KUDOS, KICKS & KARATS

How Old is Old?

by V Neil Wyrick

Are you willing to take a test? If so, take out a piece of paper and make a quick drawing of how you see yourself.

Did you draw a picture of someone up and going or a picture of some torpid creature in a darkened room isolated from the light of life? Did you draw a picture with a musical note above your head to show there is a song in your heart, or a thunder cloud hovering over your head?

We are how we see ourselves. And yes, a positive self-image can improve mental and physical health. Indeed, I love a poster I once saw that read “Go ahead and touch me. Wrinkles aren’t contagious.”

I recently got into a conversation with a man and his wife in an airport and he told me, “California redwoods are old. Mountains are old. Me? I’m just a kid.” His wife added, “I’m getting old (she was 78) but I’ll probably die before I make it.”

Do I suggest being unabashedly positive and traveling as often as possible down a sunshine road? Without reservation the answer is a resounding YES! Think spring, not fall. Grow some new leaves. Make retirement or semi-retirement a friend and not an enemy. Better still, a window of opportunity.

Be like the farmer who, when asked what he was building, replied, “If I can rent it, it’s a rustic cottage. If I can’t, it’s a cow shed.”

On that piece of paper, write down the letter C...big and bold. Then print in big and gold “I am going to plan a BEAUTIFY MY LIFE campaign.”

It is called attitude and it can make us prematurely old or longer young. For truly, things aren’t just what they are, but rather how we choose to see them. We do live by our philosophies. You are the product of your thoughts.

“The merry heart doeth good like a medicine.” That’s what the book of Proverbs says. And yet too many don’t believe it. Or certainly don’t act like it. Yes, there are things in the world that are truly a pain or problem. But it is still better to force a grin rather than give into a grimace.

“Earth’s crammed with heaven,” said Thoreau. Hold on to that jewel. It’ll help you to maximize your blessings-recognition skills of God’s freebies.

“If you cannot do great things, you can do small things in a great way,” was the way J.F. Clarke put it. “We were given two ends; one for sitting and one for thinking. Whether you are a success depends on which you use: heads you win, tails you lose.” Don’t have a clue who wrote this. “The only way to have a friend is to be one.” Good old Ralph Waldo Emerson penned this thought.

Hope you enjoyed these wandering thoughts of mine. They have been wandering around in my cerebral for going on over eighty years. Now, hopefully they will keep on wandering around in yours.

CHAUTAUQUA

Twenty six members and one guest were present at the season-opening meeting, October 1, 2010, of Chautauqua Literary Club at the Heritage Pointe.

President Sharon Gebhart opened the meeting with a poem of Fall, followed by repeating the Club Collect. Roll call was answered with "A Sporting Activity, 'Spectator or Participant'". Minutes were read and approved, as well as the Treasurer's report.

Harriett Tobias was responsible for the afternoon program, and she introduced Mrs. Norma Etherington who presented the book review of "Surprised by Joy", the autobiography of C.S. Lewis. It detailed events of his life on how he became a Christian.

C.S. Lewis was born in Ireland in 1898. By the time he was 7 years old, he and his brother became very interested in imagination and Pretend-Land to spend their hours. C.S. Lewis was fascinated with animals, and soon began writing stories about them. His brother was fascinated with the country India, and so they connected their two ideas with stories in their imaginations. This fantasy became C.S. Lewis' forte in writing.

Even so, he seemed to have an unsatisfied feeling of Joy in life, as an aesthetic experience.

The childhood for the boys was an unhappy one even though they had good teaching.

The father was a brusque individual, and their mother died when C.S. was 7 years old.

The development of HOPE and FAITH became important to him. He also had an inward life where he became interested in mythology. He began writing stories in his head, of animals in mythology, and fantasy. Soon he retreated to a literary life.

He began to meet and respect men he considered to be quite intelligent and successful, seemingly fulfilled with a joy and peace in life, and who also professed to being a Christian. He was quite impressed by their impressions they presented. At one point, he had a very dramatic moment when it came to him out of the blue that that was the Joy he had been searching.

Finally, he decided that all his life before only pointed him in the direction of life as a Christian in Joy. He was surprised and delighted.

This was a very interesting presentation on the life of the author, C.S. Lewis.

