Ind.; a grandson, Rett Roberts; and a brother, James Porter.

She is preceded in death by her parents; and her brother, Ralph Bradburn.

A service to celebrate Edruan's life will be held at 2 p.m. Wednesday, June 21, at the Thoma/Rich, Lemler Funeral Home in Bluffton. Tony Garton will officiate.

Calling Hours will be held from 10 a.m. to 2 p.m., prior to the service on Wednesday at the funeral home. Burial will follow at Fairview Cemetery in Bluffton.

Memorials may be made to Epworth United Methodist Church.

Funeral arrangements have been entrusted to the care of the Thoma/Rich, Lemler Funeral Home in Bluffton.

DHI SPECIALIST

Tim Schmidt of Warren recently joined NorthStar Cooperative Inc as a Dairy herd information (DHI) Specialist in Indiana. As a DHI Specialist, Schmidt collects milk samples, processes DHI information and assists dairy producers in Allen, Whitley, Cass, Madison, Kosciusko, Porter and Lake counties to make effective use of DHI records and reports.

"We are excited to welcome Tim to the Indiana DHI team," said Cassandra Fry, NorthStar DHI Services Coordinator and IT Support Specialist. "Tim has already added to the team's talent with his previous hands-on experience in agriculture, sales and management. Tim's positive attitude and willingness to learn makes him an excellent addition to our NorthStar family."

A graduate of Purdue University with a Bachelor of Science degree in Animal Agribusiness, Schmidt has over 15 years of experience in the agriculture industry and more than 12 years of experience in consultative business sales. Most recently, Schmidt worked for Spectrum Brands in Lake Forest, CA, where he was responsible for service and sales of builders' hardware to retail markets, distributors and original equipment manufactures. During this time Schmidt was awarded as the 2013 Hit for the Cycle Contest Winner.

The NorthStar Michigan Laboratory provides analysis for more than 2.2 million milk samples annually. Milk samples are collected and submitted by NorthStar's DHI Specialists, and sent direct to the laboratory from producers, veterinarians and other industry groups. Committed to establishing and maintaining quality standards, NorthStar Laboratories are certified by the National Veterinary Services Laboratories (NVSL), and Quality Certification Services, Inc (QCS). Additionally, NorthStar Laboratories are members of the National DHIA and the American Association of Veterinary Laboratory Diagnosticians (AAVLD).

NorthStar Cooperative, Inc. is a stock base cooperative, owned by dairy and beef producers in Michigan, Indiana and Wisconsin. Originally formed in 1944 as an artificial insemination cooperative, NorthStar Cooperative Inc. is now comprised of sales and service for Select Sires, Ag Products and Technologies, DHI Services, as well as Antel BioSystems, a research group dedicated to developing and implementing innovative diagnostic solutions for the animal industry. Based in Lansing, Michigan, NorthStar provides sales and service to producers, veterinarians and the case, researchers tell us that we all do dream, every night. In fact, they've found even primates and unborn human fetuses dream.

There have been many misconceptions about dreams. In ancient times, dreams were thought to be gifts from the gods. More recently, some believed you could die if you dreamt of falling off a cliff and didn't wake before hitting the ground. Or that dreaming was the cause of sleepwalking.

That's all false, but the reality is that scientists still don't know exactly why we dream. One theory is that dreams allow us to act out activities or desires that would not be acceptable in the real world. Whatever the reason for our dreams, there is no question they open a door to our subconscious.

Being able to remember and understand our dreams can often help us to better understand the hidden workings of our mind and possibly enable us to better understand ourselves. But how can you help yourself remember your dreams?

One way is to keep a notebook beside your bed and to record your dreams as soon as you wake up. Or you might dictate a summary of the dreams to your smart phone. Just do it soon after waking because memories of dreams fade fast. It also helps to tell yourself, as you're falling asleep, that you're going to try and remember your dreams.

