TOWN COUNCIL NOTES

A number of people were in attendance when President Chod Boxell called the meeting of the Warren Town Council to order on Monday evening, May 8. The meeting was held at the local Fire Station and opened at 6:30 p.m. with the Pledge to the American flag.

Approval was given for the minutes of the regular meeting of April 24.

Eva Witkamp talked to Council about affordable housing for five families in Warren. She asked Council to consider approval for building five houses at the corner of Twelfth Street and Huntington Avenue. The property is currently owned by Kevin DeaKyne and was rezoned last year, but can be used for residential housing.

A representative of Pathfinders in Huntington explained how they write grants through Indiana Housing Authority.

The plan has been in existence for three years, financing to date 50 homes in the area of Huntington County.

Owners take counseling on budgeting and management. Time restriction to submit for the grants is May 17. It was reported that payments for the homes average in the $400 per month range at three percent interest. The homes average 1200 square feet in size, and if the plan is accepted here, it is hoped the homes can be started in the fall.

Council agreed to take the matter under advisement and to announce their decision within a few days as extension of water and sewer lines would be necessary at the cost of approximately $20,000.

According to reports, a number of people were concerned during the past weekend that the water tower at Tower Park was leaking. This was due to venting of the tower. There was no leak.

In observance of Municipal Government Week, a special Council meeting was held Thursday afternoon at 2 p.m. at Salamonie School. The meeting was held in the school cafeteria.

Ron Neff, Jackie Huffman and Marilyn Morrison were expected to attend IACT Roundtable on the evening of June 1 in Middletown.

Following discussion, Council was not in favor of adding a stop sign at Salamonie Heights.

A preliminary approval was given to a request to vacate a portion of unimproved Hendricks Street.

Council accepted an agreement with Keystone Maintenance at a cost of $4437 for the year 2000.

Council agreed to make the annual payment of $1250 for the yearly contract with HCUED.

It was agreed by Council that there is a need for a plan for easements on Bennett Drive to protect existing infrastructure as well as newly constructed and future infrastructures.

There had been complaints of boards falling from the vacant building at the corner of Second and Wayne Streets. Also complaints of high grass at Fifth and Wayne Street, College and on Jones Avenue.

Clerk-Treasurer Marilyn Morrison reported budget books are ready for Council members. The April financial reports were also given.

Darrel Bice reported the Utility Department had been working on hydrants. Hydrant flushing was to be done on Thursday and Friday. Also hydrants on First and at Grover and Adams were expected to be repaired.

It was reported the Warren Volunteer Fire Department would host a District meeting on Monday evening, May 15.

Larry Poulson was asked to turn the lights at the Knight Civic Center ball diamond.

Officer Spitler reported from the Police Department. He noted it had been quiet during the past month.

The part-time officer will continue work up to 20 hours per week.

Officer Spitler requested permission to attend additional training at the Academy. Council agreed. Announcements included: May 22, Council meeting; May 17-19, IACT Spring Leadership, Nashville; May 29, Office and Utilities closed, Memorial Day.

BIRTHDAY PARTY PLANNED

A 100th Birthday celebration will be held on Sunday, May 21, 2000 at the Methodist Memorial Home in honor of Ethel (Baker) Ogle.

The party will be held in the Health Care 2A Activity Lounge from 1:30 – 3:30 p.m.

If you are unable to attend she would appreciate lots of cards. Please send to Ethel Ogle, 801 Huntington Avenue, Warren, IN 46792

Additions to Exhibit

Additional artifacts have been added to the "FROM ALL FORTY-FIVE" vice presidential exhibit now on display at The Dan Quayle Center and Museum through September of 2000.

Additional items of interest include: a 1944 signed letter by Vice President Henry Wallace, an 1888 signed handwritten letter by Vice President Levi Morton, the transcripts of Theodore Roosevelt's acceptance speech for his vice presidential nomination in 1900, an original 1789 magazine with notice of the votes given for George Washington as President and John Adams as Vice President, and a china bowl from Nelson Rockefeller's vice presidency. Additional pieces will be added throughout the summer as they arrive to the museum.