Those attending were guest Norma Etherington, and members Janet Beavens, Lucille Beavens, Sue Blair, Nancy Bonham, Ann Brauchla, Mary Brown, Ruth Alice Christner, Barbara Engle, Elaine Eckman, Sharon Gebhart, Linda Howell, Phyllis Hubartt, Joan Huffman, Karen Hunnicutt, Georgina Laymon, Crystal Lee, Ann Miles, LuEllyn Pond, Jane Ruble, Ann Spahr, Carolyn Sparks, Harriett Tobias, Bertha Turner, Freda Van Winkle, Alice Whitmore, Betty Yoder, and Oma Zent.

The next meeting will be November 5, 2010, at the Heritage Pointe.

ALPHA ZETA

President Donna Ott conducted her first meeting of the Alpha Zeta Chapter of Delta Kappa Gamma Society International when they met September 25 at O.J. Neighbours Elementary School in Wabash. Member Nancy Kolb introduced professional midwives Jane Dawkins (Fort Wayne) and Diane Holmes (Wabash) of Indiana Midwives Association. After a short reenactment of pioneer life as a midwife, the women gave details of their daily duties as mid-wives today and answered questions posed by the membership.

During the business meeting Second Vice President Carol Winterholter presented the members with the year's project entitled "A Little Change Can Change a Life." The Society will be collecting change to underwrite GED exams for deserving students.

Alpha Zeta Chapter represents Huntington, Wabash, and Whitley counties of the Delta Kappa Gamma International Society, a society of key women educators from the United States, North America, and Europe.

Those attending from Huntington County were Joyle Allen, Ann Ambler, Jadean Barnes, Barb Buroker, Barba Eickhoff, June Everitt, Judy Lewis, and Carol Winterholter.

MAKE A DIFFERENCE

GRANTS

The Huntington County Community Foundation Inc. is accepting applications for its 2010 Cycle II unrestricted fund "Make a Difference" grants. The grants are awarded to not-for-profit charitable purposes that improve the quality of life in Huntington County. The grants are available to charitable 501(c)3 organizations based in Huntington County. Applications must be received at the Community Foundation office by October 29, 2010.

Funding for semi-annual "Make a Difference" grants comes from income generated by the Community Grants Unrestricted Fund of Huntington County Community Foundation. Community grants have been awarded twice a year beginning in 1997, with grants totaling more than $850,000.

Applications may be obtained at the Foundation office, 356 W. Park Drive, or by visiting our website at www.hccfoundation.com.

HISTORICAL SOCIETY MET

Members of the Montpelier Historical Society met at the Community Building on Tuesday, September 28, 2010. Those attending were Nina Stults, Dorothy Sutton, Ruth Nestleroad, Jerry Hart, Norma Smith, Dana Pence, Mary Kelsay and Judith VanCamp.

Reports on the recent ice cream social held by the society were given. Dana Pence had graciously donated four floral pieces which were won by individuals who attended the event. The museum was also open at that time, with some articles about Orville Cline being added to the items on display. Mr. Cline was highly respected during his years in the Montpelier school system and is well remembered in the community.

A "Directory of the Blackford County Members of the Armed Forces in World War II" was donated to the museum. It had been printed compliments of Kriegbaum Implement Company, Hartford City shortly after the war. Besides an alphabetical listing of those from Blackford County who had served, it also contained a listing of the soldiers who had lost their lives in the war. The small booklet had been the property of Esta (Cook) Pugh, now deceased, whose brother James Edward Cook was killed on Luzon.

A cloth sugar bag advertising G W Sugar was donated to the museum by Norma Smith.

During the business meeting Judith VanCamp tendered her resignation as Secretary of the Montpelier Historical Society.

Due to technical difficulties, members were unable to view the tape of the first Elders Roundtable which the historical society conducted in 1992. Plans are to reschedule it for the October 26 meeting.

FORESTRY COURSE

Regional woodland owners will learn valuable management tools for their wooded land at the Moonlight Forestry Course to be held in Grant County October 18, 25, and 30. IVY Tech's Marion campus will be the location of the 6:30-9:00 p.m. sessions on October 18 and 25. October 30 will be a morning field day from 9:00 a.m. until noon at Purdue's Miller Woodlands just east of Upland, IN.

Don Carlson, Purdue Extension forester, will be part of a professional presenter team including Brad Rody, Indiana Department of Natural Resources district forester, Ron Rathfon, Purdue Extension regional forester, and Henry "Hank" Hefner, IDNR district forester. Carlson is also the property manager at the Miller-Purdue Woodlands property.