Remembering dreams is one thing, but figuring out what they might mean can be harder. One place to start is looking for things in your dreams, such as settings, people, animals, colors, that often can represent a part of your personality.

At first, your dreams may appear illogical but interpreting your dreams is like learning a new language. It may take time, but soon you should find that the meaning of your dreams can become clearer.

When dreams seem silly they might actually be signaling something profound. Emotionally-laden dreams, such as nightmares and recurring dreams, often are signals of things we need to learn or change.

There are numerous serious books that can help you better interpret and understand your dreams, although the popular "dream dictionaries" are usually worthless.

In any case, don't just ignore dreams. They really are your subconscious communicating with you.

DON'T FORGET TO SMILE!

But NOT for your passport!

My passport expired and I had to renew it today, if I'm going to get to go with my family to Italy in September. Part of the process, besides filling out two pages of questions, was to have a current photo taken to go in the new, little, blue book I might get in time to go. When I got to the place where they took the passport photo, the very efficient clerk, told me where to sit, how to sit and the importance of sitting very still, and then she asked, "Are you ready?"

"Yes," I answered and proceeded to make a friendly smile for the camera.

She immediately took the camera off her eye and said, "OH NO!! DON'T SMILE! THAT'S NOT ALLOWED!"

"Okaaay," I said, recovering from her overreaction to the simple, happy gesture I let my lips display. Once again I got ready for the photo shoot, this time with a blank stare void of any joyful, inner emotion.

"Click," the camera said.

"Good" the clerk said. "What d'ya think of this?"

I looked at the photo, "Holy Baloney, I look like a felon! If anyone saw this, they'd never let me back into my beloved country!" I whined.

"That's what you're supposed to look like," she exclaimed. "We can shoot another one if you want."

"Yes, please!"

This time I lifted my gravity, sagging mouth, just enough for it not look like a smile, but enough for me not to look like a child molester. It worked! However, it was out of focus and I was running out of time, for a meeting, and decided to take the mug shot version and live with it.

This experience made me think about we who are behind "older" faces. If we aren't careful, we can scare people, especially the very young. I've noticed in the last ten years, when I'm trying to get a baby to smile, that it takes way longer than it did when I was younger and in some cases I've gotten a very concerned and suspicious stare from the offended infant.

Looking at my photo, I can see that it could easily fit a story in the local news with a headline:

Wanted, Escapee in Mid-Seventies Suspected of Robbing Local Grocery Store.

Be careful, she's armed and dangerous!

I think I'll start sleeping with my head draped over the side of the bed and maybe I can reverse some of the damage gravity has perpetrated on my face. But for right now, I'm going to practice holding my lips in a Cheshire cat smile while I go about my work and see if that'll help when I relax my face and go into passport photo mode.

right there with us when life gets tough. My friend and neighbor, Damon Rains, always assures everyone of the Lord's faithfulness. He's 95, a World War II vet, and as solid a Southern Baptist as you'll ever meet.

To Damon, it seems like just yesterday that he, as a rambunctious kid, hopped a coal train to see what was beyond the tiny East Tennessee community where he was born. Damon remains an active and adventurous sort. He actually played softball in a church league a couple years ago, earning a frontpage headline in the newspaper: "Still swinging for the fences."

I saw Damon sitting on his porch swing the other day, and I couldn't resist stopping in to visit. He told me he'd had a heart attack a few weeks ago, that he'd spent several days in the hospital and many more days recovering at home. But, he cheerfully announced, that he's doing a lot better now.

I love listening to Damon reminisce about his life, whether about growing up in a coal town in the Appalachians or fighting the Nazis a world away as a young machine gunner in the Army. Those chapters of Damon's life may seem long, long ago to a younger generation, but he'd chuckle and tell you the years have flown by.

If you're fortunate, you'll make 95 one day. And when you do, I hope you're able to think back over a life of porch swings, and strawberries, and happy times, and that you'll ponder the years and see, like Damon, that Jesus was right there with you all the time.