"I am excited at the significance of the artifacts we're adding," says Executive Director Daniel Johns. The 1944 letter from Vice President Henry Wallace speaks in appreciation of kind words written to him during 'these trying days'. This is, most likely, in reference to the fight within the party as to whether he would remain on the ballot with FDR in the election of 1044."

That question was settled just seven days after the letter was written. At the National Convention in July 1944. Harry Truman was selected to replace Vice President Wallace as Roosevelt's running mate. In April of 1945, Roosevelt died and Truman assumed the presidency.

"The letter is a perfect companion piece to a letter we already had from, then, Florida Senator Claude Pepper." says Johns. "It was written just fourteen days after the Wallace letter and eight days after the National Convention. The Pepper letter speaks of the vigorous fight he made for the candidacy of Vice President Henry Wallace. However, he then goes on to write that he fully supports Harry Truman for Vice President.' John's adds, "You have to wonder what the world might have been like if Wallace, instead of Truman. had assumed the presidency after Roosevelt's death.

"The Levi Morton letter is also fascinating," says Johns. "It was written in July of 1888 just a few weeks after Morton was chosen as Benjamin Harrison's running mate"

In the letter, Morton must decline a speaking invitation to the New York State's Republican League Convention because of a prior commitment.

"Morton had just been nominated as the vice presidential running mate just prior." says Johns, "I could imagine that his schedule would have become very busy at that point."

FROM ALL FORTY-FIVE will remain on display throughout the summer into early fall. The artifacts will then become the foundation for a new permanent exhibit on the vice presidents at the Museum.

The Dan Quayle Center and Museum is a nonprofit, nonpartisan organization dedicated to preserving and presenting the history of Dan Quayle, the Indiana Vice Presidents and the Office of the Vice President and those who have held it. As the only vicepresidential museum in the country, the center also provides exhibits and educational programming. DOG BITE PREVENTION Children Estimated to Suffer 900 Times as Many Dog Bites as Letter Carriers.

If you think 2,725 letter carriers (including 67 in Indiana) bitten by dogs last year is appalling, what about the more than 2 million children who represent the majority of dog bite victims?

If you're a dog owner or one of the 4.7 million Americans who fell victim to dog attacks last year, the US Postal Service (USPS) and the Humane Society of the United States (HSUS) have good news for you: Dog bites are a nationwide problem we can all solve through responsible pet ownership. National Dog Bite Prevention Week, May 21-27, is an opportunity for animal care and control agencies, humane societies, post offices, public service agencies, veterinarians, dog trainers, educators, physicians, and many others to work together to address this significant-and largely preventable-public health problem.

The USPS and HSUS have joined together to promote dog bite prevention. "This clearly is a nationwide problem and not just a postal issue," said Warren Postmaster Sheryl Horst, "and our partnership with the Humane Society of the United States helps us convey this message."

The Victims

The Humane Society reports that small children, the elderly, and letter carriers, in that order, are the most frequent victims.

Dog attacks are the most commonly reported childhood public health problem in the United States. The HSUS reports that the number of dog attacks exceeds the reported instances of measles, whooping cough and mumps, combined. Dog bite victims account for up to 5 percent of emergency room visits; averages of 10 to 20 children die each year from dog bite-related injuries, most of them toddlers and infants.

Many of the bites reported by the 2,725 letter carriers last year came from dogs that, according to their owners, "wouldn't hurt a fly."

The USPS and HSUS are offering advice for dog owners on how to restrain their pets and, for nonowners, tips on how to avoid dog bites.

