Thought for the Week: Experience is the name everyone gives his mistakes. Elbert Hubbard

NEW PASTOR

Pastor Andy Trowbridge is the new pastor at the Warren Wesleyan Church. He and his wife Michelle and their two children, Joshua and Raylea reside in the Wesleyan parsonage on Nancy Street.

Pastor Trowbridge is a 1990 graduate of Hastings High School and a 2002 graduate of Indiana Wesleyan University in Marion with a Bachelor of Science in Christian Ministries and a minor in Biblical Literature.

Pastor Trowbridge has ministered at Laketon Church in Laketon and Southside Wesleyan in Gas City.

The local church is located at the corner of Sixth and Nancy Streets in Warren.

The congregation extends a cordial invitation to everyone to attend services.

PARTY & HOG ROAST

Friends, family, and neighbors are invited to Salamonie Church of the Brethren to their annual All Church Party and Hog Roast on Sunday, August 29th following worship. There will be food, games, and fellowship at 11:30 am to 2:30 pm. The worship service at 9:30 am will have something special for everyone. It will feature the reunion of the singing group "Jubilation". "Jubilation" consist of Vince Haupert, Dawn Smith Hinthorn, Ted Trout, Lisa Stephens, Doug Hartle and Ruth Batson. They are directed by Keith Kunda. Everyone is invited to attend this message in song and the party to follow the Sunday school hour. Those who would like to attend should plan to dress casual. Salamonie Church is located on state road 124, between state road 9 and state road 5. If you have questions, call the church at 468-2412.

CARS & FASHION

The Youth Service Bureau will present the Youth Advisory Board's Car and Fashion Show on September 11 at Hier's Park.

Saturdays car registration will be for 10a.m. to noon. Bands will perform from 2 to 3 with a Fashion Show at 3:30. Bands will perform at 7 and 8:30 p.m. with the Car Award Ceremony at 9.

Independent booths are welcome, call 356-9681 or more information.

Entry fee of $5 for the car show are due by September 3rd. Contact YSB at 1344 Maple Drive, Huntington.

Enter by August 27 for the Fashion Show. Registration fee is $5.00 with a fitting date of Sept. 2 and 3, from 3p.m. to 5p.m. Registrants must be 13 or older.

SUNDAY DINNER

Sunday dinner at the Knight Bergman Center will be held August 29 from 11 a.m. to 1 p.m. Dinner is sponsored by the S.O.S. Group and will include ham, chicken & noodles, beef & noodles, meat balls, lasagna, vegetables, salads, desserts and drinks.

MENTOR OPPORTUNITY

The Indiana Youth Services Association announced today that it will launch programs in ten Indiana counties that will match volunteer mentors with children of prisoners. Six of the Association's youth service bureaus will conduct the programs that are designed to prevent delinquency among children whose parents are serving time in state prisons.

"Children of prisoners are five to seven times more likely to become delinquents than their counterparts," said Jim Killen, Executive Director of the Association. "This kind of early intervention is the best deterrent we know of," he said.

The programs will be administered in Elkhart, LaPorte, Sullivan, Clay, Vermillion, Putnam, Montgomery, Tippecanoe, Wabash, and Grant Counties.

The participating youth service bureaus are Family Services/ Youth Service Bureau of Elkhart, Big Brothers/Big Sisters of LaPorte County, C.H.A.N.C.E.S. for Indiana Youth (Terre Haute), the Montgomery County Youth Service Bureau, Community and Family Resource Center (Lafayette), and the Youth Service Bureau of Wabash County. Some bureaus will serve more than one county.

In addition to matching volunteer mentors with children, the program will provide information and referral services to the children's families. It will work, where it is possible, to reconnect children with their parents in state correctional facilities and to strengthen family ties.

The program has been designed to continue for three years. Federal funding for the project has been awarded by the U.S. Department of Health and Human Services. The grant was one of 164 announced by President Bush on Tuesday, August 3rd.

No special qualifications are required of volunteers except an interest in being a friend to a child in need of an adult role model.