Topics to be covered in the evening "moonlight" sessions at IVY Tech include: introduction to Indiana's forests, forest management, tree identification, and forest improvement practices. The Saturday field day will offer participants a chance to view the effects of various forest management practices in action.

During the field day, workshop participants will see principles of forest management in action as they visit Miller-Purdue Woodlands, consisting of more than 180 acres. The woodland has had numerous timber harvests, tree plantings, research projects and other management practices since its acquisition in 1938.

Workshop organizer John Woodmansee of Purdue Extension Grant County said the course will benefit woodland owners who want to use their timber resources effectively. "If you own a woodland, this will help you better manage that woodland," Woodmansee said. "It will give you a return on your investment. You can also manage it for wildlife and aesthetic and recreational purposes."

Course participants will find answers to such questions as:

- What kind of tree is this?
- How can I keep my forest healthy?
- Can I sell my timber and still enjoy my woods and wildlife?
- What impact will the emerald ash borer and the gypsy moth have on my property?
- Now that my tree planting is established, what do I need to do?

The fee for all three days of this October course is $15, which includes light refreshments and course materials. Other items will be offered for sale at the option of those attending, including the tree identification field guide, 101 Trees of Indiana, by Marion T. Jackson for $20.

The course is sponsored by the Purdue University department of forestry and natural resources, Indiana Department of Natural Resources division of forestry, and by Purdue Extension in Grant County (phone # 765-651-2413). Interested persons must pay and register for the course by October 13, 2010 in the Purdue Extension—Grant County office at 401 South Adams Street in Marion, IN. The registration form is available at: www.extension.purdue.edu/grant under "Hot Local Topics".

For more information, contact Ed Farris, Agriculture and Natural Resource Educator, Purdue Extension—Huntington County Office, 354 N Jefferson—Suite 202, Huntington by calling 260-358-4826.

BIG DEER SEASON

Back-to-back record years for Indiana deer hunters and the fact regulations are unchanged give DNR deer management biologist Chad Stewart reason to believe hunters are in for another banner year in 2010.

"I'm anticipating another top-five all-time harvest," Stewart said. "I would not be surprised if we exceeded 130,000 total deer or achieved a new record."

In 2009, hunters bagged a record 132,752 deer—3,000 more than the previous high mark set in 2008.

Although hunters have had the opportunity to pursue deer in the urban zone season since Sept. 15, and during the youth two-day season Sept. 25 and 26, deer hunting begins in earnest when the early archery season opens statewide on Friday (Oct. 1).

"I'm anticipating a successful early archery season due to the early corn harvest," Stewart said.

The early archery season accounted for 21 percent of the total harvest in 2009, or 27,818 deer.

The early archery season extends through Nov. 28. During this season, a hunter can take two deer – either an antlered and antlerless deer, or two antlerless deer – but a separate license is required for each deer taken.

Archery hunters also can purchase bonus antlerless permits designed to target female deer as a fundamental approach to controlling white-tailed deer populations. In addition to the basic bag limits, hunters can use bonus permits in any county. There is no statewide limit, but quotas are assigned to each county ranging from A to 8. Go to www.in.gov/dnr/fishwild/files/fw-Bonus_Antlerless_Map.pdf to find a map showing bonus antlerless quotas by county.

Bonus antlerless licenses may not be used in an "A" county prior to Nov. 25.

Many Indiana DNR properties (e.g., fish and wildlife areas, state forests, recreation areas, reservoirs, etc.) do not allow use of bonus antlerless licenses because they receive sufficient hunting pressure to keep deer populations in check and do not require additional harvest of deer. Contact the property manager where you plan to hunt for information.

Feeding Indiana's hungry

Nearly 118,000 Hoosiers receive emergency food assistance each week from a food pantry, soup kitchen, or other agency served by the member food banks of Feeding Indiana's Hungry, Inc., the state food bank association.

Hunters and non-hunters can do something about it by supporting the Sportsman's Benevolence Fund.

State legislators established the DNR-managed Sportsman's Benevolence Fund in 2008 as a way of providing financial support to meat processors who accept hunter-donated deer that are packaged as ground venison and distributed to food banks around the state.

Hunters donated 1,100 deer last year to affiliated programs like Farmers and Hunters Feeding the Hungry (fhfh.org) for an estimated 55,000 pounds of venison, or enough for 220,000 quarter-pound servings of high-protein, low fat meat.

FHFH has organized nearly 50 participating meat processors this year. A list can be found at www.IN.gov/dnr/fishwild/6205.htm.

