Thought for the Week: There is always something to be Thankful for. Happy Thanksgiving

CHRISTMAS SHOE DRIVE

Help us donate 1,000 pairs of shoes to Haitians in need! Imagine walking everywhere on sharp stones and debris without even the thinnest foot protection. That's how it is in Haiti. Literally, men, women, and children who either lost their shoes in the hurricane, or are just too poor to afford them, walk miles every day without shoes. We are working through the ministry A.C.T.S. (Allowing Christ To Shine), which is a Christian organization that has built schools and an orphanage in Haiti to help people in extreme poverty. So give your shoes a new purpose and help us bless many people in Haiti who perhaps have never owned a pair in their lives! Drop off your used or new shoes at the Warren Public Library or the Bread of Life Food Pantry between November 28 and December 21. All we ask is

Kudos, Kicks & Karats

THANK YOU

A sincere thank you to the committee who made the 2016 Holiday Walk and Festival of Trees such a success! Claudia Boxell, Wendy Laymon, Jane Trickle, Ashley Tinkle, Jan Tinkle and Angie Eltzroth. Without your time & dedication working on this event over the last month it would not have been possible & certainly wouldn't have been such a success.

Your willingness to serve your community is appreciated!

We would also like to thank Brady Smekens & Smekens Education Solutions for the design and printing of the maps and advertising materials, again we are so grateful for a community that loves to pitch in and make events like this a success. To everyone who participated with us by having your business open, hosting something special for the evening or decorating a tree to adorn our downtown—we thank you & pray you have a blessed Christmas season. And to those who joined us downtown for the event, we hope you enjoyed it!

Sincerely,

Historic Warren Holiday Walk & Festival of Trees Chairmen

THE UPTOWN GARDENER by Ruth Herring

Ole Man Winter has finally made his appearance was not a very welcome one, get the holidays over and will start looking forward to warmer sunny days. I have been getting seed catalogs already, got a couple before Halloween. I think that is rushing it a bit. I will get them out and day dream about when dad and I would sit at the ole kitchen table and plan the big garden, those are cherished memories, don't know how much my opinions helped, but I thought I was pretty important at least keeping him company.

Having the family here for the Thanksgiving holiday and also share a bit of Christmas with those traveling from Florida. Been trying to make the house festive for them, I am in trouble if it doesn't look a bit like Christmas, so if you pass my house and see a tree lit up so early that is the real reason. I'm not trying to rush the season. Just one of the things this Granny does for my spoiled grandkids and love every minute of it. This year they will bring another little bundle of Joy, our newest addition to the family. We are all excited for that.

FOOD DRIVE

The Warren Dental Clinic (Dr. Zach Colclasure) will be collecting non-perishable food items and hygiene items until Friday, December 16th for the local food pantry. Items can be dropped off at 470 Bennett Dr. Suite A, during regular business hours.

BASEMENT REPORT

The Bargain Basement is all set for Christmas shopping with lots of beautiful and cute decorations for your home. We have gift items galore for under your tree.

Remember, we not only have gently used items but brand new items to choose from as well. We are amazed at what comes thru the door in donations.

The Bargain Basement has improved so much in every way the past year because Suzie Boxell returned as a volunteer. She is so amazing, so many great ideas, hours and hours of extra work during the week processing donations and keeping everything organized and making sure the Bargain Basement has no dust bunnies under the racks of dust on the displays. The Bargain Basement has never looked better. Thank you Suzie for everything you do!!

You probably know the Civic Center is currently having the old boiler replaced. Remember, the money spent at the B.B. goes to help the Civic Center. So, why not come to the B.B. first to see what we may have that you are looking for. You will be helping yourself with low prices and helping the Civic Center too!

Remember your donations are still tax deductible and it may reduce any clutter you may have in your home.

We are still in need of more warm clothes for little kids and teens. Also, we are very glad to get ladies plus size clothes. They are great sellers.

We haven't mentioned it before but, have you gone thru your closets for shoes, boots and purses you do not wear or use? Why not clear some space and help someone else who may need these items. We have lots of shoppers who depend on the B.B. to clothe their families.

Thanks for all your support!

MASTER GARDENER

If you want to sharpen your gardening skills and you have an interest in sharing your knowledge with others, Purdue University has the ideal program for you.