COUNTY VISION

Vision in Progress (VIP) began in November 2003 to assess Huntington County's strengths and weaknesses and to come up with goals the county should work toward. The Huntington County Community Foundation spearheaded a group of twenty-one sponsoring partners to establish a community leadership group to set goals for Huntington County. Chairing VIP were Stephen Zahn, President of First Federal Savings Bank, Ryan Warner, President of Bippus State Bank and Travis Holdman, President of MarkleBank. Participating groups included the Town of Andrews, Community of Bippus, Bippus State Bank, Cinergy, First Federal Savings Bank, City of Huntington, Habitat for Humanity, Huntington College, Huntington Chamber of Commerce, Huntington County Community School Corporation, Huntington County United Economic Development, Lafontaine Arts Council, Life Long Learning of Huntington County, Lime City Economic Development Corporation,

RETIRING

Vickie (Brown) Hoover, shown above as Miss Heritage Days in 1967, will retire from the Warren Post Office on August 31. Vickie was a physical education teacher at Salamonie School and a full-time mother prior to joining the Postal Service in 1981. She worked as a clerk in Andrews, Huntington and Roanoke before coming to the Warren Post Office.

After retirement Vickie will spend time chauffeuring her grandchildren, caring for her many "adopted" cats, and hopefully winning more than losing at area casinos and Vegas.

MarkleBank, Town of Markle, Parkview Huntington Hospital, Roanoke Chamber of Commerce, United REMC, United Way of Huntington County and the Town of Warren.

The group gathered public input through a team of citizens, focus groups and individual interviews. Issues were examined by seeking ideas of the assets, challenges and opportunities from the citizens of Huntington County. Previous studies, such as Huntington County Tomorrow created in 1994, were examined to develop information and concerns which can be addressed by various groups and lead toward an even greater result of the investment of those studies.

EXPERTS: KIDS WHO RULE THE ROOST MIGHT NOT BECOME WELL-ADJUSTED ADULTS

Many kids today know they can govern family activities and decisions. Not getting what they want is unfamiliar to them.

The power to control is given to kids by parents with good intentions, but studies show that their children are likely to become self-centered, unpleasant adults who may be unable to make solid relationships or get along with fellow workers.

As teens they are less likely to get along with others or do well in school. They are more likely to use drugs.

Some reasons parents don't impose rules:
 . They are afraid to damage his spirit, creativity and self-esteem. The truth: Kids not only need limits, they want them. It makes their world predictable and safe.

. They don't want to see the child unhappy. But one who never experiences adversity or disappointment may be unable to deal with the challenges of adult life.

. They can afford to fulfill every demand and do so. It creates a false sense of entitlement and an inability to delay gratification.

. They don't want to be tyrants. But the child needs a parent, not a buddy.

. They're afraid of losing the child's love. Kids are not so fragile that they can't withstand a request to take out the trash.

Parents can be authoritative while not being authoritarian, a loving combination of warmth, nurturing, and firmness says Dr. Lawrence Steinberg, a psychology professor at Temple University.

To change their style, parents can start with small things. But if a line is crossed, there must be consequences.

When we hand kids too much power, the result is anarchy and chaos in our homes.

I Do ... TAKE YOUR NAME

Reversing a three-decade trend of more married women keeping their own names, increasing numbers of educated women are taking their husbands' surnames, according to a Harvard University study.

Starting with the feminist movement of the 1970s, many women rejected tradition and kept their own names when they married. By 1990, just 23 percent of educated women kept their own names, going down to 17 percent in 2000.

Researchers speculate that more women are taking their husband's names because of a drift to more conservative values. In addition, not taking the husband's surname causes logistical problems, particularly when they have children, and while traveling.

KEEPING THE MICE AWAY

As cold weather sets in, mice will begin seeking shelter ... at your place. Home improvement experts recommend:

. Keep piles of firewood away from the foundation. Trim bushes next to the house to prevent rodent nesting.

. Mice can squeeze through a space as small as a dime. Find potential entrances and seal with steel wool, sheet metal or cement. Expandable foam works too.

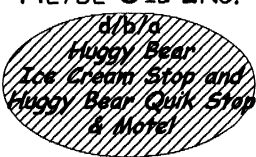

. Keep food, water, and garbage in containers with tight lids.