There are three ways to contribute to the SBF:

* Donate online at www.sbf.IN.gov

* Purchase a $5 Sportsman's Benevolence Fund commemorative pin (for a limited time, purchase of a 2010 pin includes a 2009 pin at no extra charge)

* Make a voluntary $1 contribution when purchasing fishing, hunting or trapping licenses.

Hunters between the ages of 11 and 17 will have a choice between participating in either the rabbit hunt or the squirrel hunt. Hunters will be in the field until noon. A short wildlife-cleaning instructional session will be available after the morning hunt.

Salamonie Reservoir, Indiana Beaglers Alliance, the National Cur and Feist Breeders Association, and the National Kennel Club will serve as hosts.

All youth participants are encouraged to have attended and passed a Hunter Education course; however, youth must have either a valid Indiana Youth Hunting License or Apprentice License to participate. Information regarding upcoming Hunter Education courses is available at <http://www.in.gov/dnr/lawenfor/4812.htm>.

Participants must register in advance by calling Jack Hyden at (574) 551-4067 by Oct. 22. Adults wishing to volunteer as dog handlers or mentors must register in advance at the same phone number.

Youth are encouraged to bring their own shotguns; shotguns will be provided for youth that do not have their own.

Youths will have one private mentor each who will supervise and assist during the hunt. Parents are also encouraged to accompany the youth, but that is not mandatory.

A lunch will be provided after the morning hunt for all youth, mentors and dog handlers.

The event and meals are free for all who attend. Youth Hunting Licenses are $7 and will be available at the Salamonie Visitor Center the day of the hunt. Licenses are also available online at <http://www.in.gov/ai/appfiles/dnr-license/>.

The Salamonie Interpretive Center is located in Lost Bridge West Recreation Area, west of Highway 105 in western Huntington County.

ANGER AND PERFECTIONISM

by The FlyLady, Marla Cilley
When you finally have reached the absolute bottom and you think there is no place to go, there is always two more places. You can give up entirely and be planted six feet under or you can scream out for help and start pulling yourself up! You have a choice. The difference is you have to get mad and scream and not give up.

Anger is not a bad emotion. As women we have been taught to just take it and not explode with anger. Exploding with anger is rage and rage is not OK, but giving yourself permission that you are upset and angry is a good thing and telling the person that you are angry at. When you keep it in it is like poison. So what do we do to ourselves? We turn anger into sad and we feel sorry for ourselves for being mistreated. Then WHAT? The anger goes to sad and then to depression. We eat to make the hurt go away or we sleep to not have to deal with what is!

It is all our perfectionism again sandwiched with that procrastination that paralyzes us into depression. I can see you all shaking your heads at me. "How can perfectionism be the foundation to my feeling bad." Well here is how it all fits together!

When something goes wrong in our lives and we can't fix it; what do we do! We can't fix it to make it right again or we can't change the other person; we want everything back the way it was!! Do you see the perfectionism rearing its ugly head? We do everything in our power to CONTROL THE ISSUES! And make it all better! Only to be shot down time and time again! So if we can't do it right what do we do! We were taught to do nothing!! I wish that was all we would do, but we have to turn it inward to abuse ourselves.

When we are unable to fix things we begin to feel guilty because of our inability to make things right or perfect! We then start to beat ourselves up! It is bad enough when we have been abused by others but now we are abusing the only person that cares for you: YOU!

This is why anger is good! It is focused toward someone else and not yourself. Now it is not good to be angry all the time because you are in fight or flight mode and when you really need to scream out for help you will not be able to. Adrenalin is an amazing body chemical. It is a power surge that supplies the energy right when you need it! This is how a mother can lift a car off of a child. I have said it many times, "Too much of a good thing can be bad for you!" Try eating a whole chocolate cake!

I have a good supply of adrenalin now! At one time I was totally depleted of my resources. I used them all up by always being upset and walking on eggshells. The adrenalin kept me from feeling what was happening inside my own body. It was a drug!

So anger can free you if you use it sparingly! Focus your justified anger toward what is making you angry and not at yourself. Do what you need to do to take care of the situation. Don't turn it inward to punish yourself when you can't fix it! You are not responsible for anyone but you! Let go of the guilt, pain and stress and be good to yourself by getting angry at the right person! Then let it go and get on with your life! You have a job to do! You may not know what that job is but you choose life too! And if you stick around the breeze will come your way and you will set out on your journey. Life is a journey not a destination.

So what anger have you been turning inward?