Beginning February 21, 2017, a Purdue Master Gardener Program training series will be offered for residents of Grant County and surrounding areas. The Purdue Master Gardener Program is a volunteer training program that provides a learning framework for participants to increase their knowledge on a wide variety of horticultural subjects. In turn, participants volunteer, representing Purdue University. As volunteers, participants grow by sharing knowledge while providing leadership and service in educational gardening activities within their communities.

Training will be held from 9:30 am - 4:15 pm every other Tuesday beginning February 21 through May 16 (7 sessions total). Participants will be exposed to a wide range of subjects including soil and plant science, diagnosis of plant problems, pesticide safety, and culture of vegetable, flower, and landscape plants.

Materials and expenses for the series of classes cost $125.00 per participant. This expense fee covers such items as reference notebooks, mailings, and name badges. These materials all become part of the Master Gardener's personal collection.

While the class will be encouraged to create new educational outreach programs, there are already plenty of opportunities for which volunteers are needed.

Some of these projects include staffing information booths at gardening events, teaching public education classes, speaking to local clubs and organizations, and hands-on demonstration gardens.

If you'd like an application to join our league of volunteers or have questions about the program, give us a call at 765.651.2413, cluppers@purdue.edu, or see our website at www.extension.purdue.edu/grant. Space for the class will be limited, so contact our office soon for an application packet.

PHARMACY PLANS

A number of Pharmacy Insurance Plans have chosen, once again, to allow the Warren Pharmacy to fill your prescriptions. The MHS (Managed Health Services) a plan of the Healthy Indiana Program (H.I.P. 2.0), which is part of the Indiana Medicaid Pharmacy Prescription Drug plans, now works with the Warren Pharmacy and allows us to process prescription claims!

We are constantly striving to fulfil all of the regulatory requirements and contractual agreements with Pharmacy Benefit Managers and Insurance Companies so that you may receive quality pharmaceutical care from your local Pharmacist, Terry Daniels P.D., and our experienced staff.

LEADERSHIP ACADEMY

Huntington County Leadership, Inc. and Purdue Extension are partnering to offer the Huntington County Adult Leadership Academy again in 2017. There are many individuals who are willing to give their time and talents to serve the needs of others. However, it is often difficult to find individuals who are willing to step up to the plate to serve in leadership roles.

Confident, skilled and knowledgeable leaders are needed to inspire, lead and build dynamic and viable organizations and communities. This series of workshops will increase the capacity of existing and emerging leaders through and eleven module leadership development training program hosted by Purdue Extension educators, facilitated by trained Extension staff and based on research-based curriculum.

Leadership dates and topics are:

- 1/18/17- Getting to Know Huntington County
- 2/1/17- Identifying My Leadership Style
- 2/15/17- Leading Through Interpersonal Communication
- 3/1/17- Building a Healthy Community

This is a great opportunity for families, friend groups, co-workers, youth groups, and more to put your own decorating touch on the Gardens of Matter Park. Put your creativity to work and make ornaments and decorations that are as environmentally friendly as possible (think popcorn, acorns, berries, pinecones, etc). The more bird-friendly, the better!

Lighted trees will be provided, so all you have to do is decorate. The trees will be lit promptly at 6pm, so even if you don't decorate a tree, you can still come and see the beauty of 30 trees lighting the Gardens!

SEEKING PROPOSALS

Huntington University is seeking proposals for a public art commission for the inner lobby wall of the Merillat Centre for the Arts (MCA). Regional artists within 150 miles of Huntington University's home campus and HU alumni nationwide are encouraged to submit proposals.

"We are looking specifically for a work of art that reflects the creative vitality and artistic expression of Huntington University's visual and performing arts programs," stated Rebecca Coffman, professor of art.

The MCA is the center for the visual and performing arts, housing the Robert E. Wilson Gallery, Zurcher Auditorium as well as the Department of Visual Arts, Theater, Music and Broadcast Media, and it serves as a hub for regional art, performance, music and other year-round campus and community events. The MCA lobby also serves as the entrance to the university's Welcome Center and hosts more than 6,000 visitors to campus each year.

The MCA's architectural design affords a spacious, open lobby with a large wall space on its east side. This inner façade is brick covered and measures 35' wide x 10' high. The façade offers the artist an exceptional space for the creation of art that reflects the life, vitality and spirit of Huntington University and the MCA.