. Wash the dishes, sweep the floor, and wipe down the counter tops. Look under cabinets for openings around plumbing pipes. Seal any you find.

AREA NEWS

Due to the continuing changes in Huntington County, the group felt a strong need to develop a consensus about the future. Using information derived from the various sources, the full team developed the vision, goal areas of opportunity, and measurable objectives. An action plan is now in place to accomplish the findings.

Joining chairmen Zahn, Warner and Holdman on the Vision in Progress (VIP) Steering Committee are Carol Pugh - Huntington County United Economic Development; Marcia McClelland - Huntington County Community Foundation; Pat Horoho - United Way of Huntington County; Mayor Terry Abbott - City of Huntington; Jerry Helvie - County Commissioner; Kathy Branham - County Council; Ervin Fuhrman - Huntington City Council; Marilyn Morrison, Warren; Steve Easterday - Roanoke; Kathy Juillerat - Andrews; and Greg Souder, Markle.

Also joining the Steering Committee are chairmen of goal areas. Goal areas to be researched and developed are: Economic Development - chaired by John Niederman, President of Pathfinder Services; Education - chaired by Dr. Max Spaulding, President of Life Long Learning of Huntington County; Arts, Recreation, Leisure and Beautification - co chaired by James O'Donnell, Huntington College and Gary Newton, Huntington College; Communication & Technology - chaired by Kathy Holst, Director of Huntington City Township Public Library; and Empowering Humanity chaired by Steve Miller, Executive Director of Habitat for Humanity of Huntington County.

The calendar has been established for goal area committee meetings. Dates and times will be announced through the news media. All meetings are open to the public.

If you are interested in providing input for any goal areas, please contact the specific committee chairman, Marcia McClelland at 356-8878 or Pat Horho at 356-6160.

GIRLS BASKETBALL

2004 Lady Viking Basketball Minicamp will be held September 13th- 16th.

This year's camp is for any girl in kindergarten thru 4th grade. The camp will be held at Huntington North Fieldhouse, and Head Basketball Coach Jon Lippe will be providing instruction during camp. Girls should be on the floor and ready to go at 5pm, and camp will end promptly at 6:30pm each day. The fee for camp is $30 (includes a T-shirt).

Registration is DUE by THURSDAY, SEPTEMBER 9th

Checks should be made payable to Junior Lady Vikings. A completed registration form must accompany payment. Contact Jon Lippe, Huntington North High School, 450 McGahn Street, Huntington.

PAINTINGS EXHIBITED

The Wabash Art Guild has announced its winners for its annual exhibit. The paintings are exhibited in the Clark Gallery of the Honeywell Center through Tuesday, August 31. The Guild, which was organized in 1959, is affiliated with the Indiana Federated Art Club. Its objective is to promote the study, appreciation, and encouragement among the members of the Guild and to promote the welfare of art and to encourage civic art improvements.

Judges Lynn Watson and Steve Batzka selected Wabash County resident Kathy Bakehorn's Watercolor entry, Lilacs, as Best of Show Winner. Winners in the Division A category, which included oils, acrylics, and alkyds, were Penny Deal, first and third; Laureen Deeter, second; and Martha Helm, Honorable Mention. Winners in the Division B category, which included watercolor and acrylics under glass, were Brenda Ramsier, first and Honorable Mention; Grace Kester, second; and Kathy Bakehorn, third. Division C winners were Brenda Ramsier, first; Kathy Rinearson, second and Honorable Mention; and Jim Mason, third. Rounding out the categories was Division E, which included any medium of art work that had been done in workshops or was copied. Winners in this category were Penny Deal (Oil) and Carolyn Allison (Watercolor), first; Grace Kester (Watercolor) and Margaret Schoby (Oil), second; and Joe Deal (Watercolor), third. Carolyn Allison also took Honorable Mention for a Watercolor piece.

Clark Gallery is open for public viewing of the exhibit Monday through Friday 9 a.m. to 5:30 p.m. and Saturdays 10 a.m. to 2 p.m. Most paintings are offered for sale by the artists and may be purchased through the Honeywell Center box office. For more information or questions about the exhibit, please call (260) 563-1102.