How to Avoid Being Bitten

- Don't run past a dog. The dog's natural instinct is to chase and catch prey.
- If a dog threatens you, don't scream. Avoid eye contact, try to remain motionless until the dog leaves, then back away slowly until the dog is out of sight.
- Don't approach a strange dog, especially one that's tethered or confined.
- Always let a dog see and sniff you before you pet the animal. Letter carriers are discouraged from petting animals.

How to be a Responsible Dog Owner

"Are dogs the source of the problem? Not really," said Postmaster Horst. "Dogs do what comes naturally, which may include biting when threatened or protecting their owners. The real problem is dog owners who don't control their pets and, fortunately, we can educate these owners."

- Obedience training can teach your dog proper behavior and help you control your dog in any situation.
- When your letter carrier comes to your home, keep your dog inside, away from the door, in another room, or on a leash.
- Don't let your child take mail from the letter carrier in the presence of your dog. Your dog's instinct is to protect the family.
- Spay of neuter your dog. HSUS statistics reflect that dogs who have not been spayed or neutered are up to three times more likely to be involved in a biting incident than are neutered or spayed dogs.

"When owners act responsibly, everyone benefits. The mail gets delivered and letter carriers can serve their customers safely. There's one less hazard for children, and the pain and expense of bites are avoided. Just as important, dogs are allowed to be the loving pets everyone wants them to be," Horst concluded.

TICKS AND MORE TICKS

Our dogs like to run in the woods and they have been collecting a lot of ticks. I have also heard other reports of people getting ticks on them when they are outside.

Ticks are a concern for many reasons but the primary one is that they can be a carrier of Lyme disease

If you find a tick on your skin. use the following procedure to remove it:

- 1. Use blunt forceps or tweezers;
- 2. Grasp tick as close to the skin surface as possible and pull upward with a steady, even pressure;
- 3. Take care not to squeeze, crush, or puncture the tick;
- 4. Do not handle the tick with bare hands because infectious agents may enter via mucous membranes or breaks in the skin;
- 5. After removing the tick, disinfect the bite site and wash hands thoroughly with soap and water;
- 6. Consult a physician immediately if a rash or flu-like symptoms develop.

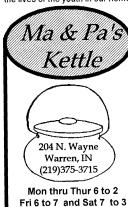

Outdoor control is important to help prevent getting ticks on us or on our pets. Keep overgrown and heavy vegetation cleared and cut in tick infested areas. Unnecessary vegetation around yards or property, along wood edges, or along the edge of trails and paths should be eliminated Residual insecticides such as diazinon, malathion, and stirofos can be applied on infested areas such as along roads, walks and trails where ticks congregate. Also, treatment can be made near ground level on grass and under shrubbery and trees, and along edges of wooded areas.

SAFE OUTDOOR COOKING WITH PROPANE

Thanks to the wide availability and affordability of propane gas grills, many people enjoy the luxury of two kitchens - one inside and one outside the home. With your gas grill, you can enjoy the special taste of barbecued food at a moment's notice, in much wider variety. As an added bonus, cooking outdoors in the summer also helps to keep the rest of the house cooler. And, with a propane unit, there's no messy start-up or clean up like that required with a charcoal grill

More and more people are purchasing gas grills and using them in innovative ways. In turn, manufacturers continue to improve on grill features. Today's grills are functional, attractive, easy to light, completely controllable and come in a variety of sizes and styles to fit your lifestyle.

Once vou've decided on the grill of your choice, you should become familiar with its components and features. In order to operate your unit efficiently and safely, you'll need to become acquainted with some important facts about propane and about your grill. The Indiana Propane Gas Foundation will mail a free booklet containing grill safety tips. You can contact them bv emailing ibeloat@indianapro~ane.com or calling toll free, 1-877-277-6726 and requesting the pamphlet entitled "Your Propane Gas Grill: Reliable Cooking Convenience" For help selecting the grill of your choice or more detailed information, you can locate a propane dealer near you by checking out the dealers page on our web site at www.indianapropane.com.