The "call for public art" is the first phase of the application process. Submissions will be judged on their use of space, material, color, scale, proportion and other aesthetics, as well as their ability to creatively and accurately convey the artistic life that resides within the MCA. Applications must have; 1) letter of interest, 2) artist resume or CV, and 3) three to five examples of work. All applications must be in a single, small-file PDF format. The deadline for the first phase is January 17, 2017. In phase two, three selected applicants will be awarded $500 to develop two concept proposals containing; 1) a written description detailing their art, 2) a set of finished drawings depicting the art, 3) a production timeline, 4) a budget, and 5) a material list. An all-inclusive award of $8,500 will be awarded to execute one of the approved concepts.

The award includes artist fees, and all costs associated with the engineering and fabrication of the art work, delivery and installation.

For more information and photos of the MCA's inner façade, go to www.huntington.edu/CallForArt. All questions regarding the project can be emailed to Rebecca Coffman at rcoffman@huntington.edu. All submissions should be sent to Jason Bleijerveld at jbleijerveld@huntington.edu.

GET SMART ABOUT ANTIBIOTICS

State health officials are raising awareness of antibiotic resistance and promoting the responsible use of antibiotics during the week of Nov. 14-20, which Governor Mike Pence has proclaimed Get Smart About Antibiotics Week.

The campaign, now in its seventh year, is a Centers for Disease Control and Prevention (CDC) initiative. The effort coordinates work of CDC's Get Smart: Know When Antibiotics Work campaign and enlists states, nonprofit groups and for-profit partners to improve antibiotic stewardship in communities, in healthcare facilities and on the farm.

"Antibiotic resistance is a more pervasive threat than many people know," said State Health Commissioner Jerome Adams, M.D., M.P.H. "By prescribing antibiotics responsibly, healthcare providers can help ensure that patients with serious bacterial infections have access to effective, life-saving medications."

At least 2 million people in the United States become infected each year with bacteria that are resistant to antibiotics, and an estimated 23,000 people die as a direct result of these infections.

Many others die from conditions that were complicated by an antibiotic-resistant infection.

The CDC has deemed antibiotic resistance an urgent public health threat. According to the CDC, antibiotic use is the single most important factor leading to antibiotic resistance around the world. Antibiotics are among the most commonly prescribed medications, yet up to 50 percent of the antibiotics prescribed are for people for whom they aren't appropriate or effective.

Antibiotics treat bacteria, not viruses. Taking antibiotics for viral infections, such as a cold, the flu or most types of bronchitis, will not cure the infections, keep other individuals from catching the illness or help you feel better. Taking antibiotics when they are not needed increases the risk of getting an infection later that resists antibiotic treatment.

If you are ill, a few days of rest may be all you need to take care of your illness. Before you take antibiotics for an infection, make sure you ask your healthcare provider if an antibiotic is necessary. If so, remember these important tips:

- When you are prescribed an antibiotic, take it exactly as the doctor tells you.
- Complete the prescribed course, even if you are feeling better. If treatment stops too soon, some bacteria may survive and re-infect you.
- Get rid of any unused medication.

Many pharmacies offer prescription take-back days or provide envelopes that can be used to mail unused medications to environmentally safe disposal facilities.

- Do not share your antibiotics with others or take other people's antibiotics. Antibiotics can cause serious, and even life-threatening allergic reactions in some people.

State health officials are collaborating with several partners, including the Indiana Hospital Association, Indiana University Hospitals and Butler University, on a project to educate healthcare providers and their patients about the dangers of overprescribing and overusing antibiotics. The project includes an education booth at the Indianapolis Colts game against the Tennessee Titans on Nov. 20.

"I think the booth is a great way to get out there and educate the public about what antibiotic resistance is and the harm it can cause," said Kristen Nichols, an assistant professor of pharmacy practice at Butler University's College of Pharmacy and Health Sciences and an infectious disease pharmacist at Riley Hospital for Children. "It is crucial to have this conversation, and not just when patients feel they need an antibiotic. Outreach like this allows us to inform people proactively."

To learn more about appropriate use of antibiotics, go to <https://www.cdc.gov/getsmart/week/>.