The Honeywell Center is north central Indiana's premier entertainment facility, with more than 3,000 events and 200,000 visitors annually. Concerts, conferences, charity balls, and educational outreach programs are among the diverse events held at the Honeywell Center. For a complete show listing, visit the Honeywell Center website at www.honeywellcenter.org.

OFFER DISASTER RELIEF

Meeting immediate needs for shelter, food and necessities, the American Red Cross continues to care for people across Florida, North Carolina and South Carolina. In its largest disaster response since 9/11, the American Red Cross has opened 373 shelters. Supply trucks are making their way through blocked roads and bridges, as well as traffic jams. Meantime, volunteers from communities around the country are staffing shelters, serving meals and comforting families feeling the trauma of last Friday's massive hurricane. Huntington County is in severe need of volunteers willing to be trained and ready to respond to similar disasters in the future.

All Red Cross disaster assistance is free, made possible by voluntary donations of time and money from the American people. You can help the victims of Hurricane Charley and thousands of other disasters across the country each year by making a financial gift to the American Red Cross Disaster Relief Fund, which enables the Red Cross to provide shelter, food, counseling and other assistance to those in need. Call 1-800-HELP NOW or 1-800-257-7575 (Spanish). Contributions to the Disaster Relief Fund may be sent to your local American Red Cross chapter or to the American Red Cross, P.O. Box 37243, Washington, DC 20013. Internet users can make secure online credit card donations by visiting www.redcross.org.

BEWARE CHEAP SOFTWARE

The Better Business Bureau system is issuing this alert to consumers in Northeastern Indiana:

The Business Software Alliance (BSA), a watchdog group representing the nation's leading software manufacturers, today alerted businesses and consumers worldwide to the proliferation of spam* emails offering pirated software.

The organization warned that it has seen a jump in the number of user complaints about spam advertisements and Internet mail-order sites selling software at "bargain prices." Users who order from these sites report that they do not receive legitimate software and, in some instances, find unapproved charges on their credit card statements. The spam emails, often from Eastern Europe, typically contain links to authentic-looking Web sites offering "OEM" or back-up software. Common names for these sites include: CD Cheap, Cheap Soft and OEM4 Sale.

In an effort to protect businesses and consumers from pirated software, BSA is introducing its "Buyer Beware" program that reminds shoppers to be careful when purchasing software online.

"Unfortunately, these Web sites seek to pass themselves off as legitimate by using polished graphics and manufacturers' logos, but they are increasingly a vehicle of choice used by software pirates to dupe businesses and consumers into buying illegal software," said Bob Kruger, vice president for enforcement for BSA.

"BSA works to create a safe and legal digital world in which businesses and consumers are protected. Spam 'deals' and mail order sites represent just two of the faces of Internet piracy, a major problem that undermines business and consumer confidence in online shopping. BSA strongly supports enforcing existing laws that help to stem the tide of Internet crime as well as passing legislation that targets spam," said Kruger.

Ken Hunter, president and CEO of the Council of Better Business Bureaus, said, "If online shoppers exercise their common sense, trust their instincts, and research the reliability of unknown online merchants, they can protect themselves from Web sites that offer potentially fraudulent products and are likely to enjoy a safe, online shopping experience."

Online shoppers should seek out Web sites that willingly provide customer service contacts, post a written refund and exchange policy, detail shipping/transaction costs and include security and privacy protection information.

BSA offers these "Buyer Beware" guidelines to help businesses and consumers buy software safely and legally via the Internet:

1. Don't Reply! If you suspect an email is spam, don't reply. Your address may be distributed to other spammers as a result, increasing the volume of spam you receive. Indicators that an email is spam include typos, misspellings and prices that are "too good to be true."

2. Don't Post. Avoid posting your email address on public sites - spammers search public sites for email addresses.

3. Check Out the Dealer. Review the software publisher's Web site. If the reseller isn't listed on the manufacturer's Web site as a recognized dealer, proceed with caution.

4. Trust Your Instincts. If a price seems "too good to be true," it probably is.

5. Beware of Back-ups. Take special care to avoid sellers offering "back-up" copies. This is a clear indication that the software is illegal.

6. Steer Clear of Compilations. Be wary of compilations of software titles from different publishers on a single disk or CD.

7. Do Your Homework. Look for a feedback section on the site and look for comments about the seller based on previous transactions. Look for a trust mark from a reputable organization, like BBBOnline, that signifies the merchant has agreed to a code of business practices. If in doubt, conduct Web searches about the site in order to determine its legitimacy and check with the BBB (www.bbb.org).

8. Get the Seller's Address. Remember that if you cannot re-contact the seller, you may have no recourse if the product turns out to be pirated. If you can't find the seller's physical address, be suspicious. That may be a ploy to hinder law enforcement actions.

9. Keep Receipts. Print out a copy of your order number and sales confirmation and keep them at least until your software arrives in satisfactory condition.

10. Report Piracy. Buyers suspecting software piracy, counterfeit software and/or fraud should contact law enforcement agencies and BSA at 1-888-NO PIRACY or www.bsa.org.

BE WARY OF CREDIT CARD PITFALLS

With the start of school, there are two things that you can count on - lots of homework and lots of student credit card applications in your mailbox. Although we can't do anything about the amount of your homework, the Better Business Bureau is warning students to be careful of those plentiful credit card applications.

In 2003, college students had an average of six credit cards each. The average debt on those cards was $3,262 for college seniors and $7,831 for graduate students. While it's important to establish a credit history in college, a bad credit history can impact your life long after you've graduated.

The Better Business Bureau offers these tips for students' credit card use:

Always remember that credit is a loan. It must be repaid. Consider using it just for emergencies instead of for "lifestyle" purchases, such as dining out or concert tickets.

Go slowly. Get one card with a low limit - $1,000 should be sufficient - and use it responsibly before you even consider getting another.

Shop around for the best deal. You should look for a credit card offer that has the lowest APR (Annual Percentage Rate) instead of one that gives away the coolest t-shirt. Also, don't get a credit card that requires an annual fee, and watch out for "teaser" APRs. Instead, ask what the APR will be after the introductory period.

Read the fine print. Credit card offers differ substantially, and the issuer usually can change the terms at will with 15 days notice. Also, pay close attention to your monthly statements and check for unauthorized charges. If you see something suspicious, you only have a short amount of time to get your dispute in writing.

Pay off your total balance each month. For example, if you pay only the minimum payment on a $1,000 debt (assuming that you don't charge anything else and your APR is 18 percent), it would take you more than 12 years to repay it, and you'd pay almost $1,200 in interest.

Always pay on time. A single slip-up will place a black mark on your credit record, and could cause the card issuer to jack up your interest rate. Plus, late fees can be more than $30.

Set a budget. A good rule of thumb is to keep your debt payments below 10 percent of your net income after taxes.

Notify your issuer promptly when you move. Having your bills sent to an old address puts you at risk for late or missed payments (at a minimum) or possible identity theft.

Close accounts you're not using. Having available but unused credit can count against you after graduation, when it's time to get a mortgage or car loan. That's because lenders don't like it when you have the ability to quickly go deep into debt.

Watch for danger signals: Using one card to pay off another.

Paying only the minimum. Late payments. Calls or letters from collection agencies.

Denied or revoked credit. What to do if you're already in trouble:

Contact your creditors immediately and work out a realistic payment schedule. They want to keep you as a customer.

Make the card harder to use. Don't carry it with you. Give it to your parents.

Ask for help. Contact your local Consumer Credit Counseling Service.

Be wary of any service that claims to "erase" a bad credit history, usually for a large fee. Changing an accurate credit history is legally impossible.

Call the three credit bureaus to check your credit history. Experian (800), 685-1111, Experian (888) 397-3742, Trans Union (800) 888-4213.

To opt out of pre-approved offers, call (888) 567-8688.

TOOTH TIPS

By: Dr. Kevin J DeaKyne DDS, PC

What is an Abscessed Tooth?

An abscessed tooth refers to an infection caused pocket of pus in the tissue next to a tooth.

Abscessed teeth are caused when the pulp of the tooth dies as a result of damage or decay. Bacteria grows in the dead tissue and spreads from the root of the tooth to the tissue underneath, causing a pus filled pocket known as an abscess.

Another cause is when gum disease (gingivitis or periodontitis) causes the gums to pull away from the teeth creating "pockets." If one of these pockets becomes blocked bacteria can grow and an abscess may form.

As the infection spreads, the bone in your jaw may begin to regress to make more room for the swelling of the infected area. If too much bone dissolves, there will be support for the teeth and it becomes loose and it may have to be extracted. There may be pain or no pain with the abscess.

SYMPTOMS

- Moderate to severe pain to pressure on your teeth
- Bad taste in mouth
- Swollen or Red gums
- Swelling
- Fever
- Hot sensitivity
- Night Pain

TREATMENTS - Antibiotics, Pain Medications, Root Canal, Extraction

OPENS PROPHETSTOWN

Prophetstown State Park is northeast of Lafayette at the confluence of the Tippecanoe and Wabash rivers near Battleground. The new park is named for a Native American village established between the rivers by Shawnee leader Tecumseh and his brother Tenskwtawwa (The Prophet) in 1808.

The park gate is off Swisher Road and can be reached by exiting Interstate Highway 65 at state Route 43. Head southwest toward Lafayette on Route 43 to Burnett Road, left on Burnett Road to Ninth Street, and right on Ninth Street to Swisher Road. Take Swisher Road back east to the park entrance.

The park will eventually contain 3000 acres of prairie, steep river bluffs, fens and open oak woodlands. Park campgrounds open in spring 2005.

TRIM PRINTING AND MAILING COSTS

These days it is very easy to produce and print a mailing yourself. All you need is a computer, an inkjet printer and paper. However, this approach can also be very time-consuming. So you may want to work with a printing company. This is not necessarily expensive. If you plan properly and make the right decisions early, you can control the cost. Here are some things to consider:

1. Choose a cost-effective format - There is a reason that you probably have never seen a 7-inch by-7 1/2-inch brochure. It doesn't fit in most standard envelopes, and custom-made envelopes are expensive to manufacture. That is why most printers recommend working with standard paper sizes. An 8 1/2-inch-by-11-inch-size paper, for instance, can be folded into thirds and fit neatly into a standard business envelope.

2. Use color sensibly - Obviously the least expensive advertisement to print is one that uses plain black ink on white paper. However, highlighting the piece with one or two extra colors, though slightly more expensive, can help your mailing stand out. Color photographs are more costly to reproduce, but may be worth it. Use them when the full color helps your message - to showcase products, scenery or rooms at an inn.

3. Know what paper to use - While there are many papers to choose from, it is simpler to focus on the difference between plain paper and glossy. Glossy paper; though ideal for reproducing color photographs, produces a glare that might make the text hard to read. Glossy paper is best used for color brochures with photographs. If there are no color photographs, use plain paper. Choosing the right paper is an art. Local printing companies will help.

4. Give printers time" The old saying, "speed-quality-price, pick any two," is equally true in the printing business. If you are working with a printing company, give the finished piece to your printer well before you plan to mail it. This will give the printer time to do the job right and save you money on rush charges.

5. Proofread before printing - When you have everything together and are ready to print, proofread the piece. And when you are finished, proof it again. Then ask someone else to proof-read it. Don't forget to proofread those things you see all the time, like your name, address and phone number. After all, you don't want to go to the expense of printing something that you cannot use because of a mistake.

6. Clean your mailing list - Eliminate duplicate names from your mailing list. The cost of each letter doubles and triples when you send two or three to the same person.

7. Take advantage of postal service discounts - There are steps you can take when you prepare your mailing that may help you save money on postage costs. Using standard sizes and keeping the weight of your mail piece under one ounce eliminates additional postage. You might also be able to obtain presorted First Class Mail or Standard Mail discounts by following guidelines in A Guide to Mailing for Businesses and Organizations (DMM 200-A). The guide is available at your local Post Office and online at the Postal Service web site. Go to <http://pe.usps.gov>.

8. Do it all online - These days, you can upload a document and mailing list, click a mouse, and send your mail. Everything is taken care of automatically. The companies that do this use the latest digital printing presses, so you can personalize every mailing. And they presort and format every address on your list, so you qualify for postage discounts. Go to www.usps.com and search for "Direct Mail Merchants" to learn more about direct mail expertise available via the Internet.

It was reported that a number of vendors at the Popcorn Festival had left containers of grease and some grease had been put down storm drains. Letters are to be sent, requiring a deposit in the future, returnable if grease is properly disposed of.

A Budget Hearing will be held at the next Council meeting Sept. 1.

STORYTIME

Six children attended Short Sleeve Day at the Van Buren Public Library on Friday after school Aug. 20th 2004. The children signed in and started doing their Summer Search - a - Word.

Karen shared some of the different kinds of sleeves you can find on outfits to wear. She shared a "Fashion Design" book by Felicity Everett and a "Beginner's Guild To Sewing and Knitting" by Helen Allen found in the Children's Department of the library.

Karen read the book "Summertime" by Ann Schweninger. The children participated by sharing some of the fun times they have had this summer.

The children received a sheet of paper titled. All About Me with a shape of a person on it. They were to color the person to look like them. They could decorate around the picture also. The children used foam shapes to specify what sports they enjoyed. We had foam shapes of basketballs, baseballs, footballs and many others shapes they used. The pictures were really nice when completed.

Refreshment of ice cream and coke was enjoyed. Some of the kids made a coke float instead of a root beer float.

Those attending were: Autumn Smith, Nixon Smith, Autumn, Icily Baker, Korisa Kitts and Kaley Kitts.

We appreciate the parents who let the children come to the after school story time. We have some very nice children who attend.

Next story time will be after school Friday August 27th 2:30pm-3:30 pm August 27th Weather Day. Hope to see you!

HOME SAFETY CHECK

You've created an attractive and welcoming home, but is it safe? Don't leave your loved ones at risk for common household dangers. Conduct at home fire drills twice a year. Install grab bars in all bathroom and shower stalls. Get these tips and more in "The Great American Home Safety Check" pamphlet from the Home Safety Council to help keep your family safe. For your free copy, call toll-free 1 (888) 8 PUEBLO, that's 1 (888) 878-3256 and ask for Item 656L. Or send your name and address to the Federal Citizen Information Center, Dept. 656L, Pueblo, CO 81009. Visit <http://www.pueblo.gsa.gov> to read or print out this and hundreds of other FCIC publications for free.

JOY CLASS

The Joy Class of the United Church of Christ met Saturday evening, July 31, 2004, at the home of Jerry and Peggy Wilson for a cook out with lots of food and homemade ice cream. Also helping on the committee were John and Janet Sneed and Jim and Linda Large.

Guy Jackson, president, conducted the business meeting. Peggy Wilson gave devotion out of a book "Over 60 and Pickin up the Speed". The remainder of the evening was spent visiting.

Those attending were Janet Klefeker, Guy and Carlene Jackson, Marvin and Rosemary Zeller, Harold and Betty Parker, Max, Marge and Missy Tyner, Gordon and Ellen Laymon, Bob and Nancy Smyth, Bob and Diane Tate, Bill and Carol Preston and the committee.

VAN BUREN HAPPY RED HATTERS ENJOY TEA

The newly organized Van Buren Happy Red Hatters held their first social gathering at Elizabeth's Tea Room in Huntington on Wednesday August 18th.

Following the delicious salad luncheon a short meeting was held with Donna Zent presiding and the group picking a name hence VB Happy Red Hatters. They also choose Waneta Linton and Shirley Shinholt to be their leaders in the helping plan the future meetings.

A Thank You note from Byron Brankle, Chairman of the recent Popcorn Festival has been received, thanking the Red Hatters for their part in selling all the raffle tickets at the recent festival. The festival was the groups first Red & Purple outing. Selling tickets were Waneta Linton, Sarah Hammitt, Mary Ellen Hawkins, Shirley Shinholt, Willadean Harts, Mary Palmer, Elissa Crothers, and Donna Zent.

In addition to those selling tickets, others attending the Tea were Losi Deemer, Sue Emmons, Shelby Goff, Phyllis Harper, Janet Hunnicutt, Irene Pickard, Louise Rumpel and Norma Briner.

Planning the next event will be Elissa Crothers and Norma Briner.

PREPARING FOR COLLEGE

High school can be crazy. You participate in extracurricular activities, check out colleges, search for financial aid, and try to find a few minutes to think about what you might want to be when you grow up. Don't stress — explore your options with Preparing for College, a free package of information from the Federal Citizen Information Center (FCIC).

If you're thinking about becoming a zookeeper, an artist or wondering if you have what it takes to be a police officer, there's no better way than volunteering to learn more about these careers. Use "Catch the Spirit: A Student's Guide to Community Service" from the Prudential Insurance Company of America and FCIC to find volunteer opportunities and learn how to make them successful. Not only are you helping others when you volunteer, but you also develop new skills and interests. Volunteering can also increase your chances of getting into college by showing recruiters that you're well rounded and concerned about your community.

In addition to getting an idea about future courses of study, you need to research colleges and look for ways to finance your education. Learn about different strategies for funding with "Financial Planning for College" from the MetLife Consumer Education Center and the Department of the Treasury. Talk to your parents about U.S. Saving Bonds, prepaid tuition plans, or home equity loans. Consider applying for traditional sources of financial aid such as scholarships, grants, work-study programs and government tuition loans. You can also look into advanced placement exams or college courses offered through your high school that count as college credits.

Start high school off right by ordering the free Preparing for College package. There are three easy ways to get your free publications:

*Send your name and address to Preparing for College, Pueblo, Colorado 81009.

*Call toll-free 1 (888) 8 PUEBLO. That's 1 (888)

878-3256, weekdays 8 a.m. to 8 p.m. Eastern Time and ask for the Preparing for College package.

*Visit <http://www.pueblo.gsa.gov> to order online and to print out these and hundreds of other federal publications for free.

Get even more information and take advantage of federal online resources at <http://www.FirstGov.gov> your official front door to federal and state government websites.

FOOD PYRAMID

Since you were a kid, you've heard about the four basic food groups: fruits, vegetables, meats and dairy. But how much of each should you eat every day to be healthy?

For help, check out "The Food Guide Pyramid" from the U.S. Department of Agriculture. It covers the number of servings you need daily from each group, and gives tips on how to reduce the fat, cholesterol, and sodium in your diet. This publication costs $1.00. For your copy, call toll-free 1 (888) 8 PUEBLO, that's 1 (888) 878-3256 and ask for Item 118L. Have your credit card ready. Or send your name, address and payment to the Federal Citizen Information Center, Dept. 118L, Pueblo, CO 81009. And visit <http://www.pueblo.gsa.gov> to order online and to print out this and hundreds of other FCIC publications for free.

THE ROWED TO WORK LESS TRAVELED

MARKLE, Ind. — Sherri Carroll was the recipient of MarkleBank's Above and Beyond Award for her true spirit of teamwork and sacrifice. Sherri, a teller at the Warren banking center, was determined not to let her coworkers down. After several days of rain flooded her property, the floodwaters were too high to drive through by automobile. Sherri navigated by boat to a relative's house and borrowed a truck to complete the trip into work. Sherri showed a dedication that is rare and very much appreciated. In addition to receiving the Above and Beyond Award, her coworkers presented her with a hand-painted oar as a memento of her trek.

Above and Beyond Awards are presented quarterly by MarBanc Financial Corporation's Board of Directors to recognize employees who show a level of commitment and dedication above and beyond the call of duty. Employees are nominated by their coworkers for outstanding effort when it comes to providing service to customers, clients, or coworkers.

MarkleBank is the bank subsidiary of MarBanc Financial Corporation, headquartered in Markle, Indiana. MarkleBank currently operates five full-service community banking centers, the main office in Markle, two offices in Bluffton, one in Warren, one in Huntington, and a Loan Production Office in Fort Wayne. A full-service banking center is currently under construction in southwest Fort Wayne.

MarkleBank owns and operates Markle Insurance Services, a full-service insurance agency. Markle Insurance is located next to the bank's main office in Markle and has satellite offices at the bank's Bluffton North, Warren, and Huntington facilities. MarkleBank also offers investment services through a partnership with MarkleFinancial, with full-time Financial Advisors available to meet with clients.

MarkleBank, Markle Insurance Services, and MarkleFinancial can be reached by calling MarkleBank's Customer Service Center toll-free at (888) 758-3111.
